PRESIDENT CALLS CONFEREES, URGES PRESS CENSORSHIP

CONFEREES STILL APART

House and Senate Representatives Discuss Problem Two Hours Without Result.

SEEKING A COMPROMISE

Provision Affecting Only Military Movements Proposed to Conferees as a Basis.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—After a conference with President Wilson at the White House today, Senators Overman, Fletcher, and Nelson, the Senate conferees on the Espionage bill, went into conference with the House conferees in an attempt to agree upon some form of press censorship legislation that might pass both houses.

The three Senators were urged by the President to see if the Senate and House could not come to some agreement on censorship without delay. He did not urge any drastic censorship, but said a mild form, at least, was essential.

The Senate and House conferees threshed out the censorship problem for nearly two hours without coming to any point. After the conference, Senator Overman said they were no nearer agreement, and that he did not know what legislation might be formulated that would have any fair prospect of being passed.

As an outcome of the conference, however, the Senate conferees came to a tentative understanding that a bill might be introduced in the Senate following the lines of the Cummins-Thomas amendment to the Espionage bill. This amendment, which was defeated in the Senate 48 to 34 last week, provides:

> In time of war the President is hereby authorized to prescribe and promulgate rules and regulations for the purpose of preventing the disclosure to the public, and thereby to the enemy, of information with respect to the movement, numbers, description, and disposition of any of the armed forces of the United States in naval or military operations, or with respect to any works intended for the fortification or defense of any place; and whoever, in time of war, shall wilfully violate any such rule or regulation shall be punished by a fine of not more than $10,000, or by imprisonment for not more than five years, or by both such fine and imprisonment.
> Provided, That nothing in this section shall be construed to limit or restrict, nor shall any regulation herein provided for limit or restrict, any discussion, comment, or criticism of the acts or policies of the Government or its representatives or the publication of the same.

The Only Possible Chance.

The Senate conferees came to no positive agreement to introduce a bill embracing the Cummins-Thomas features. They merely came to an opinion that it was the only kind of legislation, so far as they could see, that would have any chance of being passed. They realized that the Senate's having put itself on record against censorship, it would be difficult to get any measure accepted, no matter how mild. They knew that any censorship measure coming to the Senate again would be vigorously fought.

The House conferees expressed themselves as unalterably opposed to reintroducing any measure. They considered a bill with the Cummins-Thomas features, but discarded the idea as certain to be combated in the House. The joint conference is to meet again on Friday and attempt to come to some agreement.

President Wilson had his conference with the Senate conferees early in the day. He talked to them of what he called the imperative necessity that a censorship be established to prevent information of the movement of American ships and other war moves being conveyed to the enemy. The President spoke of the American expeditions that were to start for Europe—notably the Pershing expedition—and said it was vital to the secret conduct of military operations that no hint of such activity get to Germany.

The President impressed the Senators that he had confidence, as he wrote to Congressman Webb, that the majority of the newspapers in the United States would observe a "patriotic reticence" concerning anything that might be of use to the enemy, but there were, he regretted, some other newspapers that might not observe the same reticence. What he wanted, he said, was a mild form of censorship that would impose more than a moral obligation upon any newspapers that might tend to print news by which the enemy might profit.

Senator Overman told the President it was extremely doubtful if any censorship legislation could be passed. The President urged that the three conferees talk the matter over with the House conferees to ascertain if some compromise could not be arranged.

Urged Immediate Action.

The Executive wanted Congress to know, he said, that censorship legislation was needed at once. It ought to be put into effect before ships sailed for Europe with American forces. Military secrets that might be of vast importance to the enemy might now be communicated at any time, he said.

The Senators assured the President they would do what they could to come to a compromise with the House con-

American Ambulance Men Cited for Bravery by French

PARIS, May 23.—Seven members of Section 3 of the American Field Ambulance, which has been in the Balkans since October, are cited in Army Orders today. The men named are Donald C. Armour of Evanston, Ill.; A. Graham Carey of Cambridge, Mass.; Daniel Sargent of Wellesley, Mass.; Charles Baird of New York, Frank L. Baylies of New Bedford, Mass., and Cornelius Winant of New York. Armour is from Yale and Winant from Princeton. The others are Harvard men. Lovering Hill, a Harvard man, who has commanded the section for two years, is cited in the order for the fourth time.

The citations mention gallant work performed by the men named in picking up and saving wounded men around Monastir under the heaviest of shelling. Hill's work at Hartmansweilerkopf and Verdun also is mentioned.

WILSON EXPLAINS RED CROSS SPEECH

Corrects Impression That He Said We Had No Grievance Against Germany.

WEST MISLED, SAYS LEWIS

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Representative Pou, Chairman of the House Committee on Rules, made public tonight a letter received from the President regarding Mr. Wilson's speech before the Red Cross Society on May 12. The statement of Mr. Pou, containing a copy of the President's letter, is as follows:

"Mr. Pou wrote the President on May 19, saying that there was some misunderstanding of part of the President's Red Cross speech delivered before the American Red Cross Society in Washington City on May 12, 1917. The following is a copy of the reply he received this morning:

21 May, 1917.

My Dear Mr. Pou:

Certainly no apology was necessary for your letter of May 19. It was an act of friendship on your part to write it and of loyalty also to the great cause we are engaged in.

Your interpretation of my message I supposed would be the interpretation everybody would give it. I meant just what you say, that our grievance, "while entirely sufficient, was the same as that of other neutral nations," perhaps aggravated by the fact that Germany had made us special promises which she had grossly ignored.

I would be very much obliged to you for any steps you might take to correct this damaging and erroneous, and, I must believe, insincere, interpretation of my address to the Red Cross. Cordially and sincerely yours,

WOODROW WILSON.

Senator J. Hamilton Lewis of Illinois, Democratic whip of the Senate, in a speech in the Senate today, went to the defense of President Wilson in the misunderstanding that has arisen over the Red Cross speech.

Senator Lewis read to the Senate a circular letter spread broadcast in Illinois in which the utterance attributed to the President—and which the Executive repudiated in his letter of yesterday to Representative Heflin—was quoted as an argument against the nation responding to the call to subscribe to the Liberty Loan.

The circular letter adverted to the trip of Secretary McAdoo through the West to stimulate interest in the Liberty Loan bonds. It asked, cynically, whether the Secretary was wasting time and whether it was too much to expect people to buy Liberty Loan bonds so as to wage a war against a country against which America had "no grievance." The circular asked if the country could be expected to grow enthused over drastic food legislation, conscription and other war measures, if there was nothing for which to fight.

"This, to my thinking," said Senator Lewis, after reading the circular, "is a reflection of a sentiment that prevails too generally in the West. I regret that there has been a complete misapprehension as to what the President said. If the West, for which I speak in part, believes we have no grievance and believes the President said we had no grievance, there will be a great difficulty on the part of the Secretary of the Treasury or any official of the Government to either obtain the fund from out of the West or the sons of the West to fight the war.

"It seems to me—and I trust this observation that I am making will not be indelicate—that the President of the United States is rather unfortunate when he speaks without his manuscript. He seems to have been misrepresented or wholly misunderstood at Indianapolis. His speech concerning the co-operation of the Senate in what he referred to as teamwork was held up before the country as an assertion by the President of a direct dictatorship of Congress, an assertion that we should have obeyed the direction of a Captain without regard to the merits of the conflict or the virtue of the undertaking.

"This misunderstanding of the President's Indianapolis address called forth many explanations from many sources. It was a long time before a correct interpretation of it was accepted by the country. Again, when the President spoke at Philadelphia to an assemblage of the new citizens, the expression being used of a nation 'too proud to fight,' we were for a long time confronted with the accusation that the President had told the world that America was too proud to resent a grievance or to redress a wrong.

"Surely no such thing was ever intended. I make brave and bold upon this floor to set forth that the expression was an adaptation of a very ancient passage that had been used by Chatham in the English Parliament and by Charles Sumner on this floor in his defense of Lincoln touching the Geneva award, and that this misapprehension and misinterpretation had caused the President to be misrepresented and the country to be misunderstood.

"In the West, if these circulars referred to had been generally distrib-

ONE MAN TO BUY ALL WAR SUPPLIES FOR SIX NATIONS

UNDER A SUPREME HEAD

Gigantic Enterprise Will Involve an Annual Outlay of $10,000,000,000.

CALLS FOR ARMY OF EXPERTS

Munitions, Food, Clothing, &c., Each to be Under Direction of a Skilled Sub-Chief.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—A program under which the American Government would pool its purchasing, for the sake of attaining maximum efficiency, with that of all the Allies, construct a buying machine into which hundreds of experts in many lines would fit as cogwheels, and place one man in charge of the whole gigantic enterprise is under consideration and fast assuming definite outline.

This man would be the world's superbuyer. Into his hands the nations at war with Germany would place approximately $10,000,000,000 a year, a store of money exceeding the fabled treasures of the ancient Incas and with no parallel in modern history.

So far has the program progressed that the officials intrusted with its execution already have a definite idea as to whom they will choose. While no final decision has been reached as to whether one man or a small commission shall be chosen, indications are that it will be one man, and that his selection will be announced within the next fortnight.

Great Britain, France, Russia, Italy, Japan, Belgium—virtually all the nations linked with America in the war against Prussian autocracy—have agreed to the essentials of the scheme, and will sign an agreement making it effective as soon as the tremendous amount of detail involved can be adjusted. At present the program hinges on the extent to which the United States will participate in the pooling arrangement. Plans are being formulated under which the needs of the American Army and Navy would be placed in the hands of the commission. Heretofore the navy has been supplied by its own buyers, and the army, similarly, has bought everything it requires from brass buttons to heavy artillery through contracts placed by the War Department.

$3,500,000,000 a Year for Us.

The army and navy, experts estimate, will spend approximately $3,500,000,000 during the first year of war. The Allies will spend approximately $6,000,000,000 a year, more if American credit and American producers can make it possible for them to spend more. To eliminate duplication of effort and competitive bidding, it is proposed to bring all these vast purchases under the direction of a single organization. To do this, the War Department and the Navy Department would have to surrender, in theory—but not in fact, officials say—a part of their purchasing prerogatives. The theory advanced by officials favoring the change is that greater efficiency and larger purchasing power of the money thus expended would result, in addition to elimination of any element of competition.

The mechanism of the organization would consist primarily of a directing head and subdivisions or bureaus, each in charge of purchases of certain commodities. As advisers, the organization probably would consult financial and other experts familiar with every line of industrial and commercial activity.

The bureau in charge of food purchases would rank among the most important of the subdivisions. Present plans call for placing responsibility for all such purchases in the hands of a man known the world over for his ability along this line. To him would fall the task of co-ordinating the requisitions of the world upon America's larder, or distributing American food equitably among the Allies and of keeping such close check upon production and outgo that there would be no shortage of necessities among the American people themselves. To assist this bureau head there would be an army of expert buyers familiar with American markets and selected for their ability.

Bureau for Munitions.

Equally important would be the Munitions Bureau. To this subdivision would fall the work of co-ordinating the Allies' demands for munitions and the demands of the United States Army and Navy. Experts from the army and navy probably would play an important part in the work of this bureau. They would be assisted by a large field force to keep a close record of output, producing ability of American munitions plants and the needs of American military and naval establishments which, of course, would take precedence over the needs of the Allies.

The world's greatest clothing buyer would have charge of another subdivision of the organization; a separate bureau probably would be devoted to the purchase of coal and oil for fuel; another to railway equipment, and others to many other groups of the things needed by the nation at war.

Much of the labor at present being done by the Allies' organizations and the Council of National Defense would pass automatically to the control of the purchasing commission. Officials re-

Our Destroyers Help to Cut U-Boats' Toll; 18 Vessels Above 1,600 Tons Sunk Last Week

LONDON, May 23.—The weekly statement of the Admiralty giving the number of ships sunk last week is as follows:

Arrivals, all nationalities, 2,664.

Sailings, 2,759.

British merchantmen of 1,600 tons or over, sunk by mine or submarine, 18; under 1,600 tons, 9.

British merchantmen unsuccessfully attacked, 9.

British fishing vessels sunk, 3.

These figures show the allied navies are keeping up the good work of the previous fortnight, (last week's total of vessels over 1,600 was the same as the week before, and the total of vessels below 1,600 tons was only four more than the previous week,) and the American unit, although still a small one, shares the credit for excellent work. Not only are the sinkings being kept at a fairly low figure, but the offensive against U-boats also continues to show favorable results.

The results of the naval work in the last two weeks are regarded as really indicating an important victory over the Germans. There has been a constant improvement in the methods of the Allies in opposing and suppressing U-boat activity, and these methods have become more and more successful with longer days and finer weather and increasing familiarity on the part of the skippers of merchantmen with the methods of naval control. An Admiralty official, speaking to The Associated Press, said:

"The American destroyers are playing no small part in the anti-submarine war, and our officers have expressed the greatest enthusiasm at the spirit, enterprise, acumen, and quick-wittedness with which the American unit has taken up its work.

"The Americans are already thoroughly conversant with our methods, and we hope that they soon will begin teaching us some new angles. Of course, there is little to be said to the public regarding the methods. But thus far we are working on the principle that there is no royal road to success against U-boats. Hard work and infinite pains is our recipe. It is the old American doctrine of keeping everlastingly at it."

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 23.—The German authorities once again have postponed the date upon which they were to announce to their people that England would be starved out by unrestricted submarine warfare. First it was April 1, then it was June 1, and now it is postponed to Oct. 1. With a few more such postponements, it is thought here, even the most optimistic Germans may feel it imperative to revise their opinion as to the United States being unable to render efficient assistance before England is brought to its knees.

The atmosphere at the British Admiralty today was suffused with cheerfulness over the submarine situation. The figures of the destruction last week are quite good. A high official said that the improvement was not only marked, but also was likely to increase. The American destroyers are doing their full share in the good work, and the bluejackets on leave are very popular with the civil population.

No royal remedy for the U-boat peril has yet been discovered, and the reduced losses are due to the improvements of the many existing devices and the systematic employment of them.

The Admiralty is fully aware that it must prepare to meet feverish efforts on the part of Germany, whose one desire is to prevent another Winter campaign. Officials here would not be surprised at a peace move shortly on the part of leaders of German commerce like Herr Ballin.

It is noted with interest that Reventlow, the mouthpiece of the German military party, recently, in discussing peace terms, spoke of the necessity of considering in the negotiations such humdrum commercial matters as the shipping of raw materials. This is considered here as evidence that even the extreme militarists are obliged to listen to the anxieties of the commercial leaders.

U. S. STEEL ENTERS SHIPBUILDING FIELD

PLANS RAPID CONSTRUCTION

Standardized Boats from 5,000 to 8,000 Tons Will Probably Be Turned Out.

The United States Steel Corporation is preparing to enter the shipbuilding field on a large scale through its subsidiary, the American Bridge Company. Sixty acres of land have been bought in the Hackensack Meadows, on Newark Bay, in a locality where comparatively little dredging will be required to get sufficient depth of water for large freight ships to make their way out through Staten Island Sound to the sea. The plans of the corporation have not been worked out, but in the steel trade it is understood that the management is contemplating the rapid construction of standardized cargo boats running from 5,000 to 8,000 tons dead weight.

When E. H. Gary, Chairman of the corporation, was asked yesterday about rumors in the trade that a site had been bought for a shipyard, he said:

"The American Bridge Company has secured acreage in the Meadows. Plans in respect to development have not been completed."

Judge Gary said on Tuesday, in discussing the suit before the Supreme Court to dissolve the corporation, that facilities were being increased as rapidly as possible to handle Government work. It is supposed that he has in mind, as one element, the contemplated steps to increase ocean tonnage by means of the bridge company's undertaking. Dispatches from Washington last Saturday stated that a bridge company would be ready in six months to turn out a 5,000 ton ship a day, and this is supposed to refer to the American Bridge Company's prospects, although Steel Corporation men have refrained from discussing the report.

The American Bridge Company has had two years' experience in making and fabricating materials for standardized ships. Early in the war Charles P. M. Jack, head of the Chester Shipbuilding Company, at Chester, Penn., went to the bridge company's officers with a project for building steel freight carrying boats. Mr. Jack's plan provided for the rolling and fabricating of the plates, beams, structural forms, &c., in accordance with specifications to be furnished the bridge concern by the shipyard. The steel was to be made ready in so complete a fashion that the men at the shipyard would have little to do except bolt the parts together.

The bridge company and the Chester Shipbuilding management worked out the details, and a few months ago the first ship took to the water. The launching was attended by officers and employes of the bridge company and the inspection made then of the completed vessel and others on the ways proved the undertaking a success. The Chester yard has increased its facilities until a dozen or more ships can be constructed at the same time, and the bridge company has engaged to furnish the complete parts of the ships under a contract running, it is understood, until well into 1918.

The American Bridge Company has been building steel barges at its Pittsburgh plant for several years, but this is the nearest approach any of the subsidiary concerns of the Steel Corporation has made to ship construction. The company owns twelve open hearth furnaces, four rolling mills, and sixteen bridge and structural steel plants. It is expected that the bulk of the steel to be used in the new undertaking will be fabricated at the plants in Trenton, N. J.; Pencoyd and Ambridge, Penn. The structural and fabricating works at Trenton have been occupied only moderately for more than a year, and most of the equipment is available for the manufacture of ship material

GERMAN RADICALS MAY FACE TREASON CHARGES

Talk of Prosecuting Ledebour and Other Socialists for Fomenting Munition Strikes.

AMSTERDAM, May 23, (via London.)—Proceedings against some of the boldest and most prominent German Radicals on the charge of high treason is contemplated, the Vossische Zeitung of Berlin says. An investigation is under way of the participation in the meetings in Berlin in connection with the munition strike of Georg Ledebour, Herr Vogthern, Herr Buchner and Herr Wittmann, Independent Socialists. This inquiry is being made, the newspaper says, with a view to bringing proceedings similar to those brought against Adolph Hoffmann, Socialist member of the Prussian Diet, for treason.

MARCONI BRINGS ANTI-U-BOAT PLAN

Inventor of Wireless Here to Give Navy Department Result of His Researches.

SUCCESSFUL IN ADRIATIC

Thirty Submarines Destroyed There in a Month by His Method, It Is Said.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Important developments in the effort to solve the submarine problem are expected as a result of conferences to be held here between Navy Department officials and the Italian commission, of which William Marconi, inventor of the wireless, is a member.

Shortly after the commission arrived in Washington today there was a report that Mr. Marconi had made discoveries which promised definite results, and that he was anxious to have an exchange of views with the navy experts who are working on the problem. The inventor has spent much time in England, where he has taken up the matter with officials of the Admiralty.

That Mr. Marconi has a definite invention which may soon rid the seas of the submarines was not confirmed, however, and pending his visit to the Navy Department Mr. Marconi refused to make any statement. Official Washington showed a disposition to disregard the reports or at least to handle such topics as information which could not be made public at this time at least.

It was generally admitted, however, that one of the main features of the visit of the commissioners here would be the consideration of the fight on the submarines, and that Mr. Marconi was prepared to present to the Government the results of his inquiries along that line. The British and French navies, it is understood, are now profiting by the advice he has given about ways and means to foil subterfuges employed by the German submarine commanders to hide the location of their ships.

The report here included a statement that within the last month thirty submarines had been destroyed in Italian waters and that the genius of Marconi was responsible for this feat. A statement along similar lines, with the name of Marconi omitted, was given out for publication a short time ago by Italian representatives here. It was then stated that the Italian navy had succeeded in practically eliminating the Austrian submarines from the Adriatic and the destruction of thirteen submarines "within the last few weeks" was mentioned.

BRITISH STOP WORK ON EXPLOSIVES PLANT

Huge Factory Near Bristol Given Up on Account of Our Coming Into War.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Thursday, May 24.—The Government's decision that, "in view of the situation created by the entry of the United States into the war," it is no longer necessary to proceed with the erection of a large explosive factory near Bristol, has been almost the sole topic in Bristol and the surrounding districts for the last few days. The factory is of huge extent. Many thousands of laborers and other workers were engaged in the construction and hundreds of thousands of pounds were expended in the undertaking.

The order to abandon the work came, says The Daily Chronicle, toward the end of last week, and the result is an extraordinary state of affairs. Some contractors who received an official intimation of the decision promptly ceased the work of construction and in many cases proceeded to the work of demolition. Others, not having received similar instructions, proceeded blindly with the work. At one point a firm of contractors is proceeding steadily with the erection of a long row of buildings, at the other end of which a different firm is as industriously engaged in its demolition.

Over forty tenant farmers have taken off some of the best grazing land in West England to make room for the factory. Houses and barns were pulled down and everything cleared for building operations. Everything now, it seems, is to be replaced and the farmers are to be reinstated.

WARNS AMERICANS TO TAKE NO PART IN PEACE CONCLAVE

CITES SEVERE PENALTIES

Logan Act of 1799 Fixes Three Years in Prison and $5,000 Fine for Such Activities.

SOCIALISTS ARE INDIGNANT

Hillquit, Lee, and Berger Denounce State Department's Course as a Blunder.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Emphatic disapproval of the peace propaganda of European Socialists was expressed today by the American Government, which denied passports to American delegates to the Stockholm conference and issued a warning that any American taking part in the negotiations would be legally liable to severe punishment.

No formal announcement of purpose was issued, but officials explained that the Government's course would have the twofold effect of discrediting generally any peace moves by unauthorized persons and of condemning in particular the present Socialist agitation, regarded since its inception as inspired by Germany.

In making known the decision not to give passports to the American Socialists designated to take part in the Stockholm conference, Secretary Lansing cited the Logan act of 1799 as defining the punishments which might be expected by any American now in Stockholm or who might go there without a passport and participate in the peace discussions. Under this law unauthorized persons who directly or indirectly treat with foreign agents regarding controversies of the United States may be imprisoned for three years and fined $5,000.

The American delegates to the conference, authorized to represent the American Socialist Party over the protest of some of its foremost members, are Victor L. Berger of Milwaukee and Morris Hillquit and Algernon Lee of New York. They were selected by the party's Executive Committee after a notable group of Socialists, headed by Charles Edward Russell and William English Walling, had condemned the movement in a joint statement as "the most dangerous of all the Kaiser's plots."

Delegates Pro-German.

The same statement denounced Hillquit and Lee, who are Socialist writers, as radically pro-German. Berger, a native of Austria-Hungary, has been editor of several German language newspapers in Milwaukee, and in 1911 was elected as the first Socialist to sit in Congress.

American diplomatic agents abroad have kept a close watch on the Socialist movement and their reports are understood to show clearly that the plan for a conference at Stockholm had its origin in Germany, and has met with the active encouragement of the German Government. Passports already have been granted to German delegates, who will keep at the front of the negotiations the slogan of "no annexations," interpreted here as a cardinal feature of Germany's program for a truce to further consolidate a great Central European empire.

Russian Socialists also have selected delegates to the meeting, as a result, it is believed here, of German influence. It was in Russia that the proposal of "no annexations" first came into prominence, and it was taken up by the German Socialists, who have urged upon their Government an immediate declaration renouncing conquered territory in the East and West. Such proposals are regarded here as only a blind to end the war while Germany's expansion to the South is secure.

The Socialist Party of Great Britain has refused to send representatives to Stockholm, its Executive Committee declaring that such a conference "is of no real importance and can only bring ridicule on the Socialist cause."

Officials made it clear tonight that their decision should be regarded rather as a disapproval of the peace move than as a reflection upon sincerity of Socialists in this country. It was emphasized that great danger might result if unauthorized persons attempted at present to negotiate regarding peace with foreign agents who appear in reality to be the instruments of a cleverly directed German war move.

Origin of the Logan Act.

The so-called Logan act, under which Secretary Lansing pointed out that such attempts could be punished, was passed by Congress in 1799 after Dr. George Logan, a member of the Society of Friends and a leader in Pennsylvania politics, had made a tour of France on a self-constituted mission calculated to close the widening breach between the American and French Governments. At that time diplomatic relations between the two countries had been severed and there was every indication that war soon would follow.

The act reads:

> Every citizen of the United States, whether actually resident or abiding within the same or in any foreign country, who without the permission or authority of the Government, directly or indirectly, commences or carries on any verbal or written correspondence or intercourse with any foreign Government or any officer or agent thereof with an intent to in-

Belgium Is Assured of Russian Support

HAVRE, May 23.—Baron Beyens, the Belgian Foreign Minister, today received a telegram from Michael Tereschtenko, the Russian Foreign Minister, in which he greeted Belgium, and declared:

"Russia will continue to pursue this war, not for the purpose of conquest or envy, but to assure all nations the right to shape their own affairs and to secure a peace guaranteeing against new attacks."

Baron Beyens sent this message in reply:

"Belgium, the victim of a most odious aggression and struggling for its existence, greets with joy the assurance Russia gives, through you, that she will pursue this war until the establishment of a peace guaranteeing against new attacks."

ROCKEFELLER GIFT OF $25,705,500

New Donation Makes Endowment of Foundation More Than $125,000,000.

$10,000,000 FOR WAR NEEDS

Trustees Set Aside Great Sum to Meet Present and Future Obligations.

The Rockefeller Foundation announced last night, through Dr. George E. Vincent, its newly appointed President, who assumed office on Monday, that John D. Rockefeller had made a gift of $25,765,506 to the Foundation on Feb. 23, which makes the total endowment more than $125,000,000.

Announcement was also made by Dr. Vincent that the Board of Trustees at a meeting yesterday voted to set aside $10,000,000 to meet present and future obligations arising out of the war. Should this money be entirely spent before the next meeting of the Board of Trustees on Jan. 8, 1918, an additional appropriation can be made on thirty days' notice. The Board of Trustees also voted yesterday to make the following gifts:

To the permanent endowment fund of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research	$2,000,000
To the School of Hygiene and Public Health of the Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, to cover the 1916-1917 budget.	70,290
To the Mobile Motor Hospital unit, of the Medical School of Yale University	25,000

Discussing the gifts and the contemplated work of the foundation, Dr. Vincent said:

"The board found itself in the position after making its gifts that it was not possible to meet the present and future obligations arising out of the war without encroaching on the principal. It was, therefore, decided to set aside the $10,000,000 to meet the growing needs of the work which is being carried on.

"For example, the work of the Institute for Medical Research has developed so rapidly since the war, and the demands made upon it have increased to such an extent, that the annual expenditure has exceeded the income from the endowment. In order to give the institute its permanency and independence it seemed best to increase the endowment to $2,000,000."

Dr. Vincent said that the gift to the School of Hygiene and Public Health was made in order to permit the institution to assemble its Faculty and arrange the program preliminary to the opening for students in 1918. The Foundation gave the school $167,000 last June toward the building fund.

"The Foundation is particularly interested in the proposed mobile motor hospital of the Yale Medical School," Dr. Vincent said. "The total cost of the unit will be about $167,000, and this is a contribution toward the fund. The French have already developed this type of hospital with success, and so we are watching the American experiment with interest. Under the plan it is possible to set up 100 or 200 beds with a complete operating room and food kitchen close to the firing line in a very short time. The Government will maintain the Yale unit after it is once started."

Dr. Vincent paid a tribute to the Red Cross War Council, as reorganized, and promised a "liberal contribution" to the Red Cross in the near future. Speaking of the council, he said:

"There is very great grounds for satisfaction in the fact that President Wilson has appointed the Red Cross Council with such a men as Henry P. Davison at the head and Judge Lovett on a committee. The prospects for a thoroughly organized and comprehensive plan for dealing with the whole domestic problem as well as the medical and relief work in the allied countries is sure to command confidence. There is reason to believe that the Red Cross in the near future will offer the country an opportunity to support a statesmanlike program for dealing with war problems. The foundation has faith in the administration of the Red Cross and hopes to make a liberal contribution to the funds which the organization will ask of the American people."

Dr. Vincent announced the resignation of Charles W. Eliot, President Emeritus of Harvard University, as a member of the board of the Foundation. Three new members were installed at yesterday's meeting. They were Charles Evans Hughes, Julius Rosenwald of Chicago, and Dr. Wallace Buttrick of New York. Dr. Vincent said that Dr. Eliot felt that he could not give the required attention to the work of the Foundation because of his many other activities.

WAR TAX MEASURE PASSED BY HOUSE; 329 AYES, 76 NOES

ADVERTISING TAX CUT OUT

PRESIDENT APPROVES BILL

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—The War Taxation bill, levying about $1,857,000,000 annually in direct taxes, passed the House late today 329 to 76, with four voting "Present." The opposition came entirely from Republicans. Representative Mann, the Republican leader, led an unsuccessful attempt to recommit the bill. He contended that the tax levy was too high and that a greater proportion of the expenses of the war should be met by bonds, with a gradual imposition of taxes.

The bill, as reported, was drawn to produce $1,810,000,000 in revenue. By adopting the Lenroot amendments, imposing higher surtaxes on all incomes above $40,000, the House added approximately $60,000,000 to that total. The House, however, eliminated the proposed tax on advertising, which reduced the total by $7,500,000, and reduced the tax on express shipments from 10 to 6 per cent. This is estimated to decrease the total by an additional $6,000,000.

Five rollcalls were taken before final approval was given to the bill. Mr. Mann's motion to recommit was defeated, 246 to 161. Some Democrats voted for this motion. The Democratic floor leader, Mr. Kitchin, made a fervent appeal for unanimous action.

Approved by the President.

As the debate closed Congressman Crisp of Georgia, a member of the Ways and Means Committee, asked Mr. Kitchin's opinion as to the truth of a story published in a North Carolina paper that the President was displeased with the House Revenue bill and regarded it as a "vicious" measure which would meet his veto if not materially modified by the Senate.

"My attention has been called to that article," said Mr. Kitchin, "and I have taken the matter up with the President. He authorizes me to say there is not the shadow of truth in that statement."

There is a general belief in legislative circles that the Senate will practically redraft the bill, with special scrutiny of the excess profits tax and the higher postage rates on newspapers and magazines.

Replying to Mr. Mann, Mr. Kitchin admitted there were inequities in the bill, adding: "What else can be expected in a wartime measure?"

"This Congress has voted for war," said Mr. Kitchin, who himself opposed the war resolution, "and we should show by our vote today that we all are willing to suffer hardships, that we are willing to go to any end for the quick and successful conclusion of this war, that peace may come to all mankind."

"I am afraid we are killing the goose that lays the golden eggs," said Mr. Mann in announcing that he would vote against the bill. "I do not believe that so great an amount should be raised by direct taxes at this time. We should meet a large part of the expenses of this war by bonds, passing tax bills as necessary from year to year, instead of levying in one bill nearly two billions in taxes."

Postal Substitute Retained.

On a roll call vote the House approved the substitute section offered last night by the Ways and Means Committee covering the increase postage rates on second class mail matter. These higher rates were approved, 256 to 150. In demanding a record vote Mr. Mann announced that if the committee substitute were rejected he would move to strike all reference to second class mail matter from the bill and leave the rates as they were at present.

The modified rates, as already announced, provide that the increases shall take effect in three stages, the minimum rates ranging from 1 1-6 to 1½ cents a pound for the first zone to 2 2-3 to 6 cents for the eighth zone.

The House voted 345 to 60 to retain the Lenroot amendments, increasing the surtaxes on all incomes above $40,000. A record vote defeated the Doremus amendment, approved in Committee of the Whole, for a lower tax on automobile factories. The Doremus amendment provided that the tax should not be levied against manufacturers making less than 8 per cent. upon capital invested. The House retained the original language of the bill, which assesses a 5 per cent. tax on the factory price of automobiles, trucks, motor cycles, and tires for the same. The vote against the Doremus amendment was 233 to 174.

On motion of Mr. Kitchin the House eliminated the proposed 5 per cent. tax on "advertising or advertising space other than in newspapers or periodicals." This tax would have applied principally to electric light, billboard, and street car advertisements. Mr. Kitchin said advertisers probably would be indirectly taxed by the higher postage rates on magazines and newspapers.

The House adopted an amendment offered by Mr. Fitzgerald of New York providing that after Jan. 1, 1918, all persons, firms, corporations, and associations subject to the income, munitions, and excess profits tax shall remit for their taxes when returns are made. Under the existing law taxes may be paid within three months after the returns are made. Mr. Fitzgerald said this arrangement imposed needless bookkeeping upon the Treasury Department.

Increase of second class postage rates on advertising portions of publications is proposed in an amendment to the War Revenue bill introduced today by Senator Hardwick of Georgia. It would leave the present cent a pound rate on news sections of publications, but increase that of advertising sections to 3 cents a pound until July 1, 1918; 6 cents a pound until July 1, 1919, and 8 cents a pound thereafter.

REPORT TORPEDOING OF AN AMERICAN SHIP

Marine Men Hear That 8,000-Ton Vessel, Formerly German, Was Sunk in Mediterranean.

An unofficial report was circulated yesterday in shipping circles that an eight-thousand-ton steamship flying the American flag and formerly of German registry had been torpedoed and sunk in the Mediterranean.

Shipping men said that the only one of the German ships answering that descripiton which had sailed from New York recently was the Tras Os Montes, formerly the Bülow, which was interned at Lisbon and later in the war was seized by the Portuguese Government.

The steamship left New York a month ago for Havre under charter to the French Government with a Portuguese crew and flew the flag of that nation. It was possible, shipping agents said, that she might have been loaded again at Havre for an Italian port; but she would not have been under the American flag.

The Tras Os Montes came to New York under charter to the Canadian Steamships, Ltd., to run on the passenger service between New York and Bermuda, but it was decided she was not needed on account of the falling off of traffic due to the war. She was a twin screw steamship built at Geestemunde in 1906 for the North German Lloyd passenger and freight service from Bremen via the Suez Canal to China and Japan, and was 462 feet 4 inches long, of 8,965 gross tonnage, 57 feet 6 inches beam, and 36 feet depth of hold.

DUTCH CRITIC DERIDES OUR AID TO THE ALLIES

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

THE HAGUE, May 23.—The military critic of De Nieuwe Courant expresses contempt of the help America is likely to give the Entente in the course of this war.

"Why do they pretend to be so silly?" he asks. "Will they never take this war seriously? Whom do they expect to intimidate with their senseless advertisement—the Central Powers or the neutrals?"

He then observes that the report that an American division will soon fight in France is sheer bluff. "Ach!" he says. "That story of General Pershing coming is all humbug, misplaced and childish boasting for such a serious war."

He asks what is the use of sending a squadron of American destroyers when "the whole British fleet cannot tackle the submarine danger."

Finally he remarks that the volunteer system is to have preference in bringing the American army to war strength. "We know," he says, "what difficulties, disappointment, and delays the volunteer system produced in England, which was so close to the war, and can guess how much worse will be the case in America."

ONE MAN TO BUY ALL WAR SUPPLIES

gard it as likely that the new commission will take over many duties of the council, including the duty of keeping in close touch with transportation facilities.

Meantime the purchases of the Allies in this country are progressing about as usual, with the important addition that the Government already is keeping in close touch with the manner in which they are spending money lent to them, and in some cases actually directing how it shall be spent. Thus, in the case of Russia, American officials are seeming to place advantageously orders for 500 locomotives and 10,000 cars. This equipment is needed at the earliest moment, it is understood, but the Government has undertaken to see that there shall be no unsettlement of business conditions in this line due to the placing of so large an order.

Britain's Huge Purchases.

Plans for the commission cast an interesting sidelight upon the prospective needs of the Allies and the methods pursued in the past of making purchases here. Statistics, never published but laid before American officials, tell in many formidable tabulations, often startling in their import, of the obligations given by foreign Governments here and of the purchases made.

The full amount of allied purchases in America since the war started probably will be made public soon. The figures are understood to reveal that the part Great Britain is reputed to have played as banker here for all the Allies has not been overestimated. The record of virtually all the money she has spent here for herself and her allies is under close scrutiny as an index to future requirements.

Contracts entered into before America formally accepted Germany's challenge to war still are in effect in many cases, and some of the funds supplied the Allies are being applied on these contracts. In many instances, it is understood, Great Britain pledged her credit for supplies to go to her allies, notably Russia, and the adjustment of the tangled skein of agreements involves days of intensive effort which must elapse before the proposed new agreement will become entirely effective.

Russia's demands are revealed as extremely heavy. The report of the British commission, headed by Lord Milner, which went to Russia early in the year and made an exhaustive study of her requirements, has been placed, verbatim, before the American officials. The report is understood to reveal that Russia is in a position to utilize virtually all the supplies, many of a non-military nature, for which transportation facilities can be found. Some of these supplies will be sent from Great Britain, some from other allied nations, and some from the United States. The report is complete for the year of 1917 and discloses, among other things, Great Britain's confidence that Russia will continue to remain an active factor in the war.

How much of the burden of Russia's needs will be assumed by this country is to be determined and probably will be the subject of suggestions by the commission headed by Elihu Root.

The program has not yet reached the stage where it can be said definitely to what extent the United States will be called upon to finance the Allies during the first year of war. Indications are, however, that the $3,000,000,000 loan already authorized hardly will be sufficient.

NEW PEACE EFFORT ON AUSTRIA'S PART?

WANTS POLISH CONCESSIONS

Charles Hopes to Place Austrian on the Throne—Banking on Peace with Russia.

AMSTERDAM, May 23, (via London.)—The Roman Catholic newspaper Tijd says that it understands on good authority that in accordance with the wishes of Pope Benedict the Austrian Court is initiating a new peace effort.

LONDON, Friday, May 24.—The Amsterdam correspondent of The Times, referring to rumors of a Catholic peace move, says that it has been repeatedly stated in Vatican circles that Mgr. Pacelli, the new Papal Nuncio to Munich, bears an autograph letter from Pope Benedict for the King of Bavaria and Emperor William.

These reports, the correspondent adds, are to the effect that it is certain that the Nuncio is taking important communications for both Governments, concerning which the greatest secrecy is being observed.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 23.—Information has been received in authoritative quarters here suggesting that Austria is endeavoring to induce Germany to promise that the head of the revived Kingdom of Poland shall be an Austrian Prince. Developments are being watched with great interest, as indicating either that Germany feels the necessity of making concessions to her ally in order to counteract tendencies toward making a separate peace which have recently developed in the Dual Monarchy, or that Germany's military grip on Austria is less strong than is usually supposed. It is believed that any concession on the point of the Polish Kingship would be extremely distasteful to Berlin, and if it should be made it would be interpreted, as clearly showing that Germany realizes that she must humor Austria to keep her in line.

BANKS ON PEACE WITH RUSSIA.

Austria's Only Hope Said to Rest on That and a Good Harvest.

Hopes of peace with Russia and of this year's crops being better than those of last year have during recent weeks been the sole factors in whatever optimism existed in Austria-Hungary concerning the outcome of the European war, according to a staff correspondent of The Associated Press, who has just returned from Vienna.

It was thought that if Austria reached an understanding with Russia that would incline the Entente Goverments to enter negotiations for peace, or that in the absence of such an inclination on their part the troops of the Central Powers on the east front would be released for operations against the Italians and the Allies on the west front. This failing, a crop as good as, or better than, last season's appeared to most classes the only cause for seeing anything bright in the future. The Government shared this view, and this led to several attempts by it to give the Russians to understand that peace with the Central Powers could be obtained under conditions considered favorable in Berlin and Vienna.

Those concerned in the matter of food conservation in Austria-Hungary realize that only the very best of seasons could give the country a crop as good even as last year's. The country was before the war an exporter of foodstuffs, and the area of arable lands does not enter into the question of war crops. For land not cultivated intensively food production in the monarchy has become largely a matter of fertilizing. This is especially true of Hungary. Farms depending upon intensive cultivation have fallen short in crop returns principally for the reason that the necessary labor has not been available.

Though the potash fertilizers of Germany are available to Austria-Hungary, every demand made by farmland fertilization is not met by them, for the reason that these supply but a part of the elements needed to foster a vigorous plant life. In the past these elements have been provided by stable manure for intensive farming and phosphorous fetilizers imported from abroad. The latter can not be secured at present, and manure has become scarce owing to the great reduction in live stock due to the war.

Farming in Austria-Hungary, as in Germany, has for the last two years taken much more out of the soil than it was possible to return to it, the result being that two crops have been raised on what may be considered as being the reserve store of the elements needed to produce a crop. With the duration of the war the possibilities of keeping the soil in good condition have decreased constantly, so that today most farmland in Central Europe may be considered as being on the verge of exhaustion. The best of weather this year could not produce a good crop, according to many landowners with whom the matter was discussed.

The shortage in farm labor also argues against a good crop this year. Most of the farming is done by the women, the older children, men unfit for military service, and prisoners of war. The quality of their labor has been rather better than was expected, but it falls short by far of what the men in the trenches could do. Not alone is the ploughing and cultivation indifferently done, but the hands available are in many cases unable to cultivate the area allotted to them. Last year, for instance, much grain was ruined by being too long in the fields after ripening, rain spoiling it.

A lack of vitriol, principal ingredient in spraying solution used to free crop plants from parasites, has also been a serious factor in poor crop returns in the monarchy. In many parts it has led to total failures in potato crops, and many of Austria-Hungary's splendid vineyards and orchards have been ruined because vitriol, being a copper product, could not be obtained.

SAYS ENGLAND'S AIMS AGREE WITH RUSSIA'S

Cecil Indorses Petrograd Statement—Papers Sure Allies Are in Accord.

LONDON, May 23.—Replying in the House of Commons today to criticisms from Russia of his speech on the war aims of Great Britain, delivered May 16, Lord Robert Cecil, Minister of Blockade, said they were based on an entire misconception of what he said.

"I laid stress," he explained, "on the fact that our aims and aspirations were dictated solely by our declaration to secure peace founded on national liberty and international amity, and that all imperialistic aims, based on force or conquest, were completely absent from our purpose. The most recent declaration of the reconstituted Government of Russia is in complete harmony with this policy."

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Thursday, May 24.—The Daily Chronicle, applauding editorially the speech of Premier Ribot in the French Chamber yesterday, says:

"All the best information before us goes to corroborate his view. There is no real division between the principles actuating the leaders of the Russian democracy and those actuating the democratic statesmen of Great Britain, France, Italy, and the United States in regard to the aims for which we fight and the kind of peace we desire to crown our efforts. Those who wantonly labor to discover such a division may, of course, if they labor hard enough, end by creating one, but their effort, which is exactly what Germany wants, threatens and harms, as far as it goes, not merely the cohesion of the alliance, but the whole cause of democracy."

In declaring that the situation in Russia is too often misrepresented by Russian correspondents, The Chronicle says:

"Reference to Russian papers shows nothing easier than to misrepresent the revolutionary leaders by cabling selected phrases from their speeches. The balance of opinion, as expressed by the revolutionary leaders, seems entirely on the side of the conception of the war entertained by the western Allies. All of them condemn a separate peace. All of them profess the keenest interest in re-establishing the efficiency of their army and pulling their weight in the common enterprise. All of them realize that Prussianism must be defeated if democracy is to be safe. We see no reason to believe there will be any difference between their view and ours regarding 'annexation.'"

The Chronicle concludes by condemning those who deprecate the Russian Army or advocate a premature peace because of Russian conditions, and says:

"To do so is merely to play the enemy's game. Germany's great and only hope is to end the war by October. She is neither willing nor able to face carrying it through another Winter, hence the activity of her propaganda in Russia."

BELITTLES SOCIALIST THREAT.

Vorwaerts Says Pan-Germans Predicted Revolution First.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, May 23.—At the last sitting of the Reichstag Philipp Scheidemann, the Socialist leader, asserted that a revolution would certainly result in Germany if the Entente Powers should renounce all claims for annexation and indemnity and if the Central Powers should insist on continuing a war of conquest. The whole house fell to booing and drowned Herr Scheidemann's further remarks, which were supposedly intended to qualify his hasty prediction.

From two letters published in Vorwärts today it becomes apparent that Herr Scheidemann did not wish the Socialist Party to lag behind its principal opponent, the Pan-German Party, which as long ago as May, 1915, sought to influence the Chancellor in the same way.

At that time one of the Pan-Germans' most active and distinguished exponents in Bavaria, General Baron von Gebsattel, wrote the Chancellor a letter in the name of the Executive Committee of the whole Pan-German organization, in which he offered "a frank word as to the consequences if the war resulted in a peace not in conformity with the necessities of Germany." He continued to explain that there was a great deal of evidence that the Imperial Government had too closely limited the scope of its war aims, "which fact impresses the most faithful and politically most reliable circles as meaning the renunciation of the advantages accruing from our certain victory."

"My conscience bids me to warn you," the General wrote, "that such a renunciation would be a fatal political mistake, and that its next consequence would be revolution. That word must be pronounced. The monarchy would be endangered, perhaps even deposed, which would be the end of our nation."

To this letter Dr. von Bethmann Hollweg replied May 13, 1915, saying that the war and its experiences had no doubt enhanced the national will, but had not succeeded in remedying lack of political understanding in Pan-German circles, where, to judge from General Gebsattel's letter, this lack had evidently assumed grotesque proportions.

If, as General Gebsattel said, there were signs of bitterness and even of despair among the people that pointed to an approaching revolution, then there were but two possibilities. Either it was true, and then the responsibility would rest with those men who fanned this dangerous mood, or it was not true, which would mean a threat and an attempt by the minority to subject to their will the responsible leaders of the nation's advisers of the Crown."

This correspondence is now exactly two years old, but it is still interesting because of the threat of revolution made by one distinguished member of the Pan-German and Feudal set.

Herr Scheidemann's remark in the Reichstag the other day was but a mockery of the attitude of General Baron von Gabsattel, for whose remarks the Conservative Reichstag Party would certainly not have had any jeers. Two years ago General Gebsattel threatened the Chancellor with a revolution, but the German people never dreamed of fulfilling his prophecy, and if THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent is any judge of the political situation, Herr Scheidemann's prediction will have a like fate.

CONFIRMS ALSACE PARTITION.

"Decision Has Been Reached," Hertling Tells a Hungarian Paper.

AMSTERDAM, May 23, (via London.)—In an interview republished by German newspapers from a Hungarian paper Count Hertling, Bavarian Premier, is quoted as having said in regard to the reported partition of Alsace-Lorraine between Prussian and Bavaria:

"It is completely new and hitherto has been unknown that a decision has been reached about the position of Alsace-Lorraine."

Count Hertling expressed the conviction that the war would end by Fall and said the results of the submarine warfare were satisfactory.

MAY LET NEWSPAPER MEN GO WITH OUR ARMY

Baker Says He Favors It, but Much Depends on What French Officers Say.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Assurances were given by Secretary Baker today that the American press would be allowed as liberal representation as practicable with the first expeditionary force to be sent to France under Major Gen. Pershing. Because the troops are going to French soil, he said, it is deemed necessary to reach an understanding in advance with the authorities there as to the limitations to be placed upon the publication of information which might be of value to the enemy.

General Pershing will report to the department as soon as he has talked the matter over with French officials and arrangements for American correspondents to accompany the troops will then be made.

Secretary Baker indicated his own desire to tell the American people just as much as possible of what American troops are doing while at the front.

LAUDS AMERICAN AIRMEN.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

THE HAGUE, May 23.—The Dutch author Van Meel, who arrived here by the Ryndam, makes an interesting statement in the Telegraf regarding American aviation. He denies indignantly stories circulated in Holland to the effect that machines bought in America for the Dutch Indies have been failures. He explains that, owing to the mass of production, the American machines do not display the high grade of exactitude of the European machines used since the war, but says they are nevertheless very serviceable.

Up to the present aviation has been encouraged mainly as a sport in America, but aviators are devoting themselves to air tricks which make Pégoud's look cheap, the endurance record being held by a woman in a trip from Chicago to New York.

"But now America has gone into war," he concludes, "we shall see what she can do. Flying men are being trained and factories fitted for production. American energy will make itself felt in this connection, for Americans stop at nothing, and when once they tackle a job they do it well."

No U-Boat Protest by Mexico.

MEXICO CITY, May 23.—Ernesto Garza Perez, in charge of the Foreign Office, denies that Mexico has made any representations to Germany on the submarine issue. A dispatch from Amsterdam, which stated that the Mexican Minister to Germany was believed to have protested on behalf of Mexico against unrestricted submarine warfare, was shown to Señor Perez. He declared the Mexican Government had not authorized any such representations, and that Mexico had nothing to say to Germany on this subject.

PRESIDENT URGES PRESS CENSORSHIP

ferees. They also agreed to sound sentiment in the Senate to ascertain what character of censorship legislation would have any prospect of being passed. This they will do before the conference to be held Friday.

At a meeting of the Washington correspondents of out-of-town newspapers held today to take action on regulations for a voluntary press censorship proposed by the Committee on Public Information appointed by President Wilson, the following resolution was adopted:

> Resolved, That the following be adopted as a minute of a special meeting of the Washington correspondents of American newspapers, and a copy of it furnished to the Standing Committee of Correspondents in charge of the press galleries of Congress for inclusion in its record:
> The Washington correspondents of American newspapers believe that the patriotism and loyal discretion of the press of the United States have been emphatically demonstrated during the present emergency by the voluntary suppression of important information of possible value to the enemy, such as, among other things, the location of our fleet, the movement and location of our troops, the names of merchant vessels arriving at or departing from American ports, and the names of these ports in order to prevent knowledge of their movements reaching the German submarines, the itinerary of members of foreign nations representing the nations allied with us in this war and the presence of American destroyers in European waters.
> And it is further the sense of this meeting that there shall be no action on the proposed voluntary censorship at this time.

Some Senators Change Attitude.

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—The newspaper censorship fight was reopened in Congress today, following President Wilson's action in personally intervening to insist upon inclusion of some form of press regulation in the Administration Espionage bill. Whether the Administration would attempt to force through a censorship authorization was said tonight to depend upon soundings being made by leaders among the House and Senate membership, especially the former.

Should the leaders find that there is a reasonable prospect of acceptance by the House of a modified censorship plan it was stated tonight that the conferees had agreed, tentatively, to adopt and present a provision along the lines of the Cummins-Thomas amendment.

President Wilson is said to have accepted the principle of this provision, which was offered during recent Senate debate and rejected.

The Senate conferees, who have been opposing any censorship authorization, are understood to be willing to accept the new proposal as a substitute for that of Representative Gard of Ohio, written into the House bill and regarded as much more drastic. The House clause authorizes the President by proclamation to prescribe what news shall not be published, leaving the courts to determine if publication is in deliberate violation of prohibitory regulations.

Although the Senate vote to eliminate censorship entirely was 48 to 34, it was understood tonight that President Wilson's insistence had resulted in some Senators changing their minds. A few, it was stated upon authority, who voted against censorship are now ready to favor it. Senators leading the fight against press regulation, however, still are confident of ultimate success.

The outcome is regarded as depending largely upon the House, because of the Republican conference action yesterday against censorship, together with known and strong opposition of many Democrats.

Press Comment on the Censorship Plan.

NEW YORK.

"Wicked" to Silence Just Criticism.

From The Tribune.

It is not only a wicked thing, but a futile thing, to attempt to silence just criticism and those who honestly seek to destroy evils by exposing them. Tyranny has always founded itself upon the press gag, and the press has always prevailed to the ruin of tyranny. The little Czar who yesterday reigned in Petrograd and now shovels snow elsewhere was a champion of the press gag. The Hohenzollern monarch, whom we are fighting, still deludes his people by controlling their press to his ends and against the publication of the truth.

Why, then, has Mr. Wilson adopted the chief instrument of the Czar and the Kaiser as an essential and all-essential instrument in a war for democracy and against tyranny? Will it not wake an interesting echo in Russian conferences now, when it is reported that the head of the American Republic advocates, demands, the right to silence a free press and shackle all expression of public opinion?

No President in our history ever made a greater mistake than Mr. Wilson has now made. If only he has his way, this power will not merely wreck his Administration, but it will hereafter awaken a revolt in public opinion unknown in this country since our last King lost his American colonies by policies which Mr. Wilson would now imitate.

It is the duty of every Senator and every Representative to stand fast now against the present demand of the President.

Thinks Lane Bill Can Be Framed.

From The World.

There ought to be enough statesmanship in Washington to frame a censorship bill which will give the Government whatever authority it needs to protect vital military secrets and which will at the same time fully safeguard the rights and liberties of the press and the people. The task is not difficult if it is approached in the right spirit and with a clear understanding of the aims that are to be achieved. The original bill drawn by the Department of Justice was a shockingly despotic measure, under which practically anybody and everybody could be sent to jail.

The World wants a sane censorship law not alone for the protection of the Government, but for the protection of the press. The Government already has enormous power if it chooses to exercise it. The newspapers have no power at all under the law. Nothing stands between them and wholesale prosecutions for treason at this time, however trivial the offense, except the reluctance of the Administration to employ a war power that we know has been used ruthlessly in the past, and under similar conditions of public hysteria might be used as ruthlessly again.

WASHINGTON.

"Censor" Criticises Washington Herald.

From The Herald.

The Administration drive for a drastic press censorship has been renewed. The tremendous influence of President Wilson is behind the campaign to shackle the press while the war is being fought, to rob it of the rights guaranteed by the Constitution, to establish an autocratic menace to those organs of public opinion which may have the courage to criticise the conduct of the great struggle upon which the nation is engaged. We think that he asks power from Congress which it is dangerous to intrust to any single man in a democracy or any group of men, no matter how pure and crystalline his motives may be.

Cannot any newspaper which gives vent to treasonable utterances—giving aid or comfort to the enemy or information of aid to the enemy is treason—be prosecuted under the treason clause of the Constitution?

Administration spokesmen have been loud in protesting that they did not dream of trying to control editorial opinion or criticism. Yet, despite these protestations, despite the fact that there is no censorship law now, The Washington Herald was involved in a curiously significant incident yesterday.

An editorial was published on "Defective Shells," regarding the tragedy of the Mongolia. It declared that the series of accidents on armed ships indicated clearly that something must be wrong in the Navy Department.

Within a few hours after the editorial appeared George Creel, Chairman of the Committee on Public Information, who will be the official Government censor if a censorship law is enacted, called the Washington Herald on the telephone, questioning the spirit and correctness of the statements contained in it.

If this is not an attempt to control editorial opinion, what is it? There were no misstatements of fact in the editorial; a single typographical error, turning "seventeen" years into "seven," was its only inaccuracy. Mr. Creel did not venture to impugn any of The Herald's statements of fact, which were based on Admiral Earle's official report; but he did question the editorial.

The incident would be beneath a moment's notice if it were not a straw showing which way the wind was blowing. If the press of the nation, if the people of the nation, are not alive to the sinister elements involved in the proposed censorship, it is high ttime that they "wake up."

BOSTON.

"No Need of the Press Gag."

From The Boston Advertiser.

We do not yet see the need of the press gag for which the President strives so insistently. What are the kinds of information which ought not to be printed and which a few publishers are persistently printing? Is it intended to stop at all hazards the ventilation of incompetence in the army and navy machinery? Is the real object to make it perilous for publicists to bring to the American people facts which the war bureaucracy would find it more convenient to suppress? It seems to us that the burden of proof for a surrender of one of the most important constitutional guarantees rests not upon those who defend the freedom of the press, but upon those who desire to curtail it.

We Must Have Free Speech.

From The Boston Record.

It appears to us that the dangers inherent in and inseparable from any such censorship bill as is contemplated, are far more to be feared than these newspapers "who cannot be relied upon, and whose interests and desires will lead to actions on their part highly dangerous to the nation." There is inherent strength in democracy, which fails only when democracy's foundations are menaced. Free speech is one of the foundations.

ALBANY.

"Merely Pickwickian."

From The Albany Knickerbocker Press.

Merely pickwickian. Too much indignation should not be wasted on President Wilson's letter to "Mr. Webb," demanding that a newspaper censorship provision be enacted by the House of Representatives. Newspapers worth their salt are not worrying about a censorship. They will do their duty to the country and to their readers, to the best of their humble ability to discern it.

Thinks the President Is Right.

From The Albany Argus.

It is a sign of returning sense, after the weak bending to clamor, that the Senate and House conferees have reached an agreement, tentatively, on a provision for censorship in the Espionage bill. The President is unmistakably right in asking this much, and the country's sentiment should make itself heard so vigorously as to compel its enactment.

SYRACUSE.

Says President Seeks Too Much.

From The Syracuse Journal.

President Wilson would reverse the old order of the "Ninety and nine" by turning a huge flock out of the fold of honesty, fairness, and patriotic editorial service so that he could convert the place into a prison for the punishment of a few newspaper sheep that might possibly insist upon remaining out in the storm of unguarded expression. The President has the power now to stop any such utterances as might prove injurious to the national cause, and he is bulwarked in this position by a public opinion that could regulate with effectiveness in instances where the Executive will might lack force.

If what the Administration proposes goes through, the Government will be in absolute charge of the newspaper business office, and the so-called "War Officers" will be in control of the news and editorial department. A foreign foe conquering this country can hardly do more damage to American newspapers than is proposed in Washington.

UTICA.

Thinks Censorship Is Necessary.

From The Utica Observer.

While President Wilson feels complete reliance on the patriotism of American newspapers as a whole, he deems authority necessary to invoke a censorship of some sort in isolated cases which might be detrimental to the national interest. It is not doubted that there are such cases. There have been frequent evidences of this in the past two years, and they are not altogether wanting today, especially among some of the foreign language papers. But why not so shape the law that a mischievous or intentional offender would hesitate before he would dare incur the punishment provided? It is as grave a crime to print in a newspaper anything that hazards public safety as it is to convey privately to an enemy those military secrets which should be kept inviolate.

BALTIMORE.

Sees No Reason for Apprehension.

From The Baltimore Sun.

If anybody has a right to object to censorship it is surely the press and not Congressmen, and yet the opposition to any form of supervision is coming from the latter and not the former. We have already expressed the decided opinion that the censorship provisions of the Espionage bill as originally written were unnecessary and indefinably drastic, but as modified in the House the regulatory power touches no vital right and has been accepted by the large majority of newspapers as justified by war conditions. The action of the Republicans in the House is calculated to give a partisan color to a question that has no relation to politics, and should be studiously separated from all such influences. If the Administration proposed a policy which would gag the press, make criticism of public officials dangerous, or threaten essential freedom of speech, we might all wisely join in denouncing and opposing it. But, in point of fact, nothing of the kind can happen under the modifications made by the House, and there is absolutely no reason to apprehend under the revised measure any curtailment in information which the country ought to possess or any repression of wholesome editorial comment on official acts.

RICHMOND.

Supports President's Stand.

From the Richmond Times-Dispatch.

To take the arbitrary position that no censorship powers of any character should be granted to the President is manifestly wrong. Jealously as we guard the right of freedom of speech we must also guard against the menace of unrestrained and even treasonable speech in a time of national peril. It is undoubtedly true that a very great majority of the publications in this country can be trusted implicitly not to print any information they might be requested by the Government not to publish, or that they might themselves consider unwise or improper. But it is undoubtedly true, also, that there are some that cannot be so trusted. And there should be a grant of clearly defined power to punish the latter class and to prevent as far as possible danger from that class.

Will Not Surrender Its Rights.

From The Richmond Virginian.

We fear no gag measure at the hands of the Administration, nor would we submit to any form of censorship which would infringe on our right freely and fully to criticise military operations and methods. The exercise of such a right is essential to the safety of the nation, and must not and will not be surrendered. On the other hand, we emphatically favor a censorship which will prevent careless or ignorant or unpatriotic editors from disclosing military movements or plans, over which form of news ninety-nine out of every hundred newspapers already enforce a self-imposed censorship.

INDIANAPOLIS.

For a Limited Censorship.

From The News.

The President's faith in the newspapers has not been misplaced. No one outside of the newspaper offices knew that our destroyers had gone abroad until they had been for several days actively engaged in the hunt for submarines. No one knows today where the rest of the Atlantic Fleet is or what it is doing. Pershing's army will, no doubt, be in France before the nation knows that it has sailed. That is a pretty good record for a country in which papers and people alike are so extraordinarily keen for news. Nevertheless, if a censorship can be established that will not limit the right to discuss freely men and measures, and will not be used as a shield for incompetence, it ought by all means to be done. For there are, as the President says, papers that "cannot be relied upon."

LOUISVILLE.

Cites Britain's Experience.

From The Louisville Times.

With the British experience in view, the Government of the United States must approach the matter of press censorship with great care. If intelligence of strategic meaning is at stake, there is no newspaper in the land with one spark of patriotism that would think of publishing it over the judgment of the military authorities. The Government must consider these facts, must regard the press as absolutely sincere in its urgency for full and definite information to the people on the progress of the war. The American people are resolute, calm, and intelligent. They have the faculty of sifting the true from the false, and they will not be gulled by garbled news as were the English for many months after the outbreak of the war.

Sees Destruction of Press's Power.

From The Louisville Post.

The world today recognizes the wisdom of the course the President has followed and the power of his declaration that we had entered the contest of democracy against absolutism. That is why the press is opposing a censor bill framed on the European models, which would have destroyed the power of the press to bring public opinion to the President's support. A manacled press, a silenced press, a censored press, will find its influence gone. Down with absolutism; up with the banner of democracy!

"Why a Censorship?"

From The Louisville Herald.

The news of the departure of the Hero of the Marne and of Vice Premier Viviani was not censored. But the secret was kept, and yet the President clamors for a censorship and won't be happy till he gets it. Why?

NASHVILLE.

Thinks Censorship Is Needed.

From The Nashville Tennessean and American.

At a time when the safety of the nation, the existence of the nation—aye, the safety and the existence of civilization itself—are at stake, the power must be lodged somewhere to lay a hand on the newspaper that would blab the Government's secrets and say it nay.

KANSAS CITY.

Wants No "Star Chamber War."

From The Star.

A Star Chamber war cannot be made a popular war in this country. There is doubt if it could be made a successful war. The country has yet no means of knowing whether the men at the head of affairs are the right men. It is willing to trust them to make a beginning, but if they fail it wants to know it, and it wants to know it the moment they fail, not months later. The only way the country can be sure of discovering incompetence at its inception is by free, frank, and intelligent discussion of events as they transpire. To hide the facts, to permit officials to conceal themselves and their acts behind the curtain of a censorship, would be to leave to blind chance the conduct of a war in which democracy's existence is at stake. Democracy cannot afford to take that chance.

OMAHA.

"Rank Folly" to Copy Britain's Error.

From The News.

Since we in this country have seen how disastrous has been England's experience with military censorship, it is rank folly for us to copy the same form of military censorship. And yet that is what we will do if Congress retains the Espionage bill in its present form. A suppression of facts is serious enough in being a violation of the constitutional guaranty of freedom of speech and of the press. But an additional danger threatens. It consists of the possibility and even probability that a military censorship will attempt to deceive public opinion as it has done in England. Such a thing would be a calamity.

PORTLAND, ORE.

Wants a Board of Newspaper Men.

From The Oregonian.

The newspapers * * * most forcibly object to a censorship under the control of the very officials who are most exposed to criticism—the heads of the departments which are charged with the conduct of the war. The President can obtain all that he desires, and can at the same time meet all the objections of the newspapers, if he will consent to the appointment of a committee of responsible newspaper men, which would be entirely independent of any department of the Government and which would decide whether any matter could properly be published.

NO AMERICANS IN PEACE CONCLAVE

fluence the measures or conduct of any foreign Government or of any officer or agent thereof, in relation to any disputes or controversies with the United States, or to defeat the measures of the Government of the United States; and every person being a citizen or resident within the United States and not duly authorized who counsels, advises, or assists, in any such correspondence with such intent shall be punished by fine of not more than $5,000 and by imprisonment during a term not less than six months nor more than three years.

Representative Meyer London, Socialist member of the House, made the following comment tonight on the decision of the State Department:

"I am very much surprised to hear of this attitude of the State Department. I cannot understand that sort of action. It seems to me that we should encourage the sending of delegates anywhere and at any time to promote the cause of peace in this war. I have just heard of the view of the State Department. It is my intention to take the matter up tomorrow and see what may be done. I may have something more to say later."

Hillquit Goes to Washington.

On hearing last night that the State Department had decided to issue no passports to the American delegates to the Socialist conference at Stockholm, Morris Hillquit, who was selected with Algernon Lee and Victor L. Berger to represent the Socialist Party of this country at the conference, started for Washington with the intention of trying to persuade the Government to change its attitude.

Mr. Hillquit said he deplored the position taken by this Government as unfair and unwise, because he thought it would inspire the resentment of Socialists all over the world, and especially in Russia.

"The reference to the law of 1799," said Mr. Hillquit, "does not apply to our case because this is not a conference of Governments, but a voluntary conference of the citizens of various countries. Participation in such a conference cannot be construed as carrying on negotiations with hostile Governments. I go to Washington tonight in an effort to persuade the State Department to reconsider the decision because I think it is unjust and unwise.

"Unjust because there is no good reason why any citizen of the United States should be curtailed in his freedom of travel and in his freedom of expressing his opinion. The Stockholm conference is by no means an enterprise in any way hostile or dangerous to the interests of the United States or allied powers. On the contrary, it is a conference called to promote the same general objects for which this country is now fighting, as stated by President Wilson only yesterday. It is a very unwise decision, because it cannot fail to have a very unfavorable effect on Europe and Russia in general.

"The action of this Government will certainly be known on the other side. It will stand out in bold contrast with the action of all other nations. I do not expect very favorable comment upon the intelligence or wisdom of this Government in taking this step, which means the virtual internment of Socialists in this country."

Algernon Lee expressed himself as follows:

"The refusal of passports to American delegates will, I am afraid, tend to create the impression all over Europe and especially in Russia and Germany that our Government shares the imperialistic purposes which are undoubtedly held by some influential elements of all the countries."

Although he had persistently opposed the Stockholm conference as a German plot, William English Walling expressed yesterday that the decision of the State Department was a mistake. His reasons, however, differed from those given by Hillquit and Lee. He thought the move was unwise because it did not in any way prevent the conference at Stockholm from being held, and only tended to make martyrs of the delegates who were prohibited from attending.

"I stated to the State Department several days ago," said Mr. Walling, "that passports ought not to be denied, first, because it would not block the conference, and, secondly, because it would make martyrs of these Socialist delegates. However, it may be well that the State Department had no discretion in the matter and was compelled to act in accordance with the Logan law. Of course, if such a law is upon the statute books, the State Department could do nothing else but enforce it.

"The German delegates to this conference, both from the majority and minority faction, really represent the German Government, not as agents technically, but virtually so, because they are putting forth the very ideas that the government wants them to put forth. They got their passports from the German Government simply because they intended to act along lines indorsed by the Government.

"It must be understood that the issuance of passports in Germany is a different matter from what it is in this country. In this country the issuance of a passport is governed by law and regulations. In Germany it amounts to a privilege. This privilege having been accorded to the German delegates, it must be regarded as an act of approval, which makes those men virtual agents of their Government."

Mr. Walling said he did not think the stand taken by this country would antagonize the Russian Government, once the reasons for the decision were made clear to them.

The New Yorker Volkszeitung, the organ of the German-speaking Socialists in the United States, attacked the selection of Victor Berger as a delegate, in an editorial yesterday:

"We protest against the appointment of Berger, who in no wise represents the views of the Socialist Party of our country regarding the questions to be decided at Stockholm," said the editorial. "Berger should have been about the last man to be sent over there as a Socialist representative."

At the office of the Volkszeitung it was explained that the objections to Berger were grounded in the fact that he had always expressed himself in sympathy with the Scheidemann group in Germany that supported the Kaiser and his aims.

BERGER WILL PERSIST.

Special to The New York Times.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 23.—Victor Berger, in commenting on the Government's refusal to give passports to the delegates to the Stockholm Convention, said:

"The Socialists will stand on their rights and try to get passports to which they are entitled as American citizens, going to Stockholm on a legitimate mission. If the order from the State Department is not considered the United States will be the only country in the world not represented. England, Germany, France, Italy, Spain, and Rumania will be there in full force, but America is [illegible] afraid [illegible] Stockholm [illegible]

"The [illegible] the Logan [illegible] ists who [illegible] rather [illegible] fighting [illegible] entirely [illegible] intention of any delegate to sneak his way over. Moreover, no boat will accept a passenger who has no passports."

Mr. Berger denies the rumors of splits in the Socialist Party of the world.

"Different tactics there may be sometimes," he said, "but only one object at heart. Difference of tactics are forgotten as soon as they get together. All countries will be represented at the Stockholm conference, notwithstanding reports to the contrary."

uted, setting forth the President's speech as a declaration from the Commander in Chief that we have no grievance, then the interrogation will blaze up before the eyes of the people: 'Why sacrifice the children? Why give the money? Why bankrupt the future? Why have this food control and apparent dictatorship upon the events and conduct of mankind in America?'

"Let me say that there has been a misapprehension. The President has never said that America had no grievance. What the President said in the speech to which I invite attention is that America has, or we have, no special grievance—not that America did not have a grievance; to the contrary; but that America had a grievance that could not be recounted in words, as has been frequently disclosed here in his address, as well as in the events that have transpired all about us.

"What the President meant was that the grievance that America had was not special from that which was had by the other countries which were fighting for the same cause as America was now at war. That is the grievance of France, the grievance of Britain, the grievance of democracy, and was the general grievance which America had; that America's grievance was not special from the grievance of mankind, and that the conflict conducted by America was not only for America in her general grievance but for mankind."

Senator Lewis concluded by quoting the words of Disraeli on a famous occasion, when he said: 'Let us trust that hereafter criticism may be made with discrimination and condemnation with justice.'

A letter from President Wilson to Representative Pou, similar to the letter to Representative Heflin made public last night, was given out today to correct interpretations of the President's speech at the Red Cross dedication ceremonies.

"I meant," wrote the President, "that our grievance, while entirely sufficient, was the same as that of other neutral nations, perhaps aggravated by the fact that Germany has made us special promises which she has grossly ignored. I would be very much obliged to you for any steps you might take to correct this damaging and erroneous, and, I must believe, insincere interpretation of my address to the Red Cross."

The executor of a will—his fees

THE executor of every will settled in this State is entitled to a definite and limited compensation for his services. This compensation is in the form of a commission based on the amount of principal received and income paid out by the executor.

The rates are fixed by law as follows:

5% on the first $1,000
2½% on the next $10,000
1% on all above $11,000

The legal rate is the same whether you name a Trust Company your executor or name an individual executor. But there may be other expenses besides this commission. The administration of an estate affords many chances for unnecessary expenses and costly blunders. The administration of an estate by an experienced Trust Company is generally not only more business-like but more economical than administration by a less experienced individual.

KING RECEIVES AMERICAN UNIT

CHAT WITH KING AND QUEEN

Court Etiquette Put in the Background and Democracy Rules the Proceedings.

ENGINEERS ALSO IN LONDON

Y. M. C. A. Workers Received by the Mayor—Second Medical Unit Reaches Port.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 23.—America's pioneer army medical unit received a warm welcome from King George at Buckingham Palace today. Twenty-five surgeons and more than double that number of nurses, belonging to No. 4 base hospital of the United States Army, paraded in the gardens of the palace under command of Major Gilchrist, with Colonel Begbie of the British Army, who has been attached to the unit during its stay in England assisting in the arrangements.

King George was greatly impressed by the general appearance of the American medical men and nurses, whose workmanlike and at the same time effective uniforms had a Gainsborough-like background in the green lawns and noble trees of the palace gardens.

Dr. Crile, who is medical head of the unit, already has gone to France and the rest of the American arrivals will speedily follow him.

The present contingent, which hails from Cleveland, Ohio, is a pioneer contingent in a double sense. It is the first of half a dozen lots, of whom the second arrived in England today, these latter being Harvard University's contribution to the cause.

The King, who was accompanied by the Queen, the Prince of Wales, and Princess Mary, and attended by members of the royal household, delivered a brief address of welcome and then walked along the line of surgeons shaking hands with each member of the unit as the surgeons were introduced by Major Gilchrist.

Introduced to King George.

The nurses then paraded before the King and Queen, each of them being presented by name by Miss Allison, their matron, and their assistant matron, Miss Leete. Handshakings were punctuated in many cases by brief conversations, the initiative in which was occasionally taken by the American visitors, evidently greatly to the delight of the King and Queen, neither of whom appeared to be obsessed by punctilious regard for the rule that one should not speak to royalty until spoken to.

This was notably the case with one of the surgeons, a Westerner, whose very appearance radiated democracy and who chatted with Queen Mary as freely and pleasantly as he might have done with any other person of less degree.

Besides the members of the royal family and of the royal household, who included Lord Stamfordham, Lord Annaly, Earl Cromer, Colonel Sir Clive Wigram, Sir Derek Keppel, and Sir Edward Wellington, there had come to welcome the American visitors Sir Alfred Kiogh, Director General of the British Army medical service, and Miss Beacher, matron in chief of Queen Alexandra's Imperial Military Nursing Service, a woman upon whose shoulders has fallen most of the work of organization among those doing nursing work in the war.

American correspondents had been invited to the palace to witness the pleasant little ceremony. From the visitors they gathered an impression of general gratification which royal courtesy had given, though one woman who was in charge of a squad of typewriters attached to the unit bustled around with a warning that "Nobody must say anything to the reporters."

The Royal Society of Medicine has invited officers of the American medical units to use the Wimpole Street quarters of the club, and also to attend lectures and clinical demonstrations which are especially valuable in showing the latest methods of treating wounds.

LONDON, Thursday, May 24.—Three separate groups of Americans, all bent on war work, were welcomed in London yesterday. The first detachment of United States army engineers, under command of Major Parsons, arrived last night.

The first American medical unit, which reached England last week, was received by King George at Buckingham Palace.

Sixty students from Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Northwestern Universities, who arrived in England for duty in connection with war work of the Young Men's Christian Association, were welcomed by the Lord Mayor at the Mansion House. Sherwood Eddy of Yale headed the delegation, which is the first of numerous ones that are to be sent here with the sanction of the American Government. These men will release for service with the colors Englishmen who are now on duty in the association's huts all over the British Isles.

The second medical unit from the United States has also arrived in Great Britain.

In his address to the American medical unit at Buckingham Palace King George said:

"It is with the utmost pleasure and satisfaction that the Queen and I welcome you here today. We greet you as the first detachment of the American army which has landed on our shores since your great republic resolved to join in the world struggle for the ideals of civilization.

"We deeply appreciate this prompt and generous response to our needs. It is characteristic of the humanity and chivalry which have ever been evinced by the American nation that the first assistance rendered the Allies is in connection with the profession of healing and the work of mercy."

It is understood that the American detachment is being trained in British methods and will proceed to France as a pioneer force which will be able to teach other American medical corps the methods employed in active service.

FOUR ENGINEERS WERE SENT.

Ordered by War Department to Study French Railways' Needs.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—The War Department two weeks ago ordered four army engineers to France to determine the precise needs of French railways, for the repair and maintenance of which nine engineering regiments are now being organized in the United States.

This party, which has reached London, consists of William Barclay Parsons and William J. Wilgus of New York, Majors in the Reserve Corps; W. A. Garrett of Chicago, Vice President of the Chicago & Great Western, a reserve officer, and Captain A. B. Barber of the regular army engineer corps. They will make recommendations affecting the organization of the railway engineering troops.

Captain Barber expects also to study problems of trench construction.

Presbyterian Hospital Unit Arrives.

RESERVES COMPLAIN; CAUSE INVESTIGATION

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, May 23.—In consequence of publications reporting intolerable conditions, suffering, and even deaths at the Commonwealth Pier in South Boston, where some 1,800 members of the Naval Reserve from all parts of the country are quartered, three surgeons, detailed by Captain William R. Rush, Commandant of the First Naval District, were detailed today to investigate contagious diseases at the pier. Captain Rush also invited newspaper men to accompany them.

The result of this scrutiny was to disprove the charges so far as insufficient food and ill-treatment were concerned, and the health conditions were pronounced as nearly perfect as the structure of the pier, which is covered and floored with concrete, would admit.

Owing to the shortage of equipment, which extends to nearly all departments at the station, it has been difficult to protect the men adequately from harsh winds and rain when on outside work. It has also made the men who are not equipped discontented. This discontent, among men but recently come from home, has shown itself in criticism that seasoned campaigners would not make.

There has been delay in paying the men and consequent grumbling. One man stated today that he had been six months in the service and had received but $12. Some seventy-eight of the men are as yet without uniforms, and there is a marked scarcity of rifles.

Those faults were to be attributed, today's investigators agreed, to shortcomings of the Navy Department and not to the officers responsible for conditions at the pier. Lieutenant Edward L. McSheahy, the commanding officer of the receiving ship, said this afternoon:

"We have sixty men now under observation in an isolated ward because the medical officers are not quite positive whether the men have meningitis or not. Those cases, and we have had one or two, came from Chicago. We have had complaints from men in here that they were messing with men who were known to have the disease. We have tried our hardest to discover the men. They have not reported to the doctors at sick call. The trouble is that under the law now a man in the navy who has a disease due to his own misconduct has his pay checked while he is in the sick bay. That results in the men not reporting as sick.

"I don't doubt but that there are a number of that sort of cases on this ship. The place is not ideal in my opinion as a training ship. We were not prepared to handle any such number of men, but we are getting better every day. Six hundred and thirty-eight men came from Chicago and haven't had any pay yet, because the pay cards did not come. I have telegraphed four or five times to straighten this out, and now I have all but forty of the cards here and they will be paid. I can't pay any money unless I have the pay account, but no man has to borrow money if he will make his troubles known. Some of the men who, perhaps, have complained about their pay have court-martial records.

"The hammocks are strung twenty-four inches apart in sections. Regulations aboard ship put the distance at eighteen inches. There is not sunlight enough here, perhaps, but they are in better shape so far as room to move around than they would be aboard ship. No man has fallen out of a hammock and killed himself here. Discipline is good. I ought to have thirty or forty more chief petty officers. I am using reserve officers in this duty when I can find enough that know the business. Food is good. I have sat, myself, at noon at the men's mess. I would suggest a number of changes if we were to stay here any length of time, and the proper authorities know what they are. I welcome any sort of an investigation at any time from any source."

Although some of the men told the newspaper investigators that there had been three deaths among the recruits, officially there has been one death. The victim was Paul Burgett, an apprentice seaman from Lewiston, Ill. He died of double pneumonia at the Naval Hospital, Chelsea, on May 13, the day that he was admitted to that institution. He came to the pier from Chicago with other men from the lakes region, and had been here but a short time when stricken. Two men are now at the hospital, suffering with spinal meningitis, and a third is ill at home. Beyond this the officers state there is no serious sickness nor danger of any.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—When the attention of Secretary Daniels was invited tonight to reports that there were cases of spinal meningitis among the Naval Reserves at Boston, he said that a report of that character had been brought to the attention of the department today by a Boston editor, and that instructions had been given to the Commandant of the Boston Navy Yard to investigate and make a full report to the Navy Department on the matter.

When the Boston editor communicated with the Navy Department today Secretary Daniels said he instructed Admiral Leigh Palmer, Chief of the Bureau of Navigation, to make an immediate inquiry. Admiral Palmer called up the Commandant of the Boston Yard by long-distance telephone, who informed him that the situation had been very greatly exaggerated by the report; that he would be glad to have the newspapers send representatives to investigate conditions and let them have the facts.

The cases under observation at Boston did not involve men of the regular navy, but men of the Naval Reserve. It was learned that the navy had more Reserve men at Boston than it had facilities to handle, but that steps were being taken to expand those facilities. The Commandant at Boston has been instructed to make a full report on the matter.

Y. M. C. A. WAR FUND GROWS.

Council Now Has $2,000,000 to Carry On Its Work in Army Camps.

The National War Council of the Young Men's Christian Association, in a statement issued yesterday, announced that it has already raised about $2,000,000 of the $3,000,000 needed to carry into effect the extensive war program which the association has worked out for the comfort and instruction of the soldiers and sailors of the United States.

A few nights ago Maor Gerald Birks of the Overseas Forces of the Y. M. C. A. addressed 140 New York women and at the end of his talk the women present subscribed $101,000 to the fund. The names of the donors are withheld by the association.

Major Gen. Bell, commanding the Eastern Department of the Army, said yesterday he hoped that every divisional training camp to be created in the United States, as well as every division of troops sent overseas, could have its full quota of working Y. M. C. A. units.

"I regard the Young Men's Christian Association," said General Bell, "to be as necessary to the army as the Red Cross. It greatly contributes to the improvement of the morale of the troops and is of great assistance in the maintenance of discipline."

The War Council of the association has let contracts for the construction of Y. M. C. A. buildings at Fort Ethan Allen, Vt.; Fort Slocum, N. Y.; Fort Standish, Mass.; the aviation station at Mineola, and the naval station at Newport, R. I.

ASKS WOMEN TO SUBSCRIBE.

Mrs. McAdoo Appeals for Support of Liberty Loan.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—The work of women in promoting the sale of the Liberty Loan bonds is being rapidly organized for effective results. A meeting has been called for June 1 at the Treasury Department, at which Mrs. W. G. McAdoo, Chairman of the Woman's Committee, will preside. In issuing the call for the meeting Mrs. McAdoo said:

"The woman who buys a Liberty bond stands behind a soldier. She furnishes him with food and clothing and care in illness or disaster just as truly as though she were on the battlefield by his side."

BILLION FOR LOAN IS EXPECTED HERE

Many Large Financial Institutions Defer Announcing Total of Their Subscriptions.

BANK WILL TAKE $6,300,000

Mechanics and Metals Offering Stated—Edison to Ask His Employes to Help.

While definite figures are not available as to whether New York State has reached in actual subscriptions to the Liberty Loan the minimum of $555,000,000 expected by the Treasury Department, it is predicted by financiers that the subscriptions of the New York Federal Reserve District will aggregate finally at least $1,000,000,000, and a number of bankers believe the total will be nearer $1,500,000,000. The New York district includes all the State and small portions of New Jersey and Connecticut.

Many subscriptions of substantial size have been filed, or are about to be filed, of which no public record is available. Only two $25,000,000 subscriptions have been announced—one by the United States Steel Corporation and the other by the First National Bank of New York—but it is known that each of several other large institutions will subscribe $25,000,000 if not considerably more. Many of the largest banks and trust companies have not publicly indicated what they intend to take and what applications they had received from customers.

More Large Subscriptions.

It was announced yesterday by the Mechanics and Metals National Bank that it had received from its customers subscriptions for $6,300,000. Among other subscriptions reported were $2,500,000 by the New York Shipbuilding Company, $2,000,000 by the Norfolk & Western Railway Company, $1,130,000 by the Atlantic Coast Line, $500,000 by the Owens Bottle Machine Company, $250,000 by Mrs. Jacob H. Schiff, $125,000 by Henry Zuckerman & Co., $100,000 by the Transatlantic Trust Company; $100,000 by the New Bedford Cordage Company, $50,000 by the Standard Oil Company of Kansas, and $50,000 by Franklin Simon & Co.

The Executive Committee of The Associated Press unanimously resolved to transfer $200,000 of the emergency reserve fund, an accumulation set aside for extraordinary news events, to the purchase of Liberty Loan bonds.

The Heywood Brothers & Wakefield Company declared an extra dividend of $5 a share, to be paid in Liberty bonds as soon as available.

Frank A. Vanderlip, President of the National City Bank, amplified yesterday his Newark statement of Tuesday night that his bank was ready to lend $100,000,000 at 3½ per cent. on notes secured by Liberty bonds. On previous occasions, Mr. Vanderlip had declared that banks should not lend money at 3½ per cent., the rate of the bond, but that a slightly higher rate should be charged, his chief reason being that with a higher rate the borrower would be more likely to liquidate his indebtedness promptly. Yesterday Mr. Vanderlip explained that his bank would lend at 3½ per cent., nothwithstanding the prevailing money market rates, for the purpose of carrying Liberty bonds, only upon the understanding that the borrower would reduce his loan every 90 days when it came up for renewal.

The question of safeguarding the bonds without renting safe deposit space has been answered by the Executive Committee of the New York State Safe Deposit Association, which has devised a plan for its members of accepting the bonds for one year without charge.

Edison Helps Campaign.

Thomas A. Edison has set out to get a subscription from each of his 10,000 employes. Tonight there will be a meeting at the Edison works which will be attended by the 200 industrial captains of the departments. Mr. Edison will make a speech, asking every one to subscribe to the loan.

A series of noonday hotel meetings has been arranged by the Liberty Loan Committee, with the co-operation of John McE. Bowman of the Biltmore, George C. Boldt of the Waldorf, and others. The first will be held today at the Biltmore and will be addressed by Controller Prendergast and Clark Williams.

A call to the Home Guards of the Metropolitan district to buy Liberty Loan Bonds was made yesterday by H. S. Houston, Chairman of the National Advertising Advisory Board. The Liberty Loan Committee issued a letter to employers suggesting plans for distributing bonds among their employes on a partial payment basis.

At a meeting of representatives of public utility companies held at the Bankers' Club it was announced that the Interborough had decided to arrange for the purchase of the bonds by its employes on weekly payments of $1, and that the company had offered to give free advertising space in its cars to the Government. The meeting was attended by Theodore P. Shonts of the Interborough, George B. Cortelyou of the Consolidated Gas Company, Wilbur C. Fiske of the Hudson and Manhattan Company, and officials of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit and Third Avenue Railroad.

MILLION TAKEN IN STORES.

Liberty Loan Bonds Suggested as Gifts to June Brides.

Subscriptions for Liberty Loan bonds taken in the department stores in the three days ended yesterday afternoon aggregated $1,000,000, the Retail Dry Goods Merchants' Committee announced. One of the largest individual subscriptions, $25,000, was reported by Franklin Simon & Co. The demand for the bonds at all the stores was larger than on any other day since the campaign began.

At Best & Co.'s a former employe who had retired for age and now holds a position as night watchman in a New York club, subscribed for $250 worth of the bonds. Although on duty all night, he waited until the bond salesman reported at the store at 9 o'clock in order to make his subscription. He took three bonds, two for $100 each and one for $50, depositing the full amount. At Lord & Taylor's a man bought a $500 bond for himself, another for his wife, and $50 bonds for each of his two children.

"I've saved this money," he said, "and I want a safe investment for it."

Today marks the beginning of the more extended campaign of the merchants, and subscriptions will be taken over the counters of the United Cigar Stores. There are about 300 of these stores in New York City, and 1,200 in the United States.

"We are going to lend our best efforts and all our resources to push this loan," said Edward Wise, President of the company. "We have subscribed for $800,000 worth of the bonds. It is our plan to collect the full amount for each bond, so that persons unfamiliar with banking transactions can deal understandingly with us. I think the people are awake to the fact that the Liberty bonds can be sold in the open market at any time."

William C. Koch of Koch & Co., 182 West 125th Street, reported that Harlem was "doing its bit." "We have taken subscriptions for thousands of dollars at our store," he said.

A suggestion by one of the bond salesmen at the department stores that the bonds be bought as presents for June brides made an impression on some of the Retail Merchants' Committee, and a campaign to develop this feature may be started. It was estimated that presents worth millions of dollars are annually distributed in New York among June brides and that a fair share of the amount could be used this year in buying bonds.

In response to a request from Mayor Mitchel a meeting of department heads was held in the City Hall yesterday to discuss the participation of city employes in the Liberty Loan. It was decided that the Mayor should appoint a committee to take charge of the movement, and he announced that Controller Prendergast, as the city's chief financial officer, would be the Chairman. The Mayor named the five Borough Presidents as Vice Chairmen and announced that he would select an Executive Committee of ten on Wednesday. Later a meeting was held in the Controller's office at which plans were discussed for obtaining subscriptions to the bonds from officials and employes in all departments.

BIG EXCESS DEMAND FOR TREASURY ISSUE

WASHINGTON, May 23.—An overwhelming response has greeted the Treasury Department's latest offering of $200,000,000 short-term certificates of indebtedness, part of the Liberty Loan financing. The offering was oversubscribed, it was officially announced tonight by approximately 50 per cent., and the books have been closed two days ahead of the date originally set because no further subscriptions can be taken.

The certificates bear 3¼ per cent. interest, one-fourth of 1 per cent. higher than the last offering, are due July 30, and while they are not directly convertible into Liberty Bonds, are receivable at par and accrued interest in payments made by subscribers to the bonds. The eagerness of the banks to accept the offering presents somewhat of a contrast with the acceptance of the last offering of $200,000,000, which bore but 3 per cent. interest.

Allotments of the offering will be made tomorrow. It will be necessary to scale down the subscriptions by approximately one-third because of the great hoped-for oversubscription. New York, it is understood, were especially large, and in every Federal Reserve district the amount taken by the banks exceeded expectations.

The prompt acceptance of the offering reflects the quickened public interest, officials think, in the Liberty Loan. While the campaign for placing the loan is almost in full swing, it is pointed out that a tremendous amount of work has to be done before the full amount is subscribed, without considering the oversubscription. SUFFRAGISTS HELP THE LOAN.

Begin State-Wide Campaign—Will Make Open-Air Appeals.

Half a million advertising cards and 50,000 application blanks for Liberty Loan Bonds were sent out yesterday from the headquarters of the New York State Woman Suffrage Party, 303 Fifth Avenue, which is working with the Women's Liberty Loan Committee, of which Miss V. D. H. Furman is Chairman. The cards were supplemented by a letter from the chairman of the party, Mrs. Norman de R. Whitehouse, asking the assistance of campaign district chairmen, up-State Assembly district leaders and Presidents of Suffrage clubs in cities of 2,000 or more inhabitants.

Officers of the party and 50 other speakers will make open air appeals on the principal streets of New York tonight for subscriptions to the loan. Among the speakers will be Mrs. Whitehouse, Mrs. Ogden Mills Reid, Mrs. John Blair, Mrs. Frederick Edey, Mrs. Alice Duer Miller and Mrs. Frank A. Vanderlip. Suffrage leaders have been asked to hold meetings in their districts to explain the conditions of the loan to women.

It was announced that a $10,000 subscription to the loan had been made by Miss Mary Carmack McDougal, a volunteer worker on the War Service Committee of the New York State Woman Suffrage Party.

A mobilization of women's organizations in the interest of the loan was announced yesterday by the Women's Liberty Loan Committee.

RAILROAD BUYS BONDS.

Norfolk & Western Subscribes $2,000,000—Loan Campaign Progress.

PHILADELPHIA, May 23.—A subscription of $2,000,000 to the Liberty Loan was made today by the Norfolk & Western Railway. Arrangements will be made whereby employes of the company may subscribe for the bonds and pay installments of 5 per cent. monthly until the bonds are paid for, the company bearing the expense of the subscription.

PITTSBURGH, May 23.—Teachers in the public schools have been instructed by Supt. William M. Davidson to distribute "Liberty Loan primers" to their pupils on Friday and talk to them for several minutes on the patriotic service they may render in either subscribing for the loan themselves or by urging their parents to do so. At the University of Pittsburgh "Liberty Loan Day" will be observed tomorrow.

Faculty members at Duquesne University will devote a part of recitation periods on Friday to a talk on the loan.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 23.—The Chairman of the districts included in the Cleveland Federal Reserve Bank district met this morning and the sale of $215,000,000 of Liberty bonds allotted to this district. The Cleveland allotment has been increased $15,000,000 and the issue is to be sold within twenty-four days.

SAGINAW, Mich., May 23.—The City Council last night asked the Saginaw Finance Commissioner to sell $100,000 of city bonds and invest the proceeds in Liberty Loan bonds. The city bonds are now held on trust funds in the City Treasury.

LANSING, Mich., May 23.—Governor Sleeper today issued a proclamation designating the week beginning May 27 as Liberty Loan Week.

Kerensky Off to the Front.

PETROGRAD, May 23.—War Minister Kerensky has started on a tour of inspection of all the military front. He left Petrograd today by special train.

CALLS ON THE STATE TO AID THE LOAN

Whitman Urges Organized Effort in Every County to Make It a Success.

OUTLINES CAMPAIGN PLANS

Asks Defense Committees to Make Sure That the Commonwealth's Proportion Is Subscribed.

ALBANY, May 23.—Governor Whitman today called upon the people of New York State to organize their efforts in support of the Liberty Loan, putting in motion the machinery of the State's defense organization, the Resource Mobilization Bureau, to inaugurate a campaign for the sale of Liberty Loan bonds in every county. The Governor sent a letter to the Chairman of each county Home Defense Committee, and the Chairman of the Mayor's Defense Committee in New York, calling attention to the opportunity presented now to "assist actively in negotiating the Liberty Loan."

"It is my desire that each county organization under the Resource Mobilization Bureau move officially in this matter, and make it an immediate and active part of its work," wrote the Governor. "It is appropriate that the present defense organization of the State in every county should definitely undertake the task of insuring the Empire State's full contribution to the Liberty Loan."

In his letter to the county defense committees the Governor said:

"There is doubtless already distinct activity in your county in connection with the loan. I suggest, however, that you organize and co-ordinate these activities in a definite campaign in common with the other counties of the State.

"It might be advisable for you, through the Finance Committee and the Committee on Co-operating Agencies, to call together the chief representatives of all organizations likely to be interested or useful, notably bankers' associations, underwriters' associations, trade associations, associations of credit men, street railway, and other advertising companies, chambers of commerce, &c. In a meeting of these representatives it is possible that under the Finance Committee you might organize a ways and means committee to direct the campaign for the Liberty Loan."

Le Roy Village Subscribes $255,520.

Special to The New York Times.

LE ROY, N. Y., May 23.—The village of Le Roy, which has a population of 4,070, set an example for other rural communities in the matter of the Liberty Loan at a patriotic meeting of the Board of Trade last evening, when, after stirring addresses had been made by Edward Harris and F. Harper Sibley of Rochester, and the Rev. Pierre Cushing, rector of St. Mark's Church, men present subscribed for $255,550 of the bonds, less than fifteen minutes being consumed in making the entire subscription. A committee of thirty citizens was named to make a thorough canvass of the community, and it is certain that Le Roy's subscription to the bonds will reach $350,000. At the same meeting $1,050 was given toward the $3,000,000 fund that is being raised for Y. M. C. A. work in the training camps of the country.

1,542 ARMY RECRUITS OBTAINED TUESDAY

79,920 Men Enlisted Since April 1—100,000 Still Needed for War Strength.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—The total number of recruits obtained for the army Tuesday was 1,542, bringing the aggregate since April 1 up to 79,920 men. Only three States have thus far filled their quota—Nevada, Oregon, and Utah. More than 100,000 men are yet to be recruited to bring the army to full strength.

Pennsylvania led in recruiting yesterday and leads the country with a total of 8,867 since April 1. Illinois was second yesterday and is the second in total enlisted since April 1. New York, which was third yesterday, is third in total army recruiting. The daily statement issued by Adjutant General McCain follows:

HARD BAYONET DRILLS FOR PLATTSBURG MEN

Special to The New York Times.

PLATTSBURG, May 23.—Pending the arrival of the new manuals embodying British bayonet practice to be adopted by the U. S. Army, the students received today the theory of the new system at their conferences today. From information now in the hands of instructors at the Plattsburg camp, the new bayonet practice will go hand-in-hand with physical drill.

The aim of the new instruction will be to develop alertness of mind, readiness of muscle, and above all a soldier's fighting spirit.

A pouring rain was falling when the students marched out on the parade ground early this morning. Close order drill occupied the first hour of the day's program and the men showed marked improvement. Then followed half an hour's brisk calisthenics. The rest of the forenoon was spent in conferences. Signaling and rifle pointing and sighting exercises filled the afternoon. Tonight the students are studying skirmish drill and the regulations for sentinels.

Eight men who passed their examinations before coming to the camp and who were recommended for commissions took the oath as reserve officers today. They were Rigny D. Valliant of New York, Major of cavalry; Frank L. Nelson, one of the editors of The New York Times Mid-Week Pictorial, Major of infantry; Henry D. F. Chinner, formerly a First Sergeant in the United States Army, Captain of infantry; Archibald B. Roosevelt, Second Lieutenant of infantry; James H. O'Reilly, formerly Sergeant, United States Army, Second Lieutenant of infantry; Robert E. Goggin, Bloomfield, N. J., Second Lieutenant of infantry; Robert F. Crandall, Bedford Hill, N. Y., Second Lieutenant of infantry, and Henry S. G. A. Raw, Columbia University, Second Lieutenant of infantry.

NO DRINK FOR WAR STUDENTS

Special to The New York Ti es.

SACKET HARBOR, N. Y., May 23.—Though Governors Island has not yet notified Lieut. Colonel Sample to follow the Plattsburg example of adopting the British system of bayonet drill, it can be said that the overseas method will be established here within a week. Canadian officers from the big training camp at Kingston, Ont., directly across the lake, may make a brief visit here.

The students were again sent out on the road today, this time for five miles. Fifteen companies strong, the cadets hit up a pace that took them over the distance in about an hour. Before the march the men assembled in the barracks for the regular daily lecture, and then, departing from the usual custom of letting the pupils do the questioning, several of the instructors began to sound the men on just what they had learned since coming here.

The question of liquor at the camp was practically settled today at a conference between Colonel Sample, District Attorney J. B. Cooper of Jefferson County, and the local authorities. The District Attorney told the camp commander that under an old State statute a military commander has absolute power over all drinking places within a mile of his post. The military receives the power to close a saloon at will. When this was communicated to the Colonel he immediately sent for the saloon proprietors, who promised not to sell any intoxicants to any one connected, even in a civilian capacity, with the barracks.

ARMY TO OPEN BIDS FOR 35,000 TRUCKS

Three and Five-Ton Types for the War Wanted—Drivers Also to be Procured.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Bids will be opened by the United States Army on June 10 at Chicago for 35,000 motor trucks, of both light and heavy types, for use in the war. Arrangements are being made to procure the necessary drivers also.

Colonel Chauncey B. Baker, head of the Motor Transport Board of the War Department, said today that the new American army would be supplied with motor trucks as rapidly as they were needed through the development of present plans and that the department had no present expectation that it will have to commandeer private machines.

The new army trucks will carry approximately three and five tons, respectively. The specifications were formulated by the Motor Transport Board in conjunction with several divisions of the Standards Committee of the Society of Automotive Engineers, after an exhaustive study of European and American field experience. They were afterward passed on by the entire Truck Standards Division of the society, and are regarded as embodying the very best of American and foreign experience.

RED CROSS TO START DRIVE FOR MILLIONS

Morgan, Schiff, and Others Head Teams—More Help for France.

Plans to collect millions for the American Red Cross are being made by Cleveland H. Dodge, Chairman of the Finance Committee, and Seward Prosser, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the organization. They will go to Washington tomorrow to a national meeting where co-operative work will be discussed.

Special teams of ten under the leadership of prominent men will aid in the work. Between June 18 and 25 the men of these teams will devote most of their time to the campaign. Some of the Captains selected are: J. P. Morgan, Mayor Mitchel, T. A. Gillespie, J. Horace Harding, Charles D. Hilles, William M. Kingsley, Edgar L. Marston, George F. Baker, Jr., H. G. S. Noble, E. H. Outerbridge, Charles H. Sabin, Jacob H. Schiff, Albert Strauss, W. B. Thompson, F. D. Underwood, Frank A. Vanderlip, Albert H. Wiggin, and George J. Whelan.

When the work is begun the teams will make their headquarters in the meeting room of the Chamber of Commerce. Ten teams of women will be selected after the teams of men have been organized. The Captain of the teams of men will be assisted by S. R. Guggenheim, Alfred E. Marling, William Fellowes Morgan, George T. Wilson, George A. Zabriskie, Mortimer L. Schiff, Joseph P. Day, John Sloane, Paul D. Cravath, Frank Hedley, Irving T. Bush, Arthur O. Choate, James R. Sheffield, and Harry Payne Whitney.

In speaking of the organization of the committees, Mr. Prosser said yesterday: "The American boys at the front—and there are thousands already there—are fighting 'to make the world safe for democracy.' They are doing more than we can do, but we are going to help."

The American Red Cross announced yesterday that, owing to the tremendous pressure on military hospitals in France to care for the thousands of soldiers wounded in the violent fighting now in progress, all available surgical dressing supplies that could be spared were being sent to France from the workrooms of the New York County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

While this special need lasts, and, perhaps, for the entire war, the departments of foreign and American military relief of the large workroom maintained by the Chapter at 411 Fifth Avenue have been merged. Thus the output of the 1,200 and more workers there amounting to more than 45,000 dressings a week, will be pooled for distribution at the discretion of the Central Committee of the Red Cross. Where gifts for designated countries are received, these will continue to be applied as before.

Twenty-two tons of supplies for French and Belgian hospitals are included in a Red Cross shipment that left an American port a few days ago. Included in this shipment are 69,000 cans of condensed milk for the children in the devastated regions of France.

SWEEP GERMANS FROM AISNE HILLS

French, by Three Attacks, Seize Last Heights Dominating Ailette Valley.

CAPTURE 400 PRISONERS

Petain's Troops Also Take Three Lines of Trenches East of Craonne Plateau.

BRITISH STILL INACTIVE

Enemy Directs Heavy Bombardment Against the Region of Bullecourt.

PARIS, May 23.—As the result of attacks at three points in the neighborhood of Craonne last night, the French troops conquered the last of the observation points dominating the valley of the Ailette River (south of Laon) and considerably enlarged their positions on the northern slopes of the Vaucleo and Californie Plateaux. They also carried three lines of trenches east of the village of Chevreux on the low ground north of Ville-au-Bois. Over 400 prisoners were taken.

The attacks followed a terrific bombardment in which the German lines were practically annihilated by the French fire. This bombardment lasted throughout the day yesterday and grew to great intensity just before the moment of attack.

The Germans later in the night attempted a counterattack, but they were repulsed with heavy losses. Today they contented themselves with bombarding the positions they lost. The text of the statement issued by the War Office this afternoon follows:

> We made spirited attacks with good results yesterday evening at three points on the front. On the Vauclerc Plateau and on the Californie Plateau our troops conquered the last of the observation points dominating the Ailette Valley. They enlarged considerably their positions on the northern slopes.
> We carried three lines of German trenches east of Chevreux during the night. A counterattack by the enemy against our new positions on the Californie Plateau was stopped by our fire, which inflicted heavy losses on the attackers. We captured 350 Germans, of whom eleven are officers.
> An enemy attack on the slopes southwest of Les Eparges was checked completely. Everywhere else the night was calm.

This evening's statement says:

> On the Chemin des Dames no infantry action occurred during the day. The enemy bombarded the new positions which we occupy in the region of the Vauclerc and Californie Plateaux. The number of prisoners taken in the operations of yesterday exceeds 400.
> In Champagne there was spirited artillery activity on the part of the enemy south of Moronvilliers. The Germans finally delivered against Mont Haut an attack which our fire broke down before it was able to reach our trenches.
> It is confirmed that two additional German airplanes have been brought down by our pilots, one May 13, the other on the 18th.

A dispatch from The Associated Press correspondent at the front says:

"Von Hindenburg himself is understood to have been a spectator of the defeat which the French inflicted on the Germans yesterday evening on the Moronvilliers range (in the Champagne district) which resulted in the capture of several lines of German trenches and a number of important observation points. The German commander is known to have been just to the northward of this section of the front on Sunday. His presence is supposed to have been connected with an attack on the French lines which the Germans intended to deliver on Tuesday morning, but the French forestalled them.

"As outlined to the correspondent today, the operations in this region developed into a 'struggle for observation points,' possession of which is absolutely indispensable for success under present conditions of warfare. In their forward drive on the Moronvilliers range the French captured all those positions dominating the surrounding territory. The heights of Carnillet, Blond, Haut, Casque, and Teton, and the Moronvilliers hills are now indisputably in their possession and from them they are able to watch the movements of German supply columns and reinforcements and thus harass them, making precarious the German tenure of the Rheims plain.

"The system of fortifications encountered by the French in their advance was more formidable than any they had met before that time, but the clever manoeuvring of their infantry and the pile-driving of their artillery overcame these difficulties. Thus the French were able to register a victory at a cost amounting to only one-fifth that to the Germans.

"James Hazen Hyde was permitted to make a flight over the lines in an airplane before the attack. Two French fighting airplanes escorted him and held off German machines which hovered about. Mr. Hyde has taken an official position with the Young Men's Christian Association, which intends to make arrangements for American troops similar to those which have been made for the British behind the lines. They are invaluable for the men when they are resting after trench duty."

Germans Shell British Lines.

LONDON, May 23.—The German artillery last night bombarded the new British positions on the Hindenburg line near Bullecourt with considerable violence, but no infantry attack developed. Today was quiet on the British front.

The text of the statement issued this afternoon by the War Office follows:

> Last night the enemy again heavily bombarded our positions on the Hindenburg line in the neighborhood of Bullecourt. Our artillery replied vigorously. No hostile attack developed.
> We made a successful raid early this morning southeast of Gavrelle. A number of Germans were killed, without any casualties among our troops.
> We captured a few prisoners during the night as a result of patrol encounters at different points on our front north of Armentières.

The official communication issued this evening says:

> There was less activity in the air yesterday and little fighting. One German airplane was driven down out of control.

CANADA TO SEE VIMY GUNS.

OTTAWA, May 23.—Guns which the Canadians used in their successful assault of Vimy Ridge are to be brought to Canada and placed on exhibition, according to a dispatch received here today from Canadian Army Headquarters in France.

Cannon of small calibre have already been shipped, the cablegram says, "and should arrive in time to add interest to the Fall fairs." The dispatch adds that "the larger guns, which require the use of mechanical power to get them over the ridge, could not be brought out in time for the first shipment."

CLOTH OF GOLD SPREAD BEHIND BRITISH LINE

Fields of Dandelions and Buttercups Recall the Famous Meeting of Two Kings.

By PHILIP GIBBS.

Copyright, 1917, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WAR CORRESPONDENTS' HEADQUARTERS, May 23.—Once in history two fat kings met in a field in France between silken tents and on strips of tapestry laid upon the grass so that the scene of glitter and shimmer was called for every age of schoolboys, the Field of the Cloth of Gold. Out here in France now there is a field of honor stretching more than a hundred miles, held by British soldiers, and that is the true field of the cloth of gold. For everywhere behind the deep belt of cratered land, so barren and blasted that no seed of life is left in the soil, there are miles of ground where the gold grows wonderfully brilliant in the warm sunshine of these days, the gold of densely growing dandelions and of buttercups in great battalions.

If you wish to picture the British Army out here now and the landscape in which the troops are fighting, you must think of them marching along roads sweet scented with lilac and apple blossoms, and over those golden fields to the white edge of the dead land. They are hot under heavy packs, all powdered with dust, so that they wear white masks, like a legion of pierrots, and on their steel helmets the sun shines brazenly. These hot, dusty soldiers, closed about by guns and mule teams and transport columns, surging ceaselessly along the highways to the front, drink in with their eyes the cool, refreshing shadows of the green woods set upon the hillsides, where the sun plays upon the new leaves with the melody of delicate color-music and spreads tapestries of light and shade across the sweeps of grass land, all interwoven with the flowers of France.

The soldiers do not walk blindly through this beauty. It calls to them, these men of Surrey and Kent and Devon, these Shropshire lads and boys of Derbyshire dales, and at night in their camps before turning in to sleep in their tents they watch the glow of the western sun and the fading blue of the sky and listen to the last song of the birds, tired with the joy of the day, and are drugged by the scent of closing flowers and of green wheat growing so tall, so quickly tall behind the battlefields. These tents themselves are like flowers in the darkness when the candle-light gleams through their canvas. At night the scene of war is lighted up by star shells and vivid flashes of light as great shells fall and burst beyond the zone of where British soldiers crouch in holes and burrow into the earth. It is under the blue sky of these days and in this splendor of springtime that the English boys and young Scots go into the fire of hell where quite close to them the birds still sing as I heard a nightingale sing recently amid the crash of gunfire.

Activity on the Belgian Front.

HAVRE, May 23, (via Paris.)—The Belgian War Office issued the following statement today:

> There was artillery activity today between Nieuport and Pervyse, bomb fighting between the ferryman's house and Steenstraete and grenade fighting in the neighborhood of Het Sas.

FOREIGN LEGION WINS NEW PRAISE FOR VALOR

Famous Troops, Made Up of All Nationalities, Honored for Capture of Auberive.

From a Staff Correspondent of The Associated Press.

GRAND HEADQUARTERS OF THE FRENCH ARMIES IN FRANCE, May 23.—"A marvelous regiment, animated by hatred of the enemy and the highest spirit of sacrifice."

These words are used in the official army order in conferring the fifth palm on the flag of the famous Foreign Legion for gallantry in the recent fighting in Champagne. The regiment is unique in the number of times mentioned and decorated.

The staff correspondent of The Associated Press visited the legionaries in their rest camp, where they were recuperating and filling their ranks, and heard personal narratives from officers and men whose conduct is so highly praised. No matter what the men's nationality—and citizens of no fewer than fifty-one nations are represented among the legionaries—after joining they immediately become imbued with the regiment's glorious traditions. They have been always where the fighting was hottest.

When the war started, six battalions, forming two regiments, were sent to the front; now only three battalions remain, fused into one regiment. Among them are still Americans from various States of the Union as well as from all the Republics of Central and South America. There are men from every British colony, from all the countries in Europe, Asia and Africa, and also a number of Frenchmen, who have been attracted to the legion on account of its adventurous career. Many Russians, Belgians, Italians, British and Rumanians have recently been transferred to their own armies, reducing the legion's strength, but Spaniards, Swiss and South Americans are joining.

The legion's task, for the successful achievement of which it was honored today, was the most difficult in the recent French offensive. Its front stretched westward from Auberive, the capture of which was included in the objective aimed at. For five days and nights the legionaries fought continuously, virtually without sleep. They accomplished the task set them, but at the cost of the life of their colonel D—— and many other gaps in their ranks. At the end their commander was Major D——.

Auberive was entered and carried by a Lieutenant with a non-commissioned officer and ten men with unbelievable daring. The non-commissioned officer singlehanded attacked a machine gun emplacement and killed twelve German gunners.

The advance of the battalion operating to the west of Auberive was retarded for some time by the opposition of an unknown series of German intrenchments, formidably armed, in what is known as the gulf. It was impossible to attack frontally across the half mile of open ground, but the legionaries succeeded in outflanking the position and made their way, fighting for every foot, along a communication trench until they had carried the whole position. They threw 50,000 of their own hand grenades in the course of the five days, besides many thousands of German grenades they discovered in the dumps on the enemy territory. When the fighting was over the exhausted legionaries slept as they stood.

BATTLE IN TRENTINO WON BY ITALIANS

CARSO HEAVILY SHELLED

Cannon and French Mortars Keep Up an Intense Bombardment Along the Isonzo Front.

ROME, May 23.—Very heavy fighting between the Austro-Hungarians and Italians took place in the Travignolo Valley, on the Trentino front, continuing until yesterday afternoon, when the Italians succeeded in recapturing all the positions which the Austrians had penetrated. The Italian official statement issued today reporting the operations says:

> Trentino Front—Between Lake Garda and Brenta the enemy artillery was less active yesterday than in the last few days. Enemy attacks were limited to minor patrol encounters. In the Laghi Basin of Posina our raid on the enemy lines northeast of Monte Maio gained about ten prisoners.
> In the Travignolo Valley very severe fighting occurred on the night of Monday. After a violent bombardment which destroyed our positions on the massif of Piccolo Colbricon the enemy launched an attack in force and succeeded in penetrating part of our lines in spite of our stubborn resistance. The arrival of our supports led to violent fighting, which lasted until yesterday afternoon, and resulted in our recapturing the whole of the position.
> The hundreds of dead left on the field, the sixty prisoners, including one officer and three machine guns, and a considerable amount of war material taken by us are evidence of the heavy reverse suffered by the enemy.
> Julian Front—The artillery action was intense. Enemy attempts against our lines north of St. Marco were repulsed by our fire.

VIENNA, May 23, (via London.)—The following official communication was issued today:

> Along the Isonzo yesterday again was calm. Only late in the evening, after heavy trench mortar preparation, did the enemy attack our trenches before the town of Gorizia. He was repulsed with heavy losses.
> Early today Italian guns and trench mortars opened fire on our positions on the Carso Plateau. The artillery battle has increased to great violence.
> In Carinthia and Tyrol at some points there has been increased activity.

BERLIN'S VIEW OF ATTACKS.

Calls French Success North of the Aisne "a Sanguinary Blow."

BERLIN, May 23, (via London.)—The French have suffered a sanguinary blow because of the failure of their attacks on the German lines in France yesterday, says today's Army Headquarters statement, which follows:

> Army of Crown Prince Rupprecht: Near Hulluch and Bullecourt several British advances which had been prepared by strong artillery fire were repulsed.
> Front of the German Crown Prince: On the Aisne and Champagne fronts the fighting activity of the artillery was retained within limited bounds during the morning. In the afternoon, after a sudden increase of the fire from the plateau of Paissy to the Warde, strong French attacks were delivered from La Ville-aux-Bois and were repeated until evening with the greatest persistency. After stubborn hand-to-hand fighting and by strong counterthrusts our Bavarian, Hanoverian, Lower Schleswig, and Posen regiments maintained their positions against the repeated assaults, and drove the enemy back. Bitter hand grenade battles continued in some trench sectors into the night. Our fire inflicted considerable losses on the retreating enemy. Owing to the failure of their attacks, the French have suffered a sanguinary blow.

RIBOT REASSURES FRANCE.

His Speech in Chamber Welcomed as Clearing Political Atmosphere.

PARIS, May 23.—Premier Ribot's speech before the Chamber of Deputies yesterday has cleared the murky political atmosphere and calmed and reassured public opinion. The immediate effect of his speech has been a demonstration of confidence in the Government by the country, such as has been lacking for some time past.

The Premier's statement that the public had a right to know and should know everything that could safely be communicated to it has given widespread satisfaction. His lucid exposition of the foreign situation and of France's peace aims has also been warmly welcomed.

ITALY'S WAR MISSION ARRIVES IN CAPITAL

WILL MEET WILSON TODAY

Prince of Udine in Statement Welcomes Us As Ally—Commission Expected Here.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—The Prince of Udine, cousin of the King of Italy, delivered a message of greeting to the American people on his arrival here today as the head of Italy's war mission.

The visitors passed out through a cheering crowd in the station to automobiles, which went under escort of two cavalry troops past the Capitol, up Pennsylvania Avenue, between the Treasury Department and the White House, and out to the Joseph Leiter house, where the mission will make its headquarters.

The Commissioners tomorrow will call formally on Secretary Lansing and then on Secretary Daniels. Thence they will go to the White House to be presented to President Wilson, who will entertain them at dinner in the evening.

The main purpose of the Italian representatives is a closer understanding between the United States and Italy.

The Prince of Udine's statement to the press issued this afternoon said in part:

"Italy, which for many centuries has been divided and harassed by the oppression of foreign rulers and which has furnished a long list of illustrious defenders of human rights and of the laws which should regulate warfare; Italy, which in the middle of the last century succeeded at last in freeing herself and becoming a united nation, which drew its power from the principle of nationality and independence, has acclaimed with great enthusiasm the generous intervention of the American people, who have joined the Allies to bring about the triumph of the principles upon which alone can be founded steadfastly peace and human progress."

Mayor Mitchel and a committee which he will appoint will go to Washington on Monday to invite the Italian war mission to visit New York. He talked yesterday over the long distance telephone with Counselor Polk of the State Department, who will arrange for the visitors to receive the New York delegation. The Mayor has asked Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler to be Chairman of a Citizens' Committee to arrange for a welcome. Lloyd C. Griscom, former American Ambassador to Italy, will be Chairman of the Executive Committee.

ADOPTS FRANCHISE REFORM

Vote on Second Reading in House of Commons 329 to 40.

LONDON, May 23.—After ten days of debate, which was devoted mostly the question of woman suffrage, the House of Commons tonight passed the second reading of the Franchise reform, or, as it is officially known, "The Representation of the People bill."

The vote was 329 in favor of, as against 40 in opposition to the measure.

SWISS SEIZE TEUTON SPIES.

Also Capture Compromising Papers in a Geneva Hotel.

GENEVA, May 23.—The police have discovered in one of the principal hotels of Geneva a nest of German and Austrian spies. Eight arrests have been made thus far, including the correspondent of the Frankfurter Zeitung.

A number of compromising documents have been seized.

1,000 Houses Burn in Hungarian Town.

AMSTERDAM, May 23.—A Budapest dispatch says the Hungarian town Gyoenyoes has been devastated by fire, 1,000 houses being destroyed and 240 still on fire. Several thousand persons are homeless and seven deaths have been reported. Gyoenyoes is forty-four miles distant from Budapest, and had a population in 1900 of 16,442.

MAYOR OF NOYON GRATEFUL.

Expresses Thanks for "Adoption" of Town by Washington Citizens.

PARIS, May 23.—Senator Noël, Mayor of the Town of Noyon, who is in Paris still suffering from the effect of several months' imprisonment in Germany after having resisted German exactions in his town for more than a year, in a statement to The Associated Press today expressed his thanks over the fact that a group of citizens of Washington, D. C., had formally "adopted" Noyon.

"I never can sufficiently thank the Americans for what is being done for France," said M. Noël. "I visited Washington a few years ago and have a most agreeable recollection of my reception there, and accordingly am all the more touched by this most delicate attention.

"It is a most significant and interesting coincidence that Noyon, one of the most ancient of the French towns and the first commune in France to gain its absolute liberty, is the first French town to be adopted by an American city, and that that city is Washington, which is named after one of the principal authors of the great American Republic."

Senator Noël has written William Graves Sharp, the American Ambassador, a formal letter regarding the movement in Washington to restore the devastated town of Noyon and has requested Senator d'Estournelles de Constant to thank the Washington citizens and the American people in his name.

CATHERINE COUCH NOT SHOT

American Woman in Dresden Surprised at Spy Story.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, May 23, (via London.)—Mrs. Catherine Couch, an American visiting her father in Dresden, was tremendously shocked when she read in yesterday morning's papers that she had been tried and found guilty of espionage and had been shot for the crime somewhere in Germany, as an American report that somehow found its way into German papers would have it.

Mrs. Couch consulted her father, who persuaded her that she was still among the living and took her to the Spanish Consulate in Dresden, which is taking care of the American interests. Here she stated that she had been neither tried nor suspected nor even shot for espionage, and that, on contrary, she was treated very considerately by the German Government and would return to America as soon as her passports were ready. She begged that her husband, James Couch, and their five children at Pauls Valley, Okla., be notified by cable.

SERMON OF SERVICE AT NURSES' FUNERAL

GLORIOUS DAY OF SACRIFICE

Victory a Question of Willingness to Pay the Price in Lives—Bodies Sent to Chicago.

One hundred and fifty persons, nearly all nurses, attended services which were held last night by the American Red Cross in the chapel of the Frank E. Campbell undertaking establishment at Sixty-sixth Street and Broadway for Mrs. Edith Ayers and Miss Helen Burnett Wood, the nurses who were killed on Sunday on the liner Mongolia, when they were struck by fragments of brass from a shell from one of the Mongolia's guns. Each coffin was wrapped in a large American flag.

The Rev. Dr. Nathan A. Seagle of St. Stephen's Church in West Sixty-ninth Street pronounced the ritual funeral service of the Episcopal Church.

"We rarely break in upon this ritual with any words of our own," he said, "but this occasion calls for some. This is a splendid time in which to live, because of its glorious opportunities for service and for sacrifice, even for the sacrifice of life. Every American with red blood in his veins must feel this.

"How often have we heard it said that it is not necessary to live long but to live well. This is one of the sayings that sticks deep down in our nature. Its meaning was never so well understood as it is today, in this glorious time of service, of trial, and of sacrifice.

"We Americans must wake up. We must arouse ourselves to understand that now is the time, not to talk about things but to do them. We are in the war, and it is time for us to find our souls. This is the testing time, which will show how prepared we are to do and die that those great principles for which our forefathers fought may be re-established.

"Things that are worth while are costly. The question of victory is one of our willingness to pay the price in lives. We must wake up and see that the price is paid. It is of no avail to talk about things, to hope that starvation will win the war without our great effort, or that other events will save us from paying the price. The South fought on through two years of starvation. When we make up our minds that we must pay the price, and pay it in lives not in dollars, we will have begun to move toward victory."

There were no relatives of the dead at the funeral, but two school friends, now living in this city, were present—Mrs. J. P. Sauer of 38 West Sixty-eighth Street and Miss M. E. Morse of the Social Service Department of Bellevue Hospital. Both attended the Illinois Training School for Nurses at Chicago, from which Mrs. Ayers and Miss Wood were graduated.

After the ceremony the bodies were sent to Chicago, where services will be held at the Illinois Training School. Later the body of Mrs. Ayers will be sent to her home at Attica, Ohio, and that of Miss Wood to Evanston, Ill. Most of Miss Wood's relatives are in Scotland. Two of her brothers have been killed in the British Army.

Universal Suffrage for Rumania.

JASSY, Rumania, May 12.—Premier Bratiano has announced to the Chamber of Deputies that the Government requests Parliament to insert in the Rumanian constitution the principles of universal suffrage and expropriation in favor of the peasants. The Government is also considering the Jewish question.

TAKING YACHTS FOR WAR.

Government Buying and Fitting Up Coast Patrol Craft.

For a month the International Mercantile Marine Company, acting under instructions from the Navy Department at Washington, has been purchasing yachts and fitting them out at Erie Basin, to be used as patrol boats along the Atlantic Coast. The company issued an appeal yesterday from its offices at 9 Broadway requesting patriotic American yachtsmen to tender their craft to the Government, as several more are needed for the work.

Seagoing yachts, not less than 110 feet long and ready for immediate use, will be promptly paid for through the International Mercantile Marine Company, it was announced, as soon as they are passed and accepted by the Special Board, under the direction of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Assistant Secretary of the Navy.

The steamship company is giving the services of its staff of experts and plant to fit out the yachts, and is charging the Government for the actual expenses only. All the alterations to the vessels, painting, arming, coaling, and provisioning is being done at Erie Basin, which has relieved the navy yard of a great deal of work.

Among the yachts which have already been taken over and fitted out for patrol duty are the Wanderer, Corona, Carola IV., Remlik, Alcedo, Sare, Nekomis I., and Emeline. There is a bill before Congress authorizing the requisitioning for this special sea service all available boats of a suitable size, but before this law becomes effective the Special Board for Patrol Vessels and the International Mercantile Marine Company would be very glad to hear from any yacht owner who cares voluntarily to offer his craft for service against the enemy.

Today you still have time to order one of the last few sets of the "Handy Volume" Issue of the new

printed on genuine India paper

Tomorrow you may still have time or you may be too late!

$1 down

today, as a first payment, will insure you getting one of these very last sets. You pay the balance in convenient monthly payments (as low as $3 for the cloth binding). If your order is received too late, your dollar will be returned to you promptly.

Unless you surely mail your order on or before Saturday, May 26th, it will be useless to send it at all—for by then the last set of the Britannica in the most useful, most usable form in which it has ever been printed will have been ordered and you will NEVER have another chance.

The time for debating the question has gone by!

The time to DECIDE to Do Something About It is HERE!

Our message to you today is ACT! This no time for us to tell you what the Britannica is or the immense value it will be to you in your work, in your home, to yourself and your wife and your children.

NOW those people who have been making up their minds must Decide—and they must Order Quickly, for our stock is dwindling rapidly and we will not have nearly enough sets to fill all the orders that will be sent us.

You have only Two Days More! Two! Tomorrow you will have only one day more!

This is only a possibility! The thing for you to do, if you know the Britannica will be a help and of practical use to you, is to sign the "Reserve" Order form below, attach a dollar bill to it and mail it NOW—TODAY—Just as quickly as you can!

If the last set is sold when your order reaches us, we will return your dollar to you immediately.

If you are not quite sure The Encyclopaedia Britannica contains the knowledge that will be profitable to you and want to make sure before ordering—go today to the store named below. There you can see and examine the entire set.

You can also leave your order, making your first payment of $1 (to be followed by convenient monthly payments for a limited period) and the entire set of 29 volumes will be sent you to use and profit by while you are paying for them.

The Britannica can NEVER be printed in this form again. Because no more India paper can be had. The war makes it impossible to obtain the special kind of flax from Belgium, Ireland or Germany and hemp from Russia to manufacture this beautiful thin and tough paper.

Today—NOW—you have a greater opportunity of being in time to get one of the last sets than you will ever have again. When the last set is sold you will NEVER have another chance to buy, no matter how much you want this work, no matter how much you will be willing to pay for it.

This is final! The END of the sale IS HERE! Order today!!

A WONDERFUL NEW VOLUME

THE publishers of The Encyclopaedia Britannica announce that they have made arrangements for the issue, as soon after the end of the war as possible, of a new volume, containing a full and authoritative history of the war.

The new volume will be written by scholars and experts of the same high character as those who wrote for the Britannica itself, and by many of its own contributors. It will be absolutely impartial, excluding all partisan feeling and prejudice. It will contain

1. A judicial account of the real causes of the war, the progress of the struggle, and the results all over the world; with maps, as necessary, to show changes in boundaries.
2. The lives of the new leaders, whether civil, military or naval, in the belligerent countries.
3. The results of the war outside the sphere of fighting, the progress of surgery, the prevention of contagious disease, the new scientific discoveries, etc.

The new volume will bridge the gap between the days of peace before and after the war. It will be printed and bound to match the Britannica and the publishers guarantee that no matter how difficult and costly the supplementary volume may be from the editorial point of view, the price of it to all who purchase the Britannica during the present sale will not be more than that of a corresponding volume of the Britannica.

ENDS PARLIAMENT SNARL

Declaration of War Is Rendered Possible—Governors Leave Peking Disgruntled.

PEKING, May 23.—President Li Yuan Hung has issued a mandate dismissing Premier Tuan Chi from office and naming Dr. Wu Ting-fang, ex-Minister to the United States, as acting Premier, and empowering him to form a new Cabinet. This action probably will end the deadlock in Parliament and make possible a declaration of war by China against Germany.

The Provincial Military Governors who were attempting to disband Parliament left Peking before the President took action against Tuan Chi Jui, as the President had positively announced that he would disregard their demand for a dissolution of the legislative body. The President declared that Parliament must not be coerced in any way, and announced his intention to conduct the Government in accordance with the provisional constitution at any cost.

The disgruntled Military Governors probably will instigate protests in the provinces against President Li Yuan-hung for his rebuke to the military power, but the President's firm stand is inspiring admiration in unexpected quarters. The indications are that the military leaders, headed by Tuan Chi Jui, lost public sympathy through the demonstrations of the mob the night of May 10, when, after a riotous secret session, in which the House of Representatives refused to pass a resolution declaring war on Germany, the Parliament building was surrounded by a large crowd which demanded war and made threats of violence.

General Wang Shih Chen, chief of the General Staff, has been made commander of the emergency troops guarding the Peking-Tien-tsin Railway, to prevent the disgruntled military leaders from seizing the line.

U. S.

There is a little monogram
We see where'er we go;
It offers us protection
Against a foreign foe.
It stands for light and progress
In every foreign clime,
And its glory and its greatness
Are the themes of many a rhyme.

But few have ever really known
And few would ever guess
What our country means by marking
All her chattels with U. S.;
It may stand for United States,
Or yet for Uncle Sam;
But there's still another meaning
To this simple monogram.

We see it on our bonds and bills,
And on our postal cards;
It decorates our Capitol,
Shadowed by Stripes and Stars,
In all our barracks, posts, and forts
It plays a leading part,
And the jolly sailor loves it
And enshrines it in his heart.

Now have you guessed the message
Which these mystic letters bear?
Or recognized the untold good
They're spreading everywhere?
Echo the joyful tidings,
And let the people know
That the U. S. of our nation means

WE USE SAPOLIO

For skin irritations
I prescribe
Resinol

If you want to experiment, try some of those things you talk about. But if you really want that irritation stopped and your skin healed, get a jar of Resinol Ointment. Doctors have prescribed that ever since you were a small boy, so we know what it will do.

Resinol Ointment is so nearly flesh-colored that it can be used on exposed surfaces without attracting undue attention. Sold by all druggists.

HUNGARY'S CABINET RESIGNS IN A BODY

PREMIER'S PLAN REJECTED

Vienna Insists That His Downfall Does Not Affect the Monarchy's War Policies.

LONDON, Thursday, May 24.—From various points on the Continent come reports of the resignation of Count Tisza, the Hungarian Premier. A Reuter dispatch from Amsterdam gives this semi-official statement, received from Budapest:

"As the Emperor did not give his assent to the Government's franchise proposal, Count Tisza, the Hungarian Premier, tendered the resignation of the entire Cabinet, which the Emperor accepted.

"The Emperor charged Count Tisza with continuing the conduct of current business. No decision has been taken regarding an audience in connection with the formation of a new Cabinet."

Other dispatches preceding were not so positive and one even said the crisis would be averted. Vienna newspapers say that the crisis concerned Hungarian domestic affairs and did not affect Hungary's foreign policy or the war.

Count Tisza's fall has been predicted for weeks. His position is said to have been shaken by his opposition to the views on the Polish situation held in Berlin and Vienna, also by his attitude on questions concerning the economic agreement with Germany and the furnishing of food to Germany and Austria. Hungarian electoral reform, however, was the factor that brought the crisis to a head.

It is expected here that his successor will be Count Johann Zichy or Count Bela Sernyi, former Minister of Agriculture.

A late Vienna dispatch says that as a consequence of the Emperor and Empress going on a visit to the burning Hungarian town of Gyoenyoes, Count Tisza did not proceed to Vienna, but accompanied the royal couple.

The fire in Gyoenyoes destroyed more than 1,200 houses. The damage is estimated at more than 30,000,000 kronen.

The Slav Press Bureau last night issued a statement saying that Tisza's resignation was intended to deceive the Allies into thinking that the Central Powers were desirous of peace. The bureau was recently organized to interpret Austro-Hungarian and Slav news to the American public. The statement went on to say that a Magyar successor would be appointed who would appear to be more favorable to the Allies, but in reality would support Tisza's war policies.

It was also asserted that the two Magyar factions, represented on one side by Tisza and on the other by Andrassy, Karolyi, and Apponyi, were united in their purpose to maintain the Magyar hegemony in Hungary.

TISZA KAISER'S CHAMPION.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Thursday, May 24.—The Morning Post's Hungarian correspondent, writing on the downfall of Premier Tisza, says:

"He was practically the only supporter of German aims and aspirations in the monarchy. He stood up against the whole nation, even the army itself, in order to support the famous Mittel Europa scheme and hand over all military control to Germany, defy all aspirations for democratic reforms, intern and arrest thousands and thousands of intellectuals, priests, and teachers who dared to oppose his views, and conclude a secret agreement with Austria for a term of twenty years without asking Parliament.

"Above all, he stood for Kaiserism, German Kaiserism in the first place and secondly Austrian Kaiserism, for the first enabled him to maintain his position and the second indorsed hs policy. Now that he is no longer in power the German Imperialists have lost their only friend and supporter, one who carried out their orders and who did not hesitate to bring Hungary to a State of almost absolute starvation for the sake of Germany."

WILL WELCOME OUR TROOPS

Cambon Says French Reception Will Outdo Recent Events Here.

PARIS, May 23.—Jules Cambon, General Secretary of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, speaking today of the coming of American troops, said:

"The French people are intensely interested in the coming of the American division to France. Their reception will be equal to, if it does not exceed, that the American public gave M. Viviani and Marshal Joffre. In fact, the arrival of American troops on French soil is regarded by our people as the final stroke which will precede victory."

M. Cambon said the French Government was highly gratified at the reception President Wilson had accorded Captain André Tardieu, French High Commissioner in the United States.

RINTELEN PLEADS AGAIN.

Faces 27 Years in Prison if Found Guilty of New Charges.

Captain Franz von Rintelen, who was sentenced to a term of one year on Monday for conspiring to violate the Sherman Anti-Trust act in trying to block shipments of munitions to the Allies, pleaded not guilty before Federal Judge Martin T. Manton in the Federal District Court yesterday to three other indictments charging crimes which might be punished by sentences aggregating twenty-seven years.

One charges forging the name of Edward V. Gates to a passport. Another indictment charges von Rintelen with committing perjury in obtaining this passport. The third indictment charges that he conspired with Andrew D. Meloy to defraud the Government by obtaining the false passport.

This is not necessarily all that von Rintelen will have to face. His alleged part in the conspiracy to send Huerta into Mexico in 1915 with an expedition to raise a new revolution against Carranza is still under investigation. Assistant United States District Attorney John C. Knox said the German Captain would probably be put to trial on one of the new charges during June.

25 PER CENT. INCREASE IN EARLY POTATOES

Agriculture Department Estimates Crop This Year at 33,516,000 Bushels.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—A 25 per cent. increase in this year's yield of early Irish potatoes was forecast today by the Agriculture Department. On the basis of present crop conditions the department estimates the crop at 33,516,000 bushels, against 26,481,700 last year.

Reports to the department show the early acreage this year will approach 282,000, an increase of 39,000 over last year. The condition of the crop on May 1 was 86 per cent. and the probable yield per acre is put at 119 bushels, against 109 last year.

Virginia, the great early potato producing State, will grow this year about 16,000,000 bushels. New Jersey will grow nearly 4,000,000. California, with a crop of 2,347,000, will nearly treble last year's yield. Florida will produce slightly more than 2,000,000 bushels.

GIANTS WIN FIRST GAME OF SERIES FROM CUBS BY SCORE OF 5 TO 3

GIANTS GIVE WARM RECEPTION TO CUBS

SCHUPP TIGHT IN PINCHES

Ferdie Cleverly Extracts Himself from Perilous Predicaments, Winning Fifth Fray in Row.

The Chicago Cubs, engineered by the game's newest manager, Moose Mitchell, dropped in at the Polo Grounds yesterday and took a 5 to 3 trimming from the Giants. The Cubs are made up mostly of players whom the Giants and Yankees didn't think they wanted. Some of them are exactly the same as they were when they resided here in Manhattan, except the uniforms. It was like old home week in Harlem, and the teams didn't have much warming up practice, because it took up so much time before the game shaking hands.

With Harry Wolter, Jim Vaughn and Rollie Zeider, the former Yankees, and Larry Doyle, Fred Merkle and Olaf Wilson, the ex-Giants, the Cubs are just a remade New York club. Everybody said "Hello" to everybody else, and some added "Howsaboy?" It was just like a lodge meeting. All the way from Chicago came all the owners of the club to see their team trim the Giants. There was Charley Weeghman, who was promoted from the Federal League; Bill Wrigley, and also cheering for the Cubs was that former Chicago citizen, Fighting Jim Gilmore, the Jeff Davis of the late outlaw league.

The only suggestion of the old Cubs around the Chicago camp is Jimmy Archer, who is Captain of the bull-pen where the pitchers earn their salaries when they are not pitching. Mitchell has demonstrated that he is considerable of a manager because he has inspired a lot of players to play who wouldn't play for any one else.

One of their liveliest players is Rollie Zeider, who was bought for the Yanks by Frank Chance when he was manager here. Zeider will be remembered as the one who kept the Yankees' medical staff working nights treating one of the most stubborn bunions that ever grew. The bunion grew so large that it interfered with Zeider's fielding and he had to wait for weeks and weeks until the obstruction subsided.

Welcome for Merkle and Doyle.

Larry Doyle and Fred Merkle got a fine, sincere reception, which shows that baseball fans can be fair if they want to be. Doyle and Merkle did some good campaigning for the Giants in years back and the folks showed yesterday that they remembered it. Years of absence haven't changed Jim Vaughn much. He was knocked out of the box in the second inning just as he used to be when he wore the Yankee regalia. The Cubs showed a lot of pep and aggressiveness, which shows that Manager Mitchell stands in the front row as a refurbisher of baseball antiques.

Ferdie Schupp pitched for the Giants and won his fifth straight game. At times he was inclined to let himself get into trouble, but he pitched his best in the pinches and came through with flying colors. When Ferdie buckles down to business, with runners on the bases, he can do tricks with the ball that require better batsmen than the Cubs to solve.

The rudest jar to Schuppie's pitching was executed by Olaf Wilson, who in the seventh inning knocked the Giants' moundsman off his equilibrium with a tremendous home run smash over among the two-bit bugs in the left field bleachers. There was no one on the sacks at the time to benefit by this unforeseen outburst of hitting by Olaf.

The Chicago air must agree with Wilson. Harry Wolter, who was sent back to the minors by the Yanks a few years ago, showed the crowd that some one's judgment was wrong when he slapped a three-bagger to right in the third inning.

The Cubs began to flirt with Schupp's pitching in the first inning. With one gone, Wolter singled to centre and stole second. Doyle skied to Robertson and Merkle bounced a hit off Zimmerman's shins. Manager Mitchell's strategy was a bit off at this point, for he sent Wolter home, but Fletcher retrieved the rampant ball, and when Wolter got home he found a reception committee consisting of McCarty and the ball waiting for him.

Vaughn Pounded Hard.

There was no hospitality in the greeting which the Giants gave Jim Vaughn. Burns was safe on Hippo Jim's bad toss to first, and Kauff stung a single to left. Robertson's sacrifice sent the runners along a station, and up came Heinie Zimmerman, who spanked a single to right centre, which pushed Burns and Kauff home. Fletcher forced Zim at second, which Zim didn't relish.

Heinie got into an argument with Lord Byron on his way to the bench, and although Heine was bent on talking Byron wasn't. The umpire ordered Zim to the bench to cool off, and, sure enough, Zim went. Pete Kilduff rocked a double to right and sent Fletcher home. Holke's out at first ended the fun for a while.

The Giants continued to pick on Vaughn in the second inning. McCarty got a single through third and Schupp fanned. Burns singled to centre and Kauff walked, filling the corners. Robertson lofted a sacrifice fly to Cy Williams, scoring McCarty. Mitchell then exercised his prerogative and expunged Vaughn for the picture, Hendrix taking his place. Claude stopped the Giants, Zimmerman shooting a fly to Mann in left.

In the third, with one gone, Zeider singled to left and scored on Wolter's triple over Robertson's head. Robbie played the ball poorly in the first place, and fumbled it when it got mixed up in the mud in the second place. Doyle's sacrifice fly scored Wolter. Schupp settled down then and fanned Merkle.

Schupp pitched himself out of a deep excavation in the seventh. Wilson, the first man up, walloped a homer into the bleachers, and Ferdie was a bit unsteady after that. Deal singled to centre and was forced by Hendrix. Zeider got a Texas Leaguer back of first.

Here's where Schupp showed his metal: He fanned Wolter and Doyle. The Cubs didn't worry Schupp after that.

The Giants got another for good measure in their portion of the same inning. McCarty was safe when Rollie Zeider mussed up a grounder, and Herzog was sent in to run for the catcher. Herzog stole second just to show that he has recovered from his recent illness. Burns neatly lambasted a double to right, sending Herzog home. As the Phillies also won yesterday, the Giants are still in second place in spite of their victory.

ALEXANDER HAS GOOD DAY.

Gets Home Run, Two Singles, and a Sacrifice as Phillies Beat Reds.

PHILADELPHIA, May 23.—Alexander's pitching and hitting featured the game which Philadelphia won from Cincinnati today 5 to 1. Alexander held his opponents to two extra base hits, while he made a home run, two singles, and a sacrifice and scored the run which tied the count and the run which put his team in the lead. Bancroft made four hits off Toney and received a pass off Eller in five trips to the plate.

BOSTON BUNCHES HITS.

Champion Red Sox Down St. Louis by 8 to 2 Score.

ST. LOUIS, May 23.—Boston bunched nine of their ten hits in three innings today, and, with the help of four St. Louis errors, won, 8 to 2. Koob was replaced by Sothoron in the fifth, after Boston had gained a five-run lead. St. Louis got one in the fifth on Scott's error, a base on balls, and Sothoron's double. In the ninth, two singles and a balk by Shore gave the locals their other run. Koob got his first hit since 1915.

Wild Throw by Judge Lets In Tally by Which White Sox Win, 2 to 1.

CHICAGO, May 23.—Chicago defeated Washington, 2 to 1, today in the first game of the series. A wild throw by Judge in the sixth inning gave the locals the game. Gandil was on third and Schalk on first. The latter was trapped by Shaw and was being run up and down the path, when the ball slipped out of Judge's hand and went to right field, allowing Gandil to score.

The visitors scored their run on Rice's double, a sacrifice, and a single by Morgan. Chicago tied the count on Leibold's single, a sacrifice, and a double by E. Collins. Cicotte held the visitors to four hits, one of which was a scratch. Shaw pitched a fairly good game, but was unsteady at times.

FORMER CHAMPION RETURNS TO COURT

Miss Moore, Four Times National Tennis Title Holder, Loses in Pelham Tourney.

The opening round of the doubles event of the women's invitation tennis tournament at the Pelham Country Club yesterday signalized the return to tournament play of Miss Elizabeth H. Moore, who stands in relation to the game among women something as William A. Larned does among the men. More often than any other, not excepting the redoubtable May Sutton, Miss Mary Browne or Miss Hazel Hotchkiss, Miss Moore has been crowned with the premier title of the country. Her first championship was won away back in 1896, and three times after that, in 1901, 1903, and 1905, she was the victor in the national championship. Yesterday Miss Moore was paired with Miss Marie Wagner, six times holder of the national indoor championship, and in this combination there would be presumed a wonderful array of strength.

For one round victory perched on the standard of these two veterans, the opening clash against Miss Edith Handy and Mrs. William H. Pouch resulted in a 7—5, 6—4 triumph. The second round, however, brought disastrous results. Mrs. Rawson Wood and Miss Marion Vanderhoef played sterling tennis in vanquishing Miss Moore and Miss Wagner in a brilliantly contested three set encounter, the score of which was 6—8, 9—7, 6—2. This match was the feature of the day and drew the attention of the gallery for every minute of its duration.

Some idea of how fiercely the battle was waged is gained by a knowledge of the fact that in the second set Miss Vanderhoef and Mrs. Wood led their champion rivals at 5—2, only to have Miss Moore and Miss Wagner bring the set to deuce. From then until the close the struggle was waged fiercely, but Mrs. Wood and Miss Vanderhoef, with greater stamina, were able to secure the victory.

Mrs. Wood played remarkably well at the net, always a favorite position with her, and her stop volleys from this position were of great service in bringing eventual success. Miss Vanderhoef was called upon to take the brunt of the struggle in the back court and drove with precision. Some of her "gets" were truly remarkable. The victors did not hold Miss Moore in quite the high esteem that they did Miss Wagner, because of her lack of practice, and a great deal of their play was directed toward her section of the court. The one-time champion handled the situation with great credit, even though she was called upon to bow to defeat. Miss Wagner, too, played well, but between these two there was not such perfect co-ordination of effort as was the case with Mrs. Wood and Miss Vanderhoef.

Another pretty bit of tennis was that furnished by Molla Bjurstedt and Miss Ethel Tyndale. The national champion and her partner were called upon to defeat a formidable pair in Miss Helen Bernhard and Miss Helene Pollak, but this they succeeded in doing by a score of 6—4 in each of the sets. Miss Tyndale was strong in the forecourt, cutting off the drives of her opponents sharply and scoring frequent aces. In the deep court Miss Bjurstedt was confident and certain on her driving and played her shots deep enough to force the opposing pair back of the baseline at times.

Only one singles match was played, this bringing Miss Helen Gilleaudeau as a rival to Miss Helen Bernhard. Miss Gilleaudeau, former Barnard champion, earned the decision in the encounter with surprising ease, Miss Bernhard securing only two games, both of these in the first set.

The summaries:

Singles.—Third Round—Miss Helen Gilleaudeau defeated Miss Helen Bernhard, 6—2, 6—0.

Women's Doubles.—First Round—Mrs. Rawson Wood and Miss Marion Vanderhoef defeated Mrs. David C. Mills and Miss Jacquelin Green, 6—1, 6—1; Miss Marie Wagner and Miss Bessie Moore defeated Miss Edith Handy and Mrs. William H. Pouch, 7—5, 6—4; Miss Margaret Taylor and Mrs. Robert Le Roy defeated Miss Bessie Holden and Miss Margaret Moes, 6—3, 6—2; Miss Emily Scott and Miss M. Coster defeated Miss Caroma Winn and Miss Margaret Grove, 2—6, 6—2, 8—6.

Second Round—Miss Molla Bjurstedt and Miss Ethel Tyndale defeated Miss Helen Bernhard and Miss Helene Pollak, 6—4, 6—4; Mrs. Rawson Wood and Miss Marion Vanderhoef defeated Miss Marie Wagner and Miss Bessie Moore, 6—8, 9—7, 6—2; Miss Margaret Taylor and Mrs. Robert Le Roy defeated Miss Emily Scott and Miss M. Coster, 6—4, 2—6, 6—4.

FOX REACHES TENNIS FINAL.

Defeats Taylor in Hard-Fought Match in Harlem.

One final round bracket in the Harlem Tennis Club open tournament was filled yesterday afternoon when Joseph Fox scored a victory over Harold Taylor with the record, 8—6, 6—4. This was a sharply waged encounter in which greater steadiness and experience were at the command of Fox. This counted at critical moments in the match.

The doubles event of the tournament got under way with more success yesterday, one first round and several second round contests being played. In one of the second round encounters Edgar T. Appleby, of amateur billiard fame, tried his fortunes on the courts with Anton Von Bernuth as his partner. These two succeeded in vanquishing B. Landeau and H. Mandestan in a three-set match at 4—6, 6—1, 6—2.

The summaries:

Doubles, First Round—Benjamin M. Phillips and Alan Behr defeated H. Cassel and C. Isaacs, 7—5, 6—4.

Second round.—Count Salm and J. Mattheys defeated L. Bry and C. Buchner, 6—2, 6—3; J. Fox and B. Letson won from Ingo Hartman and partner by default; Edgar T. Appleby and A. Von Bernuth defeated B. Landeau and H. Mandestan, 4—6, 6—1, 6—2.

LAFAYETTE TRACK MEN WIN.

Lehigh Defeated in Dual Games by Score of 76 to 36.

Special to The New York Times.

SOUTH BETHLEHEM, Penn., May 23.—Lafayette's athletes ran the Lehigh track men off their feet in the annual dual meet today, winning by 76 points to 36. Lafayette won first place in everything but the pole vault, discus, and hammer throw. In the latter two events, Lehigh took all the points. Lafayette took every point in six events.

Bechtel was the star of the meet with three firsts and a second to his credit. Following him came Paulson with two firsts and a second. Scheurer was Lehigh's best point winner with two firsts, while Herrington came next. A surprise was the defeat of Herrington by Paulson in the high jump. There were no records broken during the meet.

MAY REVIVE ATHLETICS.

Graduate Managers of Colleges to Discuss Possibilities Saturday.

PHILADELPHIA, May 23.—A meeting of graduate managers of colleges throughout the country, to discuss the possibilities of the continuation of athletics next Fall, will be held Saturday afternoon at the Hotel Biltmore, New York, it was announced tonight by Major Pickering, Graduate Manager of Athletics at the University of Pennsylvania.

"All colleges," Major Pickering said, "are invited to attend the meeting, regardless of whether they hold membership in the Graduate Managers' Conference, to reach an understanding as to what should be done under present conditions."

The meeting of the managers will precede the gathering of coaches, managers and officials of the central board of football officials on Saturday evening. Permission to allow freshmen to compete on 'Varsity teams next year will be discussed at both meetings.

WOMEN'S RECORDS BROKEN.

New Marks Set in 80-Yard Dash and Hop, Step and Jump at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, May 23.—Two women's athletic records were broken here today by Temple University students at their annual senior-freshman field and track meet.

In winning the 80-yard dash in 0:10 4-5, Miss Ethel Dreyer of the senior class, clipped one-fifth of a second from the former American record, held by Miss L. Schwab of Seattle, Wash. The other new record was established by Miss Bessie Cramer of the freshman class, who had a mark of 20 feet 11 inches in the standing hop, step and jump. The former record, 19 feet 10 inches, was held by Mrs. S. A. Clark, National Park Seminary, Washington, D. C. Miss Dreyer also broke the record in this event, clearing 20 feet 7 inches.

BIG ENTRY FOR ROAD RUN.

Twenty-six Clubs to Compete in Holy Cross Lyceum Event.

Twenty-six clubs in the metropolitan district have entered full teams for the three and one-half mile novice road race which will be conducted under the auspices of the Holy Cross Lyceum on Sunday afternoon. It is expected that 200 harriers will get away from the starting line in front of the club house in West Forty-third Street to battle for the five individual prizes which will be offered.

There will also be a prize given to the first Catholic Athletic League runner to finish, and another to the first Home Defense League harrier to step over the line after the journey. The teams will contest for the Father Ferris Trophy, which will go to the club scoring the lowest number of points. The start and finish will be at the Holy Cross Lyceum, and it is expected to get the field away on their run at 2:30 P. M. Entries for the event close on Saturday.

NO REDUCTION OF PLAYERS.

National League Limit Remains at 22—Commission Meets.

CHICAGO, May 23.—The player limit of twenty-two men will be maintained by the National League, President John K. Tener announced today, in denying reports at a meeting of the National Baseball Commission that the league teams would reduce their playing staffs.

The commission disposed of several minor league cases during its four-hour session, and adjourned until tomorrow. It is generally believed that the commission will suggest a policy for the major league clubs to pursue during the war, but Chairman Herrmann declined tonight to make any statement regarding the questions to be considered.

The claim of the New York Club of the National League against the Toronto International League Club for $1,500 for the sale of Player Cooke was allowed. The Chicago National League Club was awarded $526 from the Atlanta Club of the Southern Association in the case involving Pitcher Seaton.

Decision was reversed in the petition of the Washington Club of the American League against the Los Angeles Club of the Pacific Coast League involving $2,500, the draft price for Pitcher Love, now with the New York Americans.

TO AID ENGINEERS CORPS.

Opera Stars at Yankees' Concert and Ball Game June 10.

Colonel Jacob Ruppert, President of the Yankees, is supervising the arrangements for the benefit patriotic band concert and baseball game to be held at the Polo Grounds on Sunday, June 10. Prince's Columbia Band of 100 pieces has been engaged, and there will be vocal numbers by Metropolitan operatic stars.

Mayor Mitchel, who was invited to serve on the committee and handle the fund, has been forced to decline on account of the press of official business. The Yankee officials announced last night that it had been erroneously stated that the Mayor had given his consent for the Sunday ball game, as such a sanction does not come under his jurisdiction. He has expressed himself in sympathy with the benefit, the proceeds of which will be given to the first Engineering Corps which is sent to France. Major Gen. Black, U. S. A., has also sanctioned the benefit. It is planned to play a championship game between the Yankees and the St. Louis Browns when the band concert is finished.

White Sox Ready to Fight.

CHICAGO, May 23.—Members of the Chicago American League Club who are subject to conscription under the Army bill passed by Congress last week went to the City Clerk's office in a body today for the purpose of registering. Although a majority of the players are not residents of Chicago, they decided to register here under the absentee clause of the Army bill, as the American League schedule will send them on the road on June 5, the day designataed for registration by President Wilson.

Central Golf Tourney Postponed.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 23.—President D. B. Choate of Louisville, announcing the result of a mail vote of the Directors today, said the proposed tournament of the Central Golf Association in Louisville June 11 had been postponed until 1918, "or some date after the war." The membership embraces clubs in Illinois, Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, and Kentucky.

PADDY WHACK WINS AFTER GAME FIGHT

Travels Overland Route, Carrying Top Weight, to Capture Feature at Jamaica.

The 4,000 spectators who attended the races at Jamaica yesterday had reason to shout loudly for Ireland when James Butler started the ultra-Irish gelding, Paddy Whack, in the Newtown Selling Stakes, which was the feature of the card. Paddy Whack came home in front after a journey that would have discouraged many horses with a breeding less purely Irish than that enjoyed by Paddy Whack. Before entering into details it may be remarked that the sire of Paddy Whack is Celt, that he is owned by James Butler, who came from County Wexford and is trained by another Celt, Jimmy McCormack.

It needed all the fighting spirit for which the Green Isle is famous to land Paddy Whack in front of the smart field which opposed him. He not only carried more weight than any of the contenders, but had to travel the overland route before he was able to nod his head in sight of the judges. There was a loyal following for Paddy Whack in the speculation on the race, which was over a distance of six furlongs.

Tommy Davies had the mount on the Butler candidate, but not being favored by the break had to remain in last position as the field rushed through the back stretch. The lightly weighted Polly J. was out in front, setting a fast pace in view of the holding nature of the track, with J. J. Lillis close up to the leader.

It was not until going around the turn that Davies on Paddy Whack began to show any signs that he was in the race, and even then he made up little ground. Entering the home stretch the race appeared to be between Polly J. and J. J. Lillis, with J. M. Zimmer's Kilts as a possible contender. There was no opening on the rail for Paddy Whack, and Davies sought the outside of the track for his determined run with the top weight. While the crowd in the stand was shouting for Polly J. and J. J. Lillis, the favorite began his rush on the extreme outside, and eating up the ground in marvelous style overhauled the leaders at the sixteenth pole and continued with undiminished speed so that he won going away by a length and a half. J. J. Lillis saved the place by a length, but Polly J., the early pacemaker, had to give way to Kilts, which took show money by a nose.

A heavy track and threatening weather caused a rather gloomy opening for the sport, but matters improved somewhat when the talent managed to pick winners in advance to the tune of five successful favorites. Sheriff Mitchell transferred his activities from the club house to the lawn and caused a sensation when he nabbed Leo Mayer just before the second race was run and transferred him to Jamaica on the usual charge of violating the betting laws.

Leo Mayer is such a well-known figure on the race tracks that a number accompanied him in his forced exit from the track, one of those who escorted him being Sam Bernard, well known on the stage. The raid also included the gathering in of Louis Benson, an alleged bookmaker, who hails from Coney Island.

The riding honors of the day fell to R. Troise, a new figure on metropolitan tracks, who landed Emil Herz's Chieftain a victor by a head in the second race and later captured the third race with J. H. McDonald's Owaga, the latter being the only non-favorite to catch the judge's eye. There will be more opposition for the riders today, as Harry Payne Whitney's crack jockey, Frankie Robinson, is on the ground and ready to ride Bonnie Broom in the two-year-old stake race this afternoon.

The Wickliffe Stable's High Pass had an easy road to victory in the first race, winning by five lengths from John Madden's Seamstress, which came with a rush in the stretch to take the place from Prunes. It was Troise's riding that got Chieftain home before Precise in the second race, as Precise appeared to have the foot of the favorite all the way, but faltered in the final strides.

The third race was a gallop for J. S. Dryer's Favour, an overwhelming favorite, which repeated a victory of Tuesday. The alertness of Troise at the post was responsible for the success of Owaga in the fifth race, as he got away well in front of The Dean, which was the popular selection. Owaga never relinquished the lead, and won by a length and a half from Broomvale, which made a great stretch run to take the place from The Dean.

In the final sprint at five furlongs the riding ability of Johnny McTaggart helped the favorite, J. M. Zimmer's Onico, to score over James Butler's Top Coat. In the run along the back stretch Top Coat showed more speed than Onico, but McTaggart's handling in the stretch resulted in Onico gaining the decision by a length.

The summaries:

McMILLAN LEADS GOLFERS.

Wins Paper Trades Tournament Over Arcola Course.

The Paper Trades golf tournament over the Arcola course came to an end yesterday, with C. R. McMillan of Essex County the winner of the competition in the first eight. He defeated R. B. Taft of the North Jersey Golf Club by 2 up.

In the second eight H. C. Harrison of Hackensack defeated F. L. McClellen of Memphis, 3 and 2. Victory in the third eight went to O. F. Osborne of Philadelphia, who defeated O. F. Sherrill of Philadelphia by 3 and 2. I. M. Macarde of Philadelphia won the fourth eight competition from J. Hultz, also of Philadelphia, by 5 and 4, and in the fifth eight George Rigel of Philadelphia was returned the victor over R. B. Boyd by 3 and 2.

H. S. Harrison won the Luke Cup for the two best rounds of the links with a card of 174, 12—162, and the prize for the best selected score at eighteen holes was secured by J. Brower with 73, 2—71. The best thirty-six-hole score was made by A. H. Nevius of Dayton with 193, 16—177.

WINNING BY A FRACTION.

Whitehall Club Golfers Draw Fine Line in Handicaps.

A golf tournament that held a pronounced flavor of the stock market was played over the Scarsdale course yesterday when the Whitehall Club members trudged forth for a one-day competition. The handicaps in the events were of the ⅝ and ¾ variety, so that the scores read like a bit of the ticker tape.

In the best ball event F. J. Barber and Oakley Wood were the victors, their card reading 86, 16⅝—69⅜. Second came C. H. Turner and F. V. Geddens with 86, 15⅝—70⅜. Third prize went to H. Armstrong and T. A. Mosey. Their card was perfectly normal, 85, 12—73, being the record.

H. Armstrong was the winner in the class division of the eighteen-hole Red Cross handicap with a card of 88, 15—73. F. B. Hall was second with 90, 15—75, and F. J. Barber captured third place with 94, 18—76. Oakley Wood won the Class B section of the contest with a card of 100, 30—70. Next to him was P. G. Scott with 100, 28—72, and C. H. Phelps followed with 105, 28—77.

LEWIS WILL BOX O'DOWD.

St. Nicholas Skating Rink to Open as Fight Club Tonight.

The St. Nicholas Ice Skating Rink will be thrown open this evening as a boxing club for the first time in several years. Two ten-round bouts have been arranged, the principal event bringing together Ted Kid Lewis, the English welterweight, and Mike O'Dowd, the aggressive St. Paul boxer. In the other bout Augie Ratner, former amateur champion, is scheduled to box Zulu Kid, the sturdy Brooklyn middleweight, but whether this contest will materialize is a question. Jack Farrell, for the Harlem S. C., where Ratner is scheduled to box tomorrow night, announced last night that a protest had been entered with the Boxing Commission against Ratner's appearance this evening, the officials of the Harlem S. C. claiming a prior contract. This matter, it is expected, will be threshed out early today.

At the Clermont S. C. of Brooklyn Gunboat Smith, the veteran California heavyweight, and Jim Flynn, the Pueblo boxer, will be opponents in the principal ten-round bout. The Californian, although a veteran of the ring sport, has shown superb form in his most recent bouts and is regarded as capable of giving many of the present-day crop of heavyweights an interesting struggle for ten rounds. In Flynn he will be facing one of the sturdiest boxers of the ring and one capable of landing effectively with either hand.

Clipped from yesterday's Sun

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., May 22.—Rainy weather interfered with intensive training at the Student Officers Camp here today. A cold Scotch mist, which began blowing across the parade this morning, developed into a serious driving storm late in the afternoon, making outdoor work impossible.

Too bad "Scotch Mist" overcoats don't come in olive drab! Though soldiers could hardly wear these handsome Scotch mixtures — they're too bright and cheery.

WOMEN GOLFERS IN TEAM MATCHES

Dunwoodie Players Defeat Century, While Siwanoy and Hudson Clubs Tie.

Three contests were played yesterday in the Westchester division of the women's metropolitan golf team matches. The representatives of Dunwoodie, in a match over the home links, succeeded in vanquishing the visitors from the Century Golf Club by a score of 6—5. For the victors Mrs. Williams and Miss Guilford scored all of the points.

At the Siwanoy links the score was the result between the women golfers of the home club and those from the Hudson River Golf Club, each team scoring four points.

New Golf Course Opens Saturday.

When the new eighteen-hole golf course of the Marine and Field Club is opened on Saturday there will be a number of prominent players present to test out the links. Two of the best known who will play over the course are Jerome D. Travers and Oswald Kirby. These two are scheduled to start out on their tour about 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The course, will, however, be formally opened in the morning at 10 o'clock, with appropriate ceremonies. The Chairman of the Greens Committee, William H. Green, will tee up the first ball.

RUSH WAR HOSPITAL IN THREE WEEKS

New Columbia Group to be Studied by American Medical Association Members.

PARTLY READY BY JUNE 4

Homoeopathic College Hastens Graduation of Men About to Sail for France.

The 10,000 physicians and surgeons who will attend the annual meeting of the American Medical Association in New York beginning June 4 will see in the Columbia University War Hospital an object lesson of what may be accomplished in a hurry if the war brings need in this country for greatly increased hospital facilities. It was announced after a special meeting of officers of Columbia and of the Medical Association at the College of Physicians and Surgeons yesterday that the Columbia Hospital would be sufficiently completed by June 4 to permit an explanation of its construction and working to the visiting physicians in order that they might learn to build such structures at other places when needed. Work on the Hospital, at Gunhill Road and 211th Street, began ten days ago. It is made up of portable buildings, and can be taken down and transported to France for erection there.

"We want to show the physicians from other parts of the country what may be done in the way of erecting portable war hospitals," said Dr. Alexander Lambert, who is to be the hospital's chief physician, last night. "The administration buildings, the operating room, some of the wards, and the kitchen will be ready for partial operation by the time the association's meeting opens. Such hospitals can be put up anywhere, and quickly. The next could be built more quickly than Columbia's because of the experience we have gained."

The hospital will cost $250,000. Dr. Alexander Lambert is in charge of subscriptions. Dr. Adrian Lambert will be the chief surgeon. After Columbia is through with the hospital, it is to be turned over to the American Red Cross.

Headquarters for the Medical Association will be at the Hotel Astor. Sessions will be held at the Biltmore, the Vanderbilt, the Waldorf-Astoria, the McAlpin, the Academy of Medicine, and the Engineers' Club.

At the fifty-seventh annual commencement of the New York Homoeopathic Medical College and Flower Hospital, held last night in the Engineering Societies Building, 25 West Thirty-ninth Street, Dean Royal S. Copeland announced that of the graduating class of thirty-eight, twenty-two had joined medical service units that would soon leave for France. Some of the twenty-two enlisted in the Medical Officers' Reserve Corps, some in the Flower Hospital Unit, and some in the New York Hospital Unit. The commencement was moved forward three weeks in order to permit the graduates to get into war service earlier. It was announced that the school would run during the Summer, so that the junior class might be graduated in January instead of next June.

These are the graduates who are going to France: Maurice A. Barnard of Pittsford, N. Y.; Archibald K. Benedict, Sherburne, N. Y.; Frank A. Bien, Newark; James Raymond Boyd, Penn Yan, N. Y.; F. A. Cummins, Pomona, Cal.; Aloysius A. Daly, New York City; R. Spencer Hamilton, Brooklyn; Walther T. F. Heincke, New York City; Paul Jenkins, Binghamton; Harold C. Lyman, Utica; John W. Pangburn, Rensselaer, N. Y.; Rodney W. Rowell, Stamford, Conn.; John F. Schafmeister, Ossining, N. Y.; J. Louis Sengstack, Tivoli, N. Y.; Harold E. Shear, Mattituck, N. Y.; Joseph O. Smigel, Long Branch, N. J.; William J. Snyder, New York City; Roscoe W. Teahen, Mechanicsville, N. Y.; Leo J. Ward, Gloversville; Frank F. Williams, Jr., Canton, N. Y.; Earl Leroy Wood, Newark, and Frank H. C. Zornow, Pittsford, N. Y.

Melbert C. Cary, President of the Board of Trustees, conferred the degrees and Dr. E. Guernsey Rankin, President of the Medical Board, presented the hospital certificates. Dr. Copeland awarded the first Faculty prize to Adolph S. Kramer of Brooklyn and the second Faculty prize to Fernando Aguilar of New York City. The address to the graduating class was made by Dr. Christian F. Reisner.

TO HONOR AMBULANCE MEN.

Luncheon and Reception for Ohio College Section Going to France.

Twenty-four young men who will constitute the Marietta College and Miami University section of the American Ambulance Corps in France arrived in New York from Marietta, Ohio, yesterday. They will leave shortly for France.

The party was headed by Beman G. Dawes, Jr., and includes Charles Phillip Dudley, F. R. McIntyre, Paul W. Lindsley, Warwick T. Wilder, Kramer C. Tabler, Walter Wyckoff, D. J. Parr, B. H. Putnam, Dudley Nye, Lee Dana Ikard, C. W. Baer, V. F. Crawford, T. C. Manton, Jr., John F. Frazer, N. W. Ansdall, M. O. Cook, Paul C. Westfall, W. M. Dawes, H. E. Sibley, J. S. Bailey, C. R. Pigott, R. M. De Armon, and E. W. MacTaggard.

B. H. Putnam, a member of the section, is a lineal descendant of General Israel Putnam of Revolutionary fame. He was 21 years old yesterday, and is sixth in direct descent from "Old Put." In view of the friendship which existed between his ancestor and Lafayette, the young man felt doubly proud yesterday that he and his college mates could do something to help France in her need.

The students will be entertained at luncheon at the Waldorf this noon by the alumni of Miami University, and this evening they will be guests at a reception at the Waldorf by the Ohio Society of New York.

When they leave the students will take with them twenty ambulances for service in France.

SAILORS FIGHT AT RECTOR'S.

Stand Off Forty Waiters in a Row Over No Drinks.

There were more than a hundred men and women in the main dining room and 150 couples were dancing in the ballroom last night at Rector's restaurant, Broadway and Forty-eighth Street, when two United States sailors and a civilian friend in evening clothes started a fight because, they declared, the management refused to serve them with drinks.

The men were arrested and locked up in the West Forty-seventh Street Police Station on charges of disorderly conduct. They described themselves as Arthur H. Gormley, Jr., 30 years old, a clerk, of 885 Adams Street, Boston, Mass., staying at Hotel Knickerbocker; Albert Brinkhouse, 19, of Boston, and Charles J. Neal, 20, both sailors.

Gormley, earlier in the afternoon, had met Brinkhouse and invited him and his friend Neal to join him for the evening. The dining room of Rector's was crowded as they entered. George Rector instructed Albert Dasburg, manager of the dining room, not to serve Brinkhouse and Neal, they said.

Neal, according to Dasburg, then struck him in the face, and women shrieked and tables were overturned. The orchestra fled. For ten minutes the two sailors stood off from thirty to forty waiters, bellboys, and other help.

Brinkhouse then ascended the gilded stairway to where dancing was in full swing and demanded drinks from Joseph Dolan, manager of the ballroom. They were refused, and, according to Dolan, who exhibited a badly battered nose and a black eye, Neal struck him. Finally reserves from the West Forty-seventh Street Station arrested the disturbers.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

John Philip Sousa, who was the first bandmaster of the United States Marine Band at Washington, D. C., has accepted a commission to organize and train a band for the Government service at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station at Chicago. Mr. Sousa will be here next Sunday night to participate in the benefit entertainment at the Hippodrome.

Janet Dunbar, who was last seen here in "The Wanderer," has been engaged by Oliver Morosco for a limited engagement as leading woman with his stock company in Los Angeles.

Armand Kalisz and Amelia Stone have been engaged for parts in "A Full Honeymoon," the musical version of Avery Hopwood's farce "Sadie Love." The two are well known to vaudeville patrons.

Charles Purcell, Charles Judels, and Charles McNaughton have been engaged for the cast that will appear in the Straus operetta, "The Beautiful Unknown," when it is presented here early next month.

The demand for seats for the current bill by the Neighborhood Players at the Neighborhood Playhouse has been sufficient to warrant two additional performances. These will be given Saturday and Sunday evenings, June 2 and 3. The bill consists of Susan Glaspell's "The People," Quintero's "A Sunny Morning," and Lord Dunsany's "A Night at an Inn."

Lester Lonergan is presenting a three-act drama, entitled "The Torches," by Henri Bataille, at the Strand Theatre, New Bedford, this week. A special performance of the play will be given at the Globe next Thursday.

The dates chosen for the belated performances of the Lambs' Gambol are Sunday night, June 17, and the following afternoon. Morris Gest has donated the use of the Manhattan Opera House for the show.

JOFFRE AND VIVIANI ARRIVE IN FRANCE

First Intimation That They Had Left Is Announcement of Their Landing at Brest.

SAILED FROM HERE MAY 15

State Department Thanks the Newspapers for Co-operation in Protecting the Commissioners.

PARIS, May 23.—Marshal Joffre and ex-Premier Viviani arrived at Brest at midnight on their return from the United States and started immediately for this city.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Vice Premier Viviani, Marshal Joffre, and the French mission sailed from New York on Tuesday, May 15, unknown except to a few officials and many American newspapers, which loyally kept the secret so that the distinguished guests of the nation might not be unnecessarily endangered by German submarines. The party slipped away on the same steamer which brought them over, convoyed by a French warship.

So well was the secret kept by the volunteer censorship under which American newspapers are co-operating with the Government that the French Commissioners generally were supposed to be still in Washington, and up to yesterday invitations to them to visit various parts of the country were received in great number. In connection with the part played by the newspapers, the State Department tonight issued this statement:

"The Department of State desires to express its sincere appreciation to newspaper correspondents and to editors, who by their co-operation in not publishing details of movements made it possible for the French mission not only to travel in this country with entire safety, but also to depart without any intimation being given that might have made their journey unsafe."

The departure of the Frenchmen was attended by as much secrecy as the Government could throw around it.

On May 14 the mission returned to Washington on special trains from its tour of cities in which the enthusiasm and acclaim shown by the American people had been most touching to them. It was presumed they were returning to take up their conferences on the conduct of the war, but they really came to make farewell visits to President Wilson and other officials. Their train was held in waiting, and late that afternoon, in accordance with carefully laid plans, the mission sped away again and reached New York before midnight.

Tugs were ready, and the Frenchmen were taken to the liner waiting in midstream. The ship sailed out through the harbor guards early Tuesday morning, May 15, and so well had the plans been laid that it was supposed in New York that the liner and her convoy were sailing for Hampton Roads to take on the French party at the same place where they landed on coming to the United States.

FILM STAR SUES SELZNICK.

Special to The New York Times.

DETROIT, Mich., May 23.—Clara Kimball Young, film star, will begin suit Thursday in the Supreme Court of New York to have her five-year contract with Lewis J. Selznick annulled on the ground that the movie promoter fraudulently took advantage of her business inexperience and made representations which he has not lived up to.

Robert M. Bronson of Detroit, her attorney, had a final conference with Mrs. Young here today. Lewis and Kelsey of New York will be associated with Mr. Bronson.

Through the manipulation of stock of the Clara Kimball Young Company and the Lewis J. Selznick Enterprises, Inc., Mrs. Young alleges Selznick has obtained the bulk of more than half a million dollars made in the exploitation of the four pictures in which she has already appeared. She claims to have received only $1,000 a week and that no dividends have been paid on her stock in the Clara Kimball Young Company.

For the exhibition of the four pictures "The Common Law," "The Foolish Virgin," "The Price She Paid," and "The Easiest Way" from Oct. 15 to Dec. 31, 1916, it is alleged that $200,648 was taken as total receipts. The Lewis J. Selznick Enterprises, Inc., which has the rights of releasing the pictures, and for which privilege Mrs. Young says she has received nothing, is alleged to have made $800,000. "The Common Law," "The Foolish Virgin," and "The Price She Paid" are declared to have netted $600,000 during the first six months of exhibition.

Dillingham to Produce 'General Post'

Charles Dillingham acquired by cable yesterday the American production rights to "General Post," a war drama, by Harold Terry, now playing at the Haymarket, London, with a cast that includes Norman McKinnel, George Tully, and Madge Titheradge. Mr. Dillingham will present the play at the Globe early in September with a cast of stars.

1,800 VOICES IN 'CREATION.'

Haydn's Work at the Hippodrome by Community Choruses.

The program for the National Conference on Community Music to be held here Thursday and Friday of next week has been completed. The principal public event will take place at the Hippodrome on Friday night, when the combined community choruses of this city and of the New Jersey Oranges, numbering 1,800 voices, will give a program under the direction of Harry Barnhart, their conductor. Haydn's "Creation" will form the first part of the program, and the second half will be made up of American and miscellaneous songs. The soloists will be Florence Hinkle, Mrs. Harriet Foster, Daniel Beddoe and Frederick Gunther.

On Thursday a luncheon will be given at the Hotel Astor, at which Mrs. Kate Douglas Wiggin will preside. Among the speakers at the conferences will be Arthur Farwell, John C. Freund, Peter W. Dykema, Mrs. Edward MacDowell, Arthur Nevin and Claude Bragdon.

STARS FOR SYLVAN THEATRE

Skinner, Sothern, Marlowe in Cast of Pageant in Washington.

The date for the opening of the National Sylvan Theatre, an open air amphitheatre on Government land near the Washington Monument in Washington, D. C., described in last Sunday's TIMES, has been set for Friday, June 1. The United States Marine Band will furnish the musical portion of the program.

A pageant, entitled "The Drama Triumphant," written by Mrs. Christian Hemmick, who conceived the idea of the theatre, will be presented, and among the artists announced to take part in it are Otis Skinner, E. H. Sothern, Julia Marlowe, Viola Allen, James K. Hackett, Robert Mantell, R. I. McLean, Odette Tyler, Sophie Breslau, Izetta Jewell, Louis Thompson, Katherine Lee, and Paul Swan.

Thirty women prominent in social circles in the capital city will appear in minor rôles.

In the introduction to the book of instruction for Pullman employes occurs the phrase: "The most important feature to be observed at all times is to satisfy and please passengers," and again "the reputation of the service depends as much upon the efficiency of employes as upon the facilities provided by the Company for the comfort of its patrons."

Such personal service cannot be instantly developed; it can be achieved only through years of experience and the close personal study of the wide range of requirements of twenty-six million passengers.

To retain in the Pullman service experienced car employes of high personal qualifications, pensions are provided for the years that follow their retirement from active service, provision afforded for sick relief assistance and increases in pay are given at regular intervals with respect to the number of years of continuous and satisfactory employment.

A further inducement in which civility and courtesy are counted of great importance, is the award of an extra month's pay each year for an unblemished record. As a large percentage of Pullman conductors and porters are qualified by many years of experience to render passengers the highest type of personal service.

NEW YORK, THURSDAY, MAY 24, 1917.

ITALY.

It is of good augury that the Italian War Mission arrived in Washington yesterday. On May 23, 1915, the Italian Government informed Baron BURIAN, the Austro-Hungarian Foreign Minister, that Italy would regard herself as at war the next day; and the first blood in the war between the two nations was shed on May 24. Memorable and splendid were those days and nights of popular emotion in May! At last the great net of German intrigue was torn apart by an angry democracy. From the Villa Malta on the Pincian Hill Prince VON BUELOW, the sometime Chancellor, cleverest of German diplomatists and men of the world, married to a patrician Italian woman, familiar with the Italian language and Italian politics, German Special Ambassador since the preceding December, had brought to bear all the arts of persuasion, intimidation, corruption.

The great Roman families, the plutocrats, the industrialists, the Vatican and the "blacks," every class was wheedled; and every class had seemed content with neutrality. Socialists and the bourgeoisie, the army to a considerable extent, the docile, obedient politicians of the Italian Chamber, experts in the gospel of the spoils and machine politics, practiced to perfection for years by the great boss, in or out of office, GIOVANNI GIOLITTI; finance, a host of intellectuals had sworn by Germany. BISMARCK had driven Italy into the Triple Alliance, sowed hatred between her and France, by encouraging the latter to take Tunis, "an "Italian colony guarded by French "soldiers," as some Italian statesman has called it, just as Italy was reaching for it. BISMARCK, too, had played the Vatican against the Quirinal. Italy had nowhere else to go. If Austria was her old foe and oppressor, to Prussia she owed the recovery of Venetia, to the outbreak of the Franco-Prussian war, Rome.

Germany had "penetrated" the peninsula. The country was prosperous, but the Banca Commerciale, a German institution with an Italian name, had come in twenty years largely to control industry, finance, business. It had money and jobs, a manifold clientage, retainers of all sorts, a powerful press, strong, numerous friends in city and national government. It was the boss behind the boss. It was the director and intimate of GIOLITTI.

Let us remember these things. Let us remember the high generous passion that swept all the Germanophile obstructions away. Belgium and the Lusitania, Ypres and Rheims had stirred the multitudes, though the sleek parliamentarians did not know it. There had been riots in the cities in the early Spring, demonstrations at the embassies of the Allies. Giolittists had been attacked in the streets. The King had shown his wish, as far as he could. On May 5, 1860, GARIBALDI and The Thousand left Quarto, near Genoa, on that strange, romantic expedition to free Sicily. There was to be a celebration on May 5, 1915. The King, King "by the grace of GOD and the will of the people," wrote of GARIBALDI's setting forth "with "an immortal daring toward an im-"mortal goal."

How D'ANNUNZIO, no longer an Apuleian or a Petronian novelist, but a patriot-poet, wearing the laurel of CARDUCCI, spoke nobly for "Greater Italy" at Genoa and Rome, spoke in the Forum to multitudes, denouncing GIOLITTI as a criminal and a traitor, denouncing "the lackeys of the Villa Malta"; how in all the cities there were great popular pro-Ally demonstrations; how GIOLITTI's parliamentary majority melted away, the Salandra-Sonnino Ministry was sustained and war was voted by both chambers, only a few Socialists and bitter clericals opposing; how the Romans, 200,000 strong, a Colonna, Syndic of Rome, at the head, marched in torchlight procession to the Quirinal; how GIOLITTI fled to Piedmont—if we have forgotten these things, it is right now to recall them.

It is right to recall that in the Spring of 1915 every omen pointed to German victory. Since the Marne and the Aisne the British and French had done nothing. The Russian armies had begun their long retreat with incredible loss and slaughter. A Teutonic movement on Kieff or Odessa was looked for by many. Separate peace offers to Russia by Austria and Germany were reported to the Italian Foreign Office. In dark days, to be followed by dark days, the Italian democracy came into the war for democracy. And after Montenegro and Serbia fell, after the Gallipoli fiasco, while the ferocious German assault was thundering against Verdun and Russia was rebuilding her shattered military machine, what would have happened if Austria could have thrown her whole strength on the eastern front?

For 400 to 450 miles, from the rock of the Carso, past the Carnia and the strange monstrous red-stained Dolomites, past the Trentino to the Tonale Pass and Stelvio, the eternal snows of the Ortler and Adamello, everywhere Austria is ramparted by ranges, everywhere Italy has to fight uphill. Wonderfully, with surpassing skill and courage, have her troops under her great Chief of Staff, CADORNA, fought their difficult fight.

The Italian War Mission is headed by a member of the House of Savoy. One of its members is a King of Science. We salute in them and that mission the gifted, strong, and generous democratic nation whose name is dear to the civilized world.

THE CENSORSHIP.

> I have every confidence that the great majority of the newspapers of the country will observe a patriotic reticence about everything whose publication could be of injury, but in every country there are some persons in a position to do mischief in this field who cannot be relied upon and whose interests or desires will lead to actions on their part highly dangerous to the nation in the midst of war. I want to say again that it seems to me imperative that powers of this sort should be granted.—From President WILSON's letter to Chairman WEBB.

Why apply compulsion when voluntary service, spontaneously offered, is loyally performed? The newspapers of the country are giving most patriotic and effective support to the Administration in its war measures. They are laboring with unflagging zeal to persuade the people to send in their subscriptions to the Liberty Loan. They are doing everything in their power to aid the recruiting officers in filling the ranks of the regular army and National Guard. They appeal to the people every day to support the Government, to help the Government by every means in their power. And voluntarily, faithfully heeding every request made, they refrain from publishing news which, in the opinion of the departments, might be prejudicial to the good of the service.

The President says that "there are "some persons in a position to do mis-"chief in this field who cannot be re-"lied upon" to refrain from actions "highly dangerous to the nation in the midst of war." When these untrustworthy persons offend, punish them. There is law enough for that. But what perverse and cankered adviser has put into the mind of the President the idea that it would be a wise policy to put the stigma of disloyalty upon all the thousands of newspapers in the country that are faithfully aiding him and the Government all the time? Does the Administration really feel that this Prussian edict would be a proper return for the services the newspapers have rendered to the authorities in Washington?

EDWARD CARY.

The life of a journalist has few annals. A date or two, the nature of his work, its quality, some note of any personal relation he may have sustained to public affairs—that is the meagre total. All the rest, the real achievement, is associated in the public thought with the newspaper, not with the man. Yet in the life of EDWARD CARY there was a fullness of meaning and of service that faithfully set down would carry the record to an amplitude surpassing the biography of many a statesman commonly accounted great and influential.

In his forty-six years of service as an editorial writer upon the staff of THE TIMES Mr. CARY was every day and every hour serving his fellowmen, his city, the State, and the country. There can be no measure of the influences that shape and guide public opinion. Argument, exposition, and appeal are "sightless couriers of the air" that first really come into being in the minds where they find lodgment. Mr. CARY's life work was upon and through public opinion. It was in that field, as writer and publicist, in the shade of anonymity, that he put upon the thought and action of his time the stamp of his straightforward reasoning, his right judgments, and his wise counsel. He came to this newspaper toward the close of the vexed and wrangling period of reconstruction. In his writing at that time he combated the policies of heartless, vindictive Northern radicalism toward the South and counseled procedures which LINCOLN would have adopted, so far as they might be determined by one who had profoundly studied the life work of LINCOLN. For full twenty-five years, the final quarter of the nineteenth century, Mr. CARY fought the delusion of free silver coinage and the double standard. He had full mastery of the facts and the teachings of experience, and of the unchanging principles, and in that long controversy he came as near to putting heat and passion into his work as was possible to his calm and gentle nature; for while he was patient with ignorance, he hated selfish false pretense.

During all the years of his service with THE TIMES Mr. CARY wrote with great and sustained power against the tariff abuses perpetrated in the name of protection. In theory a convinced free trader, he conceded, of course, the fiscal necessity of revenue from imports, and in the Underwood tariff he saw an approach to what he had fought for. Again he enjoyed a triumph as nearly personal as a newspaper writer may hope to achieve in the adoption of the merit system of appointments to the civil service. There he wrought not with the pen alone, but through his labors with CURTIS and EATON and SCHURZ in securing legislation. But no newspaper advocate of the cause ever had its principles more at heart and none ever defended them with fuller sincerity of conviction or greater efficiency. Upon all political questions of the day, upon finance, upon foreign affairs, and upon questions relating to education, he wrote with a diligent student's knowledge and with a judgment ripened by lifelong meditation upon the problems that arise in the stir and strife of the social organization.

Mr. CARY was one of the least worldly of men, yet his well-nigh unfailing sense of what was wise, of what the newspapers ought to advocate because it was best, was equaled only by his altogether rare judgment of what was right and just. His ethical standards were so fine that it was not easy for him to accept compromise even when compromise involved no abandonment of principle. He professed no skill in drawing the line between the clearly right and the manifestly expedient.

It hardly need be said that daily association with a man of his noble character knit ties of endearment of which it is hard to speak. To the staff of THE TIMES Mr. CARY was a man respected, admired, trusted, but above all loved. He had a wonderful quality of gentleness, what we call the sunny disposition, a thoughtful consideration for others, a readiness of friendly counsel, of the stimulating, encouraging word, and of real interest, where interest was a gift of generosity, that are not always found with strong natures and firm convictions. It was in truth a noble character. Mr. CARY was a noble man, of the noblest, and those who toiled with him, those everywhere who knew him and prized his friendship, will hold his memory among their treasured possessions.

FARM CROPS IN NEW YORK.

The first comprehensive report about what the farmers of a State have done to meet the demand for a larger output of foodstuffs is one made by the New York Food Supply Commission, showing notable increases of planted acreage for all the products, one excepted. The land area used for hay has been reduced by 110,000 acres, or about 8 per cent., but this was done to make room for vegetables and cereals. The addition for potatoes is 77,000 acres, or 25 per cent., which probably will increase the harvested supply by more than 7,000,000 bushels. This year's cornfields exceed those of 1916 by 219,000 acres, or 31 per cent. The bean acreage has risen 42 per cent., from 194,053 to 275,790. Other increases are as follows: Oats, 13 per cent.; buckwheat, 16; wheat, (New York has 420,000 acres,) 17; barley, 20; rye, 5; cabbage, 77; miscellaneous, 27. If a more favorable and satisfactory report can be shown by any other State, all who realize the importance of such agricultural gains will be glad to see it.

Farmers in New York have been encouraged and assisted in various ways. To meet the abnormal expenses of these times they have been enabled to borrow from the Patriotic Farm Loan Fund. Railroad companies have undertaken to provide seed at cost, have released employes for work in the fields, and have promoted the cultivation of idle land along their lines. Manufacturers have given aid for the solution of the labor problem. Committees in forty cities are working on suburban acres which had not been used. In one county a committee has guaranteed to the farmer a minimum price. Throughout the State there has been much well-directed effort to enlarge the food supply. We are now beginning to see the fruit of it in this additional acreage, with its promise of an unprecedented harvest.

ADVICE FROM THE TARIFF COMMISSION.

It is now known that the Tariff Commission's recommendation that the proposed new tax on all imported raw materials now in the free list should be made applicable from the date when the bill was reported was part of a report sent to the Ways and Means Committee at the request of the committee's Chairman. In the course of a statement about its work and plans the commission says that its response to this request was "a report upon interim legislation," and adds the following:

> If the commission's suggestions are adopted, a large amount of revenue will be saved. Heretofore when increases in rates under revenue acts were anticipated, importers have rushed their products into the channels of trade in advance of the final passage of the acts, with a consequent loss of revenue to the Government, and yet with no corresponding benefits to the consumers who finally purchased the articles at prices determined by the increased duties. The report shows the need of interim legislation to provide that articles finally subjected to duties shall be assessed from the date of the report of the bill from the Ways and Means Committee.

It is reasonable to assume that in this report the commission expressed its opinion concerning the Tax bill's tariff provisions, regarded by the committee's Chairman as "the most un-"scientific and most inequitable ever "written in the books." The official statement says nothing about that, but it does say that orders for the printing of the report have been given. This printing should not be delayed. Manufacturers and consumers affected by the proposed new duties on raw materials know that the commission would have the collection of these begin at once. If the commission told the committee that they were unscientific and unjust, harmful to business interests, and forbidden by the rules of sound economic practice, this also should be known. We cannot think that these taxes, as first proposed affecting everything in the free list, had the commission's approval. It was the new organization's first opportunity, and a most inviting one. The commission's ability and fitness may be measured by its advice in this case or its failure to offer any. The report should be promptly given to the public.

THE LOAN SUBSCRIPTIONS.

The Treasury apportions the Liberty Loan according to bank resources as though depositors were expected to take it. That is one good way to solve the problem in a tentative way. Another good way would be to apportion the loan among the 37,550,000 persons engaged in gainful occupations in 1910. Probably there are enough more now to make the number about equal to the number of bank depositors. The two bodies are not identical. The Treasury apportions the loan among bank depositors at the same time that Wall Street is doing its best to stimulate the taking of the loan by those who are not depositors.

The Treasury comes near confession that it is a rich man's loan. Wall Street is doing its best to make it a poor man's loan, and is doing so in ways which the Treasury has not employed. It was left to Wall Street to make the Treasury's plan of partial payments through a short period operative through a period indefinitely long, and in a manner acceptable to the men and women who are the first care of those whose profits depend upon knowledge of the psychology of ultimate investors. The Treasury's installment plan is excellent on the bank depositors' plan of allotting the loan. It fails to meet the needs of wage earners in two respects. The Treasury period is too short and the unit is too large.

Accordingly, Wall Street has invented the participation certificate. It has no period at all, and is procurable in $10 units. When $10 is paid the certificate is passed across the counter. Even the smallest financiers understand the attractions of having the use of what you pay for. The installment system has made that plain to all. The participation certificates can be accumulated in times and ways to suit every convenience, and then a bond will be given in exchange. The loan will be popularized thus better than in the Treasury's large scale manner of the preliminary purchase of Treasury certificates, or delivery of the bonds after compliance with its installment method.

It is clear that the Treasury's method disturbs bank deposits more than the Wall Street method. The disturbance of bank deposits is related to the disturbance of investments. To the extent that the loan can be floated with the help of money which never has been deposited in banks, conditions in the money market will be stabilized, and the loan will be floated so that it will stay sold, and will not be depressed by the sale of weakly held subscriptions. That is but one of Wall Street's ways to supplement the Treasury's efforts. Altogether, there is daily less excuse for those seeking to escape from the dilemma put up to them by the Liberty Loan Committee—Enlist or invest.

The American Newspaper Publishers Association has voted unanimously against press censorship. Does The World consider itself to be the only member of this body that is not a viper? If it does, why did it vote exactly as all the vipers did, against the enactment of any censorship law?

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Relation of Athletics to Soldiering. By giving public expression to the wish that there should be no abandonment of athletic sports by American schools and colleges, President Wilson has raised anew the old controversy as to the real value and effect of those activities. The President's letter makes clear that his request is based on the assumption that collegiate and scholastic contests in the open air are "a real contribution to the national defense" in that they enable American youth to acquire the physical fitness for taking, in due time, "the place of those who are now of military age and exhibit the vigor and alertness which we are proud to believe to be characteristic of our young men."

That this assumption is true would be generally admitted, of course, but there are those, and not a few, who doubt it, and some deny with vehemence, and support the denial with arguments of a certain plausibility, that even the physical results of training for, and of participating in, competitive sports are to be commended. Athletes are thus developed to higher degrees of skill and strength, even those critics admit, but they say that no weaklings are changed to athletes in this way, and again and again they have declared that whatever benefits there may be in the college games are confined to the boys who need them least, while there is a tendency to reduce all the others to the status of spectators, yelling approval or disapproval of the specialists, exactly as did the Roman populace in the Colosseum.

There is also made, and with like plausibility, the statement that to take part in athletic games is excellent preparation for—taking further part in athletic games, but decidedly poor preparation for most other life vocations that could be named. It is, therefore, at least a fair question to ask whether the product of collegiate athletics is better fitted than other young men are for the very different sort of exertions expected and required of the soldier, and if it would not be wise for our schools and colleges, instead of continuing their field and track sports at this time, to substitute for them training and practice directly preparative for military service.

As to the good effect of that on the physical condition and general health of all who receive it, there is no question at all.

A Distinction to Keep in Memory. If our Federal officials in this and other cities were more careful to distinguish, in their appeals and advice to the public, between enemy aliens and alien enemies, they would not, as now, be obliged to reprehend a large number of well-intentioned American citizens for forgetting that the distinction exists. Those officials are quite right in saying that for an American employer to discharge a German employé, simply because of his nationality or blood, is both unjust and unwise. They are right, too, in saying that the German in this country who by his words and conduct indicates an intention to deserve kindness and confidence is far more likely to carry out that intention if he gets that sort of treatment than if he finds his already difficult position as an enemy alien made still harder by treatment of the opposite kind—by treatment based on the assumption that as a German he is sure to be a plotter and a spy—that he is, in short, an alien enemy.

The dividing line has not, indeed, always been as sharp and clear as could be desired, but the great majority of unnaturalized Germans in the United States are intelligent enough to realize that they would serve their Fatherland extremely ill if they brought upon themselves, as a class, the deserved animosity, or even the deserved suspicion, of those who for some time to come are to be their close neighbors. There is no general inclination on this side of the water, however it may be on the other, to regard any alien as a hostage, responsible for the behavior of men at home over whom he has no control. "Reprisals," if we are forced to them, will be on the property here of Germans in Germany, who, it can fairly be assumed, have some influence on the German Government; they will not be on the persons of Germans in the United States, who, as is well known, are not the objects of any very intense or very tender solicitude on the part of their Kaiser.

The thing to do with an alien enemy is to put him in jail as soon as he can be caught and convicted. The enemy alien is, or at least may be, a bird of quite another feather, and while it is right that he should be subjected to certain restrictions—restrictions to which, if he be judicious, he will submit patiently—he should not be the victim of useless discriminations or deprived of the privilege of earning an honest living.

They Yield a Point with Grace. Whoever hears, about this time, as the old almanacs used to say, sounds as of high winds rushing through distant, but not very distant, forests, may be mystified, at first, and even alarmed. There is nothing dangerous in the noise, however—it is simply that produced by the conjoined sighs of relief heaved by the American populace on learning that our pacifists have decided to register like other people, when June 5 comes.

The country will be spared, therefore, the frightful scenes that would have confronted it if the pacifist leaders had determined to resist the Government and to keep their names off the list of its supporters.

Imagination, after its familiar custom, shrinks from contemplation of what would have happened had an opposite decision been reached by these stern folk. Almost can it now be hoped that in due season they will submit to draft as quietly as to registration, for they display a truly reassuring reluctance for the immediate martyrdom of going to jail, and it may well be that judicious inconsistency will continue to characterize them through all the days to come.

Meanwhile, they are making an earnest study of the loopholes provided by the law for conscientious objectors, and with any luck on their part in finding them, the United States may be safe from anybody except the Germans—of whom nobody seems to be much afraid, as yet.

Plays for a Boy.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In the course of my day's work in an uptown branch of the New York Public Library yesterday I came across something I judged interesting enough to pass on to your paper. A lad of some 14 lean years, to judge from his appearance, came in with a list of dramas given him by his teacher of English in first-year high school. From the list he was to choose any one, read, and make a written report on it. I saw no reason to doubt that the teacher had given the list, just as the boy said, especially as he was most anxious to "get the shortest one, please." The list contained the following:

Ibsen's "Ghosts."
Tolstoy's "The Living Corpse."
Galsworthy's "The Fugitive."
Zangwill's "The War God."
Synge's "The Playboy of the Western World."
Maeterlinck's "The Bluebird."
Hauptmann's "The Weavers."
Shaw's "Man and Superman."

The librarian has it pretty well fixed as a conscientious aim to co-operate with the school. But could one connive at such a merciless disregard of psychology and the eternal fitness of things as this? Is this the sort of thing New York school authorities consider intellectually beneficial to the youth of the city?

From Mr. Polacco.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Having read in your valuable paper that a rumor is being circulated relative to my resignation as conductor at the Metropolitan Opera, I beg to state that I have not resigned and have no intention of doing so. This has been my fifth season, and my engagement has not yet expired.

PAYING FOR THE WAR.

Some Effects of an Unscientific System of Taxes.

By an Eminent Financier.

It is entirely proper that the tax-imposing power exercise in times such as have come upon us the widest discretion in the levying of taxes, and the taxpayer willingly furnish all that may be needed to insure the victory of the cause of democracy, for the upholding and defense of which we have drawn the sword.

But the power to tax is the power to destroy, and, being in these momentous times clothed with the responsibility of enacting laws to produce a heretofore unknown and unheard-of amount of Governmental revenue, should Congress not stop and consider lest the imposts it proposes to levy may so affect our economic structure that much that has been builded in the course of many decades may become endangered, if not destroyed?

The insistence that the cost of the war we have rightly entered upon should, to the largest extent, be paid for by taxation is not justifiable. We are going into battle in order to save the day for posterity, who of right should bear part of the burden we shall have to assume. Because of this, it would be perfectly proper to provide for the payment of the larger part of the cost of the war by bond issues to be gradually extinguished through larger annual sinking funds. Whatever indebtedness we may have to shoulder, a sinking fund of 5 per cent. a year, which would not form too heavy a burden, would amortize the debt in about fifteen years.

Were such a plan adopted in order to raise the large sums now and hereafter needed, in place of the crushing tax measures that are pending, capital would not become frightened, as is very likely to be the case if the proposition already before Congress becomes enacted into law, and the country's industrial and commercial development can then progress and not be crushed by an unscientific system of taxation such as we are threatened with.

There is another aspect that should not be lost sight of, but be seriously considered.

A very considerable number of our important universities, colleges, and educational institutions of every kind, of hospitals, orphan asylums, altruistic movements and funds, not to speak of churches, charities, young men's Christian and similar associations, that are making for the elevation and improvement of the people of this country, if not of mankind in general, have been and are constantly called into being through the gifts and bequests of the so-called well-to-do, and these institutions, all over the country, are dependent for the proper exercise of their activities upon the ability of the wealthy to furnish the means for their support. Is it not to be feared that, with the adoption of the measure that is being discussed in Congress at present, and which, if enacted into law, is without any doubt going to stop at their source the free flow of the, in the aggregate, enormous sums which have ever been so readily forthcoming for altruistic purposes, there will be created conditions which will result in impeding our very continuance as a nation ever progressing in the things which give life its real value?

No one can now foretell how long the struggle we have entered upon may last, how large may grow the sacrifices in men and treasure the nation may have to bring. It will bring these sacrifices without hesitation to any extent that may be asked, but it will prove a short-sighted and most likely disastrous policy to endeavor right at the outset to raise our war budget by an all too exhaustive taxation, instead of seeking to maintain the economic strength of the nation by endeavoring to obtain the larger part of the colossal sums that will be needed through the use of the inexhaustible credit of the nation, coupled with proper provision for extinguishment by means of larger annual sinking funds of the funded debt we shall have to create.

Even thus, taxes in an aggregate altogether unknown heretofore will have to be imposed, but such taxation need be scientific in character, in order that the burden become so distributed that business initiative and activity do not become destroyed, or even seriously handicapped, for if that be the result, as is not unlikely, from the tax scheme now before Congress, the consequences to the country will be very serious.

To the Families of Recruits.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Every day thousands of letters come to the enlisted men and boys in Newport from thousands of homes. Some of them reveal the brave, strong hearts that we like to think that women possess, but others—and I am afraid these are all too many—are full of discouraging news, or some such contagious element, which transmits the blues at home into a deeper indigo "at the front."

Just last night a big, stout-hearted reservist of 24 walked into my office to read me parts of such a letter, saying: "God knows we fellows need cheering up ourselves without having to cheer up the whole family at home." And this man has written home every day since his arrival a month ago.

Can't something be done to educate the letter-writing families of soldiers and sailors so that they will be an asset instead of a drag on the army and navy?

Details of the Italian Offensive.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I have been reading with interest and delight at the same time the daily reports published in your valuable newspaper concerning the Italian offensive on the Austro-Italian front.

The full particulars usually accompanying those reports furnish me with a clear account of the operations now in progress in that important war zone, which I vainly seek in the other papers of the metropolis.

For a Day of Prayer.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Our sons are called to active service. Let us gather in our places of worship to invoke for them blessing and protection from on high. Let your readers individually write President Wilson urging him to proclaim a national day of prayer and to declare that we enter upon this war not for aggrandizement but for justice and righteousness.

AFTER THE BATTLE.

Clear for an instant, clouded brain!
Hurt heart, abate your bitter pain
That I may hear the last refrain
Of life!

The massive chords, in thunderous blend,
A harmony of grandeur lend,
Ascending to a crashing end,
In strife.

New echoes of the throbbing drum
Are stilled, now martial notes are dumb,
Now through the silences may come
A song!

Let words of love, of wonder, be
My solace to eternity—
The song I've waited for, ah's me,
So long!

FOR DRY NATION IN WAR.

Episcopalians Favor Prohibition and Bar Women from Church Elections.

At the closing session of the third annual convention of the Newark Episcopal diocese in Trinity Church, Newark, yesterday, a resolution was adopted favoring national prohibition for the period of the war. There was a prolonged discussion on the resolution and considerable opposition was manifested.

Several times attempts were made to bring the question of sacramental wines into the discussion, but Bishop Edwin S. Lines ruled the question out of order. After the prohibition resolution was put to a viva voce vote Bishop Lines announced that national prohibition had won.

GARDEN CITY, L. I., May 23.—For another year, at least, women will be barred from participating in elections in the Protestant Episcopal Churches of the Long Island Diocese. Last year, when the question of women voting was brought up at the diocesan convention, it was carried by two votes, but then it was decided that the canon laws held the convention must have a two-thirds vote on the subject before it could be passed, but the constitution says that a majority vote is sufficient.

The Committee on Canons was ready to suggest that the convention today pass a resolution putting itself on record as favoring women voting at church elections, provided they were able to induce the pastor and vestry of their church to agree. Before the committee had had a chance to make its recommendation, however, Supreme Court Justice Townsend Scudder moved that the question be laid on the table for a year, and at the same time asked Bishop Burgess to name a committee to amend the constitution so that it would not conflict with the canon on this subject. After a lengthy debate Justice Scudder's motion was carried, and the Bishop named the Justice, Colonel William F. Cogswell, and State Senator Fuller as members of the committee. They will make their report at the convention next year.

LABOR BILLS ASSAILED.

War Emergency Measures Attacked at Hearing—Brown Supports Them.

ALBANY, May 23.—Hearings by Governor Whitman on four so-called war emergency measures affecting labor today drew to the Executive Chamber the largest crowd of the year. The bills under discussion authorize the State Industrial Commission to suspend the provisions of the labor laws relating to working hours; permit farm labor by school children to be credited as part of the regular school work; amend the labor laws relative to employment of women at night in certain occupations, and amend the insurance laws regarding the approval of the premium rates of the State fund.

The opposition to the bills was conducted by Miss Nell Schwartz, Executive Secretary of the Consumers' League of the City of New York, and by Thomas Fitzgerald of the State branch of the American Federation of Labor. President James P. Holland of the State Federation of Labor opposed the bills in behalf of organized labor.

Chairman John Mitchell of the Industrial Commission asserted that the bill authorizing the suspension of the laws regulating the hours of labor should not be approved, as it might lead to grave abuses as well as decreased efficiency. The experience of Great Britain had shown, he said, that the suspension of labor laws at the beginning of the war was a great mistake.

Senator Elon R. Brown, Chairman of the War Committee, which drafted the bills, relative to suspending the Labor law and the Compulsory Education law, was the chief speaker in behalf of the measures. After reviewing the history of the bills, Senator Brown said:

"If by the suspension of the labor laws, the Full Crew law, and the Compulsory Education law this war could be shortened two months, I would favor the whole program. Every law that stands in the way of efficiency during this crisis ought to be gotten out of the way."

WAIVES THE LABOR LAW.

Temporary Exemption for Mexican Laborers Needed in Southwest.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—To provide against a probable shortage in farm labor Secretary of Labor Wilson today issued orders for the admission to the United States of aliens from Mexico who are otherwise barred by the literacy test or the contract labor clause of the immigration law. It was explained that the order was intended to relieve conditions in the Southwestern States, where farmers have been accustomed to import seasonal labor from Mexico. It will affect particularly New Mexico, Arizona, Texas, and California.

In a letter to officials of the department charged with the enforcement of the immigration laws Secretary Wilson said, in amplification of the order which exempts laborers from Mexico temporarily from the provisions of the immigration laws:

"Aliens admitted under the provisions hereof are allowed to enter temporarily upon the understanding that they will engage in no other than agricultural labor; and any who fail to accept, or after acceptance abandon, employment of that kind and engage in the performance of labor in connection with other industries shall be promptly arrested and deported to the country whence they came. In cases arising under this circular the aliens involved shall be admitted without the payment of the head tax."

VETOES WIRETAPPING BILL.

Whitman Says Espionage Restrictions might Embarrass Government.

ALBANY, May 23.—The Murphy bill to prevent eavesdropping on telephone lines except upon order of a Supreme Court Justice and the Towner bill to exempt telegraph and telephone company employes from furnishing prosecuting officers with information concerning messages, were vetoed by Governor Whitman today.

"From information in my possession," the Governor wrote, "I fear that the enactment of this legislation might be embarrassing to the Federal authorities under present conditions, and at this critical time. I am satisfied that I should not give them my approval."

Martin W. Littleton, counsel for Commissioner of Charities John A. Kingsbury and for William H. Hotchkiss, on trial in the Supreme Court in Brooklyn, charged with wiretapping in connection with the charities investigation last year, made a motion yesterday before Justice Kelby to have the indictment against his clients dismissed on the ground that District Attorney Lewis of Kings had made out no case against them. Mr. Lewis opposed the motion. The Justice announced he would give his decision at 10 o'clock this morning.

Mr. Lewis called attention to the wavers of immunity signed by Mr. Kingsbury and Mr. Hotchkiss when they testified before the Grand Jury. According to the minutes, they told the Grand Jurors that they had consulted during the Strong investigation and had come to the conclusion that Father William S. Farrell was not the author of some pamphlets he had said he had written, and which criticised the Kingsbury administration. Mr. Kingsbury contended that Dr. Daniel C. Potter wrote the pamphlets.

CONCESSIONS TO INDIA.

Chamberlain Says Reciprocity Principle Has Been Accepted.

LONDON, May 23.—Austen Chamberlain, Secretary of State for India, told the members of the House of Commons this afternoon that the position of India inside the British Empire had been considered at the imperial war conference and that the principle of reciprocity had been accepted. Under-hired labor, the Secretary said, had been stopped and would not be revised.

The representative of India in the Imperial Cabinet, it was contemplated, would be an Indian. Mr. Chamberlain pointed out that this was an immense advance in the position of India in the empire.

10,500 GERMANS ASK WAR ZONE PERMITS

MANY VOTED ILLEGALLY

And Many Served on Juries—Mayor's Committee to Help Those Who Lose Their Jobs.

United States Marshal Thomas D. McCarthy announced last night that up to date more than 10,500 Germans had applied for permits to live, or do business in, barred military zones. In addition to the Germans, many Austrians and Hungarians have called at the Federal Building seeking final naturalization papers, fearing that new rulings of the Government might bring them into the same category as the Germans and make necessary the obtaining of permits to live in barred zones or continue in business in the restricted areas.

Many unusual situations have developed as a result of the enforcement of the barred zone regulations. Hundreds of Germans in this part of the country, it was said yesterday, had been voting illegally and even serving as jurors. This has been going on for years, and in practically all cases the alien did not realize that he was violating the law. A conflict of State laws is responsible in large measure for the situation, since in some States aliens are permitted to vote when they have taken out first papers.

These men, in great numbers, have moved to Eastern States and have continued the practice, unaware of the law which, in the East, calls for complete naturalization before voting or sitting on a jury panel. Others, after voting for years, have discovered that their fathers never became naturalized.

An example cited yesterday in the Naturalization Court was that of Jonas Meyer, a merchant, living at 222 Riverside Drive. Mr. Meyer has resided here about fifty years, voting and sitting on juries. He discovered yesterday that his father never became a citizen and he never had the right to vote or exercise other functions.

That the Government is to keep a close watch on Germans was shown yesterday, when those asking for applications were told not to be seen with cameras, and it was intimated that Germans would have to give them up.

The barred zone movement was characterized by Marshal McCarthy yesterday as a registration of every German in this district.

"The method pursued," he said, "amounts to registration of every enemy alien, and means that the Government will have a line on every German here."

In the enforcement of the barred zone regulations it is said that the Government will need the assistance of thousands of citizens, and plans to get the co-operation of such citizens are now being worked out.

Marshal McCarthy had scores of cases where Germans are losing their jobs because of their nativity brought to his attention yesterday.

"One man who has been discharged because he is a German," said the Marshal, "is a traveling salesman, who for more than thirty years has been employed by a large flour milling house and his sales have averaged $100,000 a year. Now he is out of a job. This is just a sample of the injustice of this thing, and I hope that other employes will be more generous and patriotic and not discharge their German employes simply because they are Germans. It is not fair and it does not help the Government in the present crisis. As a matter of fact, it works a distinct disadvantage so far as the Government is concerned."

Announcement was made yesterday that the Committee on Aliens of the Mayor's Committee on National Defense was looking for work for those thrown out of employment. For example, German subjects who have been working on tugs, scows, and lighters will be directly affected, if the Department of Justice rules that all enemy aliens must be barred from all piers.

In the suburbs of New York, where barred zones do not exist, the Mayor's Committee will try chiefly to place the men prohibited from working in the restricted districts. Civic organizations and employers in the outlying commuting districts are asked to get in touch with the committee, at Room 1,820, Municipal Building, where enemy aliens who want work are requested to call and register.

BARS ALIEN TEACHERS.

Foreigners in Public Schools Must Take Out First Papers.

The Board of Education made a list of twenty-nine public school teachers who were competent to give military instruction in the public schools under the provisions of the Slater law. It was decided that no person not a citizen of the United States or who had not made a declaration of intention of becoming a citizen would be eligible for a license to teach in the public schools.

Upon motion of Thomas W. Churchill the special committee to investigate the efficiency of teachers was ordered to prepare its report. Dr. Abraham Flexner, who resigned from the board recently, was Chairman of this committee. It was decided also that the schools in the Bronx should be closed for the afternoon of June 14, so that the pupils might march in the Flag Day parade.

Ridder Heads Board on Aliens.

ALBANY, May 23.—Victor F. Ridder of New York was elected Chairman of the German-American Committee at a meeting here today. Louis Will of Syracuse was elected Vice Chairman; Frank J. Gloeckner of Albany, Secretary, and Fedor Willimek of Rochester, Treasurer. The committee was appointed by Governor Whitman early last month to deal with problems regarding aliens of German birth.

MISS TAFT A COLLEGE DEAN.

Bryn Mawr Unanimously Elects Daughter of Ex-President.

PHILADELPHIA, May 23.—It was announced at Bryn Mawr College today that Miss Helen Herron Taft, daughter of ex-President Taft, had been unanimously elected Dean of the college. Miss Taft is a graduate of Bryn Mawr, having won the first matriculation scholarship for Pennsylvania and the Southern States, awarded purely on grade, when she entered Bryn Mawr in 1908.

While she was in college her father was elected President, and after studying two years she returned to Washington to help her mother entertain in the White House, and was there for three years. In 1913 she returned to Bryn Mawr and took her degree in 1915, specializing in history, economics and politics. Since then she has been studying in the department of history in Yale University, and has completed all the formal work for the degree of doctor of philosophy there.

CITY COLLEGE ADDS TERM.

Free Summer Session of Eight Weeks to be Held.

For the first time in its history, the College of the City of New York will maintain a free Summer session of the college of arts and sciences open to all residents of the city. The session will be held for eight weeks, beginning July 2, under the administration of Professor Frederick B. Robinson, director of the Division of Vocational Subjects and Civic Administration, and Dr. Paul Klapper, Secretary of the Extension Courses for Teachers.

The college will not ask the city for an additional appropriation for the undertaking, Lee Kohns, a Trustee and alumnus, having offered to make up any deficit that may result.

Besides offering the usual college courses, subjects of special interest will be added, including telegraphy, telephony, military surveying, radio engineering and applied engineering.

EDWARD CARY DEAD IN HIS 77TH YEAR

HELPED BREAK TWEED RING

An Authority on the Tariff and Worked Unceasingly for Civil Service Reform.

Edward Cary, for nearly half a century a member of the editorial staff of THE NEW YORK TIMES, died at 6 o'clock last night at his home, 204 South Oxford Street, Brooklyn. He was in his seventy-seventh year.

Mr. Cary's last article for THE TIMES was written on Monday, and on Tuesday morning he suffered an attack of angina pectoris, from which he did not rally. Two years ago he had a paralytic stroke, but recovered sufficiently to resume his labors.

Mr. Cary is survived by his daughter, Miss Elisabeth Luther Cary, art critic for THE TIMES. The funeral service will be read on Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock at Mr. Cary's home. He will be buried in Albany, his birthplace.

In all the years that Mr. Cary was a member of the editorial staff of THE TIMES he had exerted an influence on the public affairs of this nation out of all proportion to his personal celebrity. Anonymity is both the penalty and the safeguard of editorial writing; the influence of the editorial writer gains by it, even if his own fame loses, and the great influence of Edward Cary was felt by millions who never heard his name.

He was a warrior who never rested; his battles were all fought in good causes, and he never entered one without a profound conviction of the justice of the fight in which he was enlisted. He was one of the earliest civil service reformers, a hard and earnest fighter against tariff privileges, and he struck blow after blow in such causes as wider education. His was one of the strongest and clearest voices raised against the craze that seemed at one time likely to sweep the country for the debasement of our currency.

Personally he was one of the gentlest and kindliest of men. It was hard for those who knew him to associate his lovable personality with the scorching denunciations he penned of the men and the tendencies in public life that aroused his indignation.

Mr. Cary was born in Albany on June 5, 1840, of Quaker parentage. He came of a fine old New England stock. His father was Joseph Cary and his mother, Lydia Chase. He was graduated from Union College and the Albany Law School, but his bent was not for the law but for journalism, and as soon as he left college he became the first editor of The Brooklyn Union, now The Standard Union. For seven years he was in charge of that newspaper and guided its policies.

This was in the days after the closing of the civil war, and Mr. Cary was a strong Republican. His work attracted the attention of George Jones, the proprietor of THE NEW YORK TIMES, and Mr. Jones invited him to leave The Union and join the editorial forces of THE TIMES.

No greater honor could come to a newspaper man at that time, for this was in 1871—the year when THE TIMES was engaged in overthrowing the Tweed Ring. To join its staff meant a life of militant activity. The prospect so appealed to Mr. Cary that he left The Union without hesitation and threw in his lot with the brilliant staff headed by Louis J. Jennings and guided by Mr. Jones, and from that day until yesterday he remained with it and was one of its most vigorous warriors in every fight in which it was enlisted.

In 1871, when Mr. Cary joined THE TIMES staff, the spoils system was in full swing. Neither in State nor nation was there the slightest doubt that when a party came into power its privilege and duty were to dismiss all the office holders of the other party and award their places, not on a basis of merit, but as prizes to political workers for political activity. There were a few who saw the wrong of this system, who did not believe in Marcy's maxim, "To the victors belong the spoils of the enemy," and who entered upon what seemed likely to prove a century-long struggle to install "better manners, purer laws." Mr. Cary was in the forefront of this group.

Civil Service Reform Leader.

In the editorial columns of THE TIMES he fought the spoils system with an ardor characteristic of him, but he did not rest with that. In 1881 he joined the Executive Committee of the Civil Service Reform Association, and from that day till the end of his life he was one of the leaders of the movement. In the Reform Association he undertook the laborious work of Chairman of the Sub-Committee on Examination; and he drafted the rules which still in great part obtain for admission to the Police and Fire Departments of this city.

When Blaine was nominated for President in 1884 and there was a hegira out of the Republican Party led by George William Curtis, Carl Schurz and Henry Ward Beecher, Mr. Cary's voice was potent in inducing THE TIMES to join that procession. He was then and always remained an ardent supporter of Grover Cleveland.

The subjects which his editorial pen touched were manifold. Every topic that fell to his care he treated with authority. Probably no important subject came up during his years of editorial work on which he was silent, but in general it may be said that his special fields were politics and finance.

If THE NEW YORK TIMES made a reputation for a convincing and brilliant exposition of the free silver fallacy, which it did for twenty-five years, the credit is largely due to Mr. Cary. Most of the articles showing the folly and danger of that ill-judged experiment came from his pen.

But to summarize the topics with which he dealt would give a very poor idea of his work, his influence, and his power, unless the spirit which informed his pen were known. He had a passion for the right. It may have been old fashioned, but his was the sturdy hatred of the old Puritan for new-fangled moralities and quack reforms. Some of the things he wrote with a strong ethical basis echoed all over the country. There was, for instance, a celebrated divorce case, not yet forgotten, on which Mr. Cary wrote a comment that was a classic in its way, and that went far to rectify a loose public opinion. It was quoted everywhere, and the sound of it has not yet ceased.

Authority on the Tariff.

If the position of THE NEW YORK TIMES on the subject of the tariff has been such as to make it a recognized authority, this has been largely due to Mr. Cary, who was an authority on the subject. His clear and convincing articles on that topic have probably done more to clarify public opinion than those of any other writer. He made the tariff a specialty, almost from the time when he became associated with this newspaper; and throughout the long wrangle which followed President Cleveland's message in 1887 and ended in the Dingley and Payne tariffs his voice was among the clearest and strongest. It was always raised against monopoly and tariff favors to the few with the resultant oppression of the many.

Despite the many activities in which he was engaged, he found time to write several books, among them a "Life of George William Curtis," for the American Men of Letters series. It was a subject which appealed to him, for Mr. Curtis had been among the earnest and most strenuous fighters for civil service reform.

The labors which Mr. Cary performed with energy and thoroughness up to the time of his last illness were the constant reflex of a mind impatient of the obvious and the superficial which obstruct from view so much which is vital in the world's news. In this the training and experience of the journalist were reinforced by an exacting conscience. No book that dealt worthily with the affairs of his own nation or of other peoples escaped Mr. Cary's scrutiny. His vivid interest in their subject matter was shown not only in the numberless critical articles by him appearing regularly in THE NEW YORK TIMES Review of Books since its first issue, but in the range of private reading which included the best that historians, statesmen, and men of letters of Europe could offer. The fund of knowledge which he thus gained, corrected by continuous and first hand observation of men and affairs, generously illuminated his daily editorial comment in THE TIMES.

His Thoroughness.

Each morning his desk had to be cleared of the mass of news cuttings gathered from the most representative American and European newspapers, as well as official documents and correspondence with men engaged in the responsible conduct of affairs which he had searched with a curiosity most unusual and difficult to satisfy. It was a curiosity, first of all, as to moral values and character. Beneath the published statements of men he was always eagerly looking for a sincerity capable of presenting with truth and perspective the real development of the news which it was his passion to study.

That was the mainspring of a working life remarkable for its volume and tempered quality of output. If printed in book form his writings would probably outbulk those of any living writer publishing over his own name. What they would amount to, reckoned conservatively at 6,000 words weekly printed through over forty active years, devoted to the service and good name of THE NEW YORK TIMES, may be quickly imagined. But the vigorous ideals that carried him through this labor unweariedly up to the very end made his pen painstaking as well as prolific. As nothing could check his pursuit of the best information and expert opinion until all available means had been exhausted, his mature, considered, judicious, careful, and kindly style—kindly even when most forceful and caustic, and deriving power from understatement—was the natural product of that pursuit.

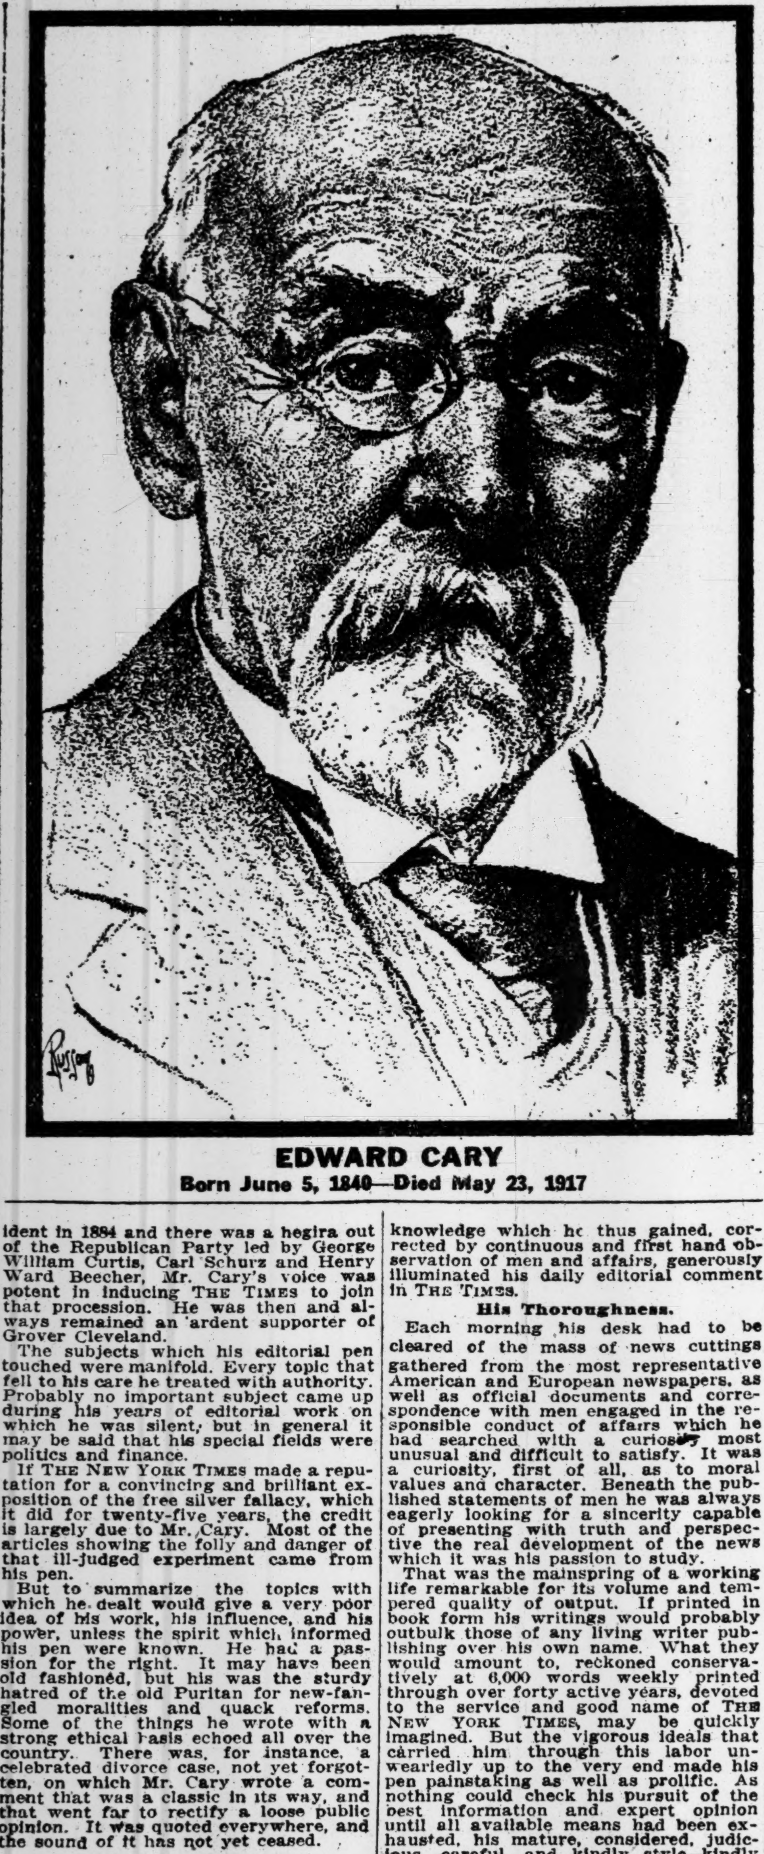
In 1911, as he completed forty years of whole-hearted work, the staff of THE TIMES honored him with a luncheon in the tower of the Times Building. All the members of the editorial and reportorial staff were present as well as men associated with Mr. Cary in his activities outside the newspaper, and the tributes paid to him then by men who knew him as only his colleagues could, showed the esteem and affection with which he was universally regarded.

When THE TIMES celebrated its sixtieth anniversary, in 1911, Mr. Cary wrote a history of the paper that was afterward published in pamphlet form. It is hardly too much to say that the history of THE TIMES was his own history.

Perhaps no better summary of Mr. Cary's career can be found than in the words he himself wrote in that historical review.

"Men perish, their institutions survive. There would be no continuity of history if they did not survive, for they represent the accumulation of wisdom and experience. From the beginning the founders and makers of THE TIMES have held it and regarded it, not as an instrument of private service and utility, but as an institution devoted to the public use."

Mr. Cary married Ellen Elisabeth Luther of Albany in 1864. He was a member of the Century Club, where he was for some years a member of the Board of Management and Secretary, and also a member of the City Club.



EDWARD CARY

Born June 5, 1840—Died May 23, 1917

HIS PUBLIC LABORS.

George McAneny Pays Tribute to Mr. Cary's Many-Sided Service.

Edward Cary will be remembered first as a man of letters, as the biographer of Curtis, as an editor and editorial writer whose thought has influenced the opinion of the American people and swayed their action through a half century of time. May I add to what will be said of his work in these fields a word of especial appreciation of his services as a publicist, as a man of affairs, and as a constructive reformer?

Underlying every activity of Mr. Cary's life and every line of his pen has been his passion for the betterment of public conditions, the broad charity of his public point of view, his intense honesty as a citizen, and his willingness to give the utmost of his strength to every worthy public cause. To the reform of the Civil Service he gave perhaps his most devoted attention. In the years immediately following the civil war, when Sumner in the Senate and Jenckes of Rhode Island in the House first pressed upon the nation the importance of putting an end to an abuse that threatened the stability of Government itself, he was editor of The Brooklyn Union.

He attached himself and his paper to the new cause as vigorously as he had to the cause of anti-slavery itself. When, a few years later, the Civil Service Reform Association was organized with Curtis as its head, and a militant campaign commenced, he joined the memorable company that Curtis and Schurz gathered about them in the appeal to the country for the legislation that meant the clearing of the way for a new political day. How well the country responded and how great the change that was wrought he happily lived to see.

When a Civil Service Commission for New York City was established in 1884 Mr. Cary proved his faith by accepting a place on the first Examining Board—as a colleague in the active administration of the new law, through trying days of experimentation and hostile criticism, of John Jay, Henry Richmond, Everett P. Wheeler, E. L. Godkin, and others of the pioneer class. Ever since he had served as a member of the Executive Committee of the City Civil Service Reform Association and of the Council of the National League. As a guiding spirit in the advancement of this great and salutary reform in city, State, and nation, as the draftsman of countless documents that have converted opinion and commanded support, as a leader of victory in the long struggle for purer politics and better laws, he will indeed be remembered gratefully.

But while Mr. Cary's most active work for public measures was in the movement for civil service reform, in reality he lent his energy to every good cause that gave him opportunity. As a champion of independence in political thought or political action, as the persistent supporter of campaigns for the better government of the city, or for the improvement of the living and working conditions of its people, as the friend of negro and Indian, oppressed or misunderstood, as the foe of every public heresy or wrong, he never for a moment ceased to labor for the public good. Working for the most part and of necessity within the anonymity of his editorial chair, he was nevertheless and essentially a public man. How great has been the full measure of the good he has wrought within his long service of education, of argument, and of quiet leadership, few but those who knew him closely could adequately understand. He was a great American, a great citizen, the soul of justice—even of stern justice—when opinion was to be written or public conduct appraised, but the soul, too, of rarest courtesy and kindness.

GEORGE McANENY.

HIS WORK IN LETTERS.

Appreciation by W. C. Brownell, Author and Essayist.

Edward Cary was pre-eminently a journalist. His conception of the profession and his practice of it justified the pride he took in it. He conceived it as a calling having, no doubt, distinct limits, but as distinctly related to literature in every trait of formal expression on the one hand as on the other it is in substance to the forensic province of the publicist. He was, in fact, a born writer and a born publicist as well. It was a happy conjunction that made him the biographer of George William Curtis, whose political and public preoccupations he shared and whose literary qualities answered to his own.

His journalistic equipment was exceptionally substantial and the authority with which he wrote on the broader aspects of government and economics was unusual in our day, but his interest in pure literature was far greater than is implied in such a statement. He was a great reader, and his reading had a wide scope. The critical field had an especial attraction for him. Scherer, for example, was one of his favorite writers. And the reason for this preference is to be found in the strong moral strain that runs through all Scherer's criticism. For Cary, too, looked at the world from the moral viewpoint. Hence his interest in all "causes," from anti-slavery times down.

But this is not to say, it is very far from saying, that his moral quality in any way invalidated his marked aesthetic side—the side that made him a precisian in literary style, a sensitive connoisseur in the fine arts, even a draftsman of talent that, cultivated, would have made him proficient. It simply gave this side greater depth. Depth is, indeed, what chiefly distinguished him, perhaps. In the last analysis, it was his character that counted in the impression that he made upon his fellows.

With an altogether uncommon wit, a gayety always genial, often joyous, he was the best of good company in the best company, but he was never not serious, never superficial. Play to him was no compromise. He knew, in fact, no compromise. The trite and the inept displeased him scarcely less than the false and the perverse. His taste, that is to say, gained edge from the tenacity of his tenets. And who that rejoiced in his friendship can fail to cherish a lifelong memory of his natural sweetness and absolutely fundamental tenderness—a quality so integral in him as sometimes to menace the austerity of his else invincible impartiality? No one can have ever combined strict standards with more catholic sympathies.

BACK YOUR BRAIN WITH RED BLOOD

Don't let your mental powers go it alone when you can build your blood and body with natural methods of living, and Pepto-Mangan.

A powerful brain, supported by a sound body, is like a powerful automobile engine supported by a staunch chassis. You can drive it to capacity and make safely the sandiest stretches, the steepest grades. But, when, day in and day out, you try to hold the gruelling pace of business or society on brain and nerve alone, you court breakdown and disaster.

Don't go the way they went. Give heed to your blood and body. Build them up with plain, nourishing food, fresh air, regular exercise, sleep and Pepto-Mangan.

Pepto-Mangan

"The Red Blood Builder"

Pepto-Mangan builds your blood from the foundations, the red blood cells. It increases their number and capacity to carry much needed oxygen to all the cells and tissues. Pepto-Mangan has been prescribed by physicians for over 25 years. It is exceedingly pleasant to taste, easily digested and promptly assimilated by the blood.

Friendly Warning: There are substitutes and counterfeits, so be very careful to buy Pepto-Mangan only in the original bottle and sealed package shown above, bearing the name Gude. Then you will obtain real Pepto-Mangan to which you are entitled. Pepto-Mangan is made by M. J. Breitenbach Co., Manufacturing Chemists, New York, and is for sale at all drug stores.

HUNTINGTON WINS ART CASE

Sellers of $100,000 "Romney" Admit That It Is Not Genuine.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Thursday, May 24.—After seven days of testimony in the action brought by Henry E. Huntington of New York against a firm of art dealers for the return of £20,000 paid for a painting represented as a Romney, the defendants yesterday made the sensational admission that the picture was not the work of Romney, but of Humphreys, and agreed to return the purchase price, with interest and costs of the suit.

The costs of the case are estimated at nearly £1,000, or about half the price paid for the picture by Mr. Huntington. The brief of Sir John Simon, K. C., was marked 1,000 guineas; that of Mr. Hemmerde, K. C., 666 guineas; that of Leslie Scott, K. C., 500 guineas, and to those fees must be added daily refreshers both to the leaders and their juniors.

SENATOR LANE DEAD.

Expires from a Blood Clot on the Brain in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 23.—United States Senator Harry Lane of Oregon died at a hospital here tonight from a blood clot on the brain.

Senator Lane, upon whom Oregonians threatened to use the famous referendum and recall law if it could be found that the law applied to a Senator at Washington because of Lane's opposition to the Armed Neutrality bill which culminated in the memorable filibuster in the Senate on March 3 and 4, was a Democrat. Two days after his part in the filibuster, the leader of which was Senator Robert M. La Follette, a message was sent to Lane by a group of prominent citizens of his constituency demanding his resignation.

Senator Lane was deeply stirred by the report that a movement was on foot in his home State to recall him, and declared that his position had been misunderstood; that he had not been an obstructionist and could not in any sense be classified as a pacifist.

Senator Lane was a native Oregonian, and appeared before the public for the first time in 1887 when he was Superintendent of a State hospital for the insane. He was selected for this post by former Governor Pennoyer of Oregon. As a Superintendent, Lane was exceedingly industrious, and soon knew all about every patient in the hospital, making frequent visits to them. He was a physician, and when he became aroused in a dispute with the Governor over the food situation at the hospital he resigned and returned to his practice.

In 1905 he was nominated for the Mayoralty of Portland and defeated George H. Williams, who had been Attorney General in one of the Grant Cabinets, and was generally known as "the Grand Old Man of Oregon." Lane had his troubles because the City Council was Republican. He was renominated, though he wished to give up office, and was re-elected for a second term. When he was offered the nomination a third time he flatly refused.

The Rev. Edward Everett Bacon.

WEST ARLINGTON, Mass., May 23.—The Rev. Edward Everett Bacon, former rector of a historic church at Old Saybrook, Conn., died in his home here on Tuesday. He was born at Waterville, N. Y., on Aug. 1, 1845, and entered Hamilton College in 1869, where he received his degree, A. B. Upon his graduation from Andover Theological Seminary he was called to the Congregational Church of Norway, Me. He next took charge of the church at Old Saybrook, but resigned in 1904, because of ill-health.

He was a member of the Yale Club and the Plainfield Country Club.

COL. W. C. CHURCH, EDITOR, DIES AT 80

Founder of the Army and Navy Journal and Once Publisher of The Sun.

HIS CAREER IN CIVIL WAR

The Author of Life of John Ericsson and of U. S. Grant Was Prominent in Civic Life.

Brevet Lieut. Col. William Conant Church, United States Volunteers, editor of The Army and Navy Journal, died yesterday at his home, 51 Irving Place, in his eighty-first year. Colonel Church had been in good health on Saturday and was at his office. He had been a newspaper man for more than sixty years and founded the publication of which he was the head.

Colonel Church was ranked among the foremost journalists and his paper, which was guided largely by his military training and experience, held fast to an extreme military policy. He was an ardent advocate of universal training and saw the necessity for a strong navy.

Colonel Church was born in Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 11, 1836. His father was the Rev. Dr. Pharcellus Church; his grandfather was a native of Mansfield, Conn., a soldier in the Revolutionary War and a relative of Colonel Benjamin Church, who took part in Indian wars. His mother's father's mother was a Miss Davis, a member of a well-known Connecticut family, and came from the same stock as Jefferson Davis. Colonel Church was likewise the eighth descendant of Roger Conant, Governor of the Cape Ann Colony in 1625, who was founder of the town of Salem, Mass. He removed to Boston with his family in 1848 and came to this city in 1854.

His father was the publisher of The New York Chronicle, and the young man aided him at first, later becoming the publisher at twenty-four. In the same year he became publisher of The New York Sun, but withdrew in 1861 for a period of European travel. He was in Europe at the outbreak of the civil war, but returning in July, 1861, he became a member of the joint military-naval expedition under General W. T. Sherman and Admiral S. F. Dupont, and was present at the capture of Port Royal. He returned north on the steamship Bienville, bearing the first news of the victory, and wrote the account of it for The New York Evening Post.

Later he attached himself to the Army of the Potomac as a volunteer aid on the staff of General Silas Casey, participating in the battles of Williamsburg and Fair Oaks, being wounded in the former. He was soon after his recuperation appointed acting inspector and mustering officer of provisional brigades with the rank of Captain. In rapid succession came the brevets of Major and Lieutenant Colonel of volunteers.

It was while he was on the staff of General Casey that the project of establishing a military paper was commenced and the assignment fell to Colonel Church, who resigned to accept it. With his brother, Francis P. Church, he began the publication of The Army and Navy Journal at 192 Broadway. Soon after the draft riots broke out and he joined the civilian committee that assisted the Metropolitan police in putting down the riots.

The Galaxy Magazine was started by Colonel Church and his brother in 1869, the publication lasting ten years and then merging with The Atlantic Monthly. Henry James's first stories appeared in the pages of this periodical, as well as a novel by Charles Reade and the early writings of Mark Twain.

Colonel Church was the author of the Life of John Ericsson and of Ulysses S. Grant and of numberless articles in leading magazines.

With General W. Wingate he was the founder of the National Rifle Association, and was its first President, as well as an honorary director for life. He was a Fellow in perpetuity of the Metropolitan Museum of Art and a Director of the New York Zoological Society, a member of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States and of the Executive Committee of the National Security League. He was likewise Chairman of a committee which erected in this city a monument to John Ericsson, and delivered the oration at the dedication. His clubs were the Union League, Authors', Army and Navy, the Century Association, and The Players.

Colonel Church's funeral will take place at Grace Church at 10 o'clock on Saturday.

MILO M. BELDING DEAD.

Pioneer Silk Manufacturer and Merchant Expires at 84.

Milo Merrick Belding, silk manufacturer and merchant, died yesterday at his home, 853 Seventh Avenue, in his eighty-fifth year. Mr. Belding was born at Ashfield, Mass., the son of Hiram Belding and Mary Wilson. He was educated at the Shelburne Falls Academy in Massachusetts and began his business career as a boy selling sewing silks.

In 1863 Mr. Belding, with his brothers, established a silk house in Chicago, and in 1884 one in this city, from which grew Belding Brothers & Co., with great manufacturing plants at Northampton, Mass.; Belding, Mich., and Rockville, Conn.

Mr. Belding was Treasurer of Belding Brothers & Co., and was a Director of the International Salt Company, the Broadway Trust Company, the International Pulp Company, the Genesee and Wyoming Railroad, the Retsof Refining Company, and many other corporations. He was an active attendant at Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, during the pastorate of Henry Ward Beecher.

FOUNDLINGS' GUARDIAN DIES

Sister Theresa Was Head of New York Asylum for 28 Years.

Sister Theresa Vincent, Mother Superior of the New York Foundling Asylum, 175 East Sixty-eighth Street, died there yesterday morning after a brief illness. Sister Theresa had been in the sisterhood for fifty-seven years and was one of the co-founders of the asylum forty-eight years ago, and for the last twenty-eight years she was its head.

Between 2,700 and 5,000 foundlings were cared for yearly under the direction of Sister Theresa, and the success of the institution was in a great measure due to her efforts. Her personal influence was applied also to aiding unfortunate women. Before she took the veil her name was Miss Jane McCrystal.

A solemn high requiem mass will be celebrated at St. Patrick's Cathedral at 10:30 o'clock on Saturday morning, which will be attended by the members of the Foundling Asylum staff.

Marriage and death notices intended for insertion in The New York Times may be telephoned to 1000 Bryant.

SENATE TAKES UP FOOD CENSUS BILL

CALLS IT INQUISITION

Bill Placed in Position for Continuous Discussion, Beginning Today.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—The Senate again devoted its attention to food legislation today, most of its time being taken up with the Government's first food bill, providing for a national foodstuff census and appropriating about $15,000,000 for measures to stimulate production. The bill was placed in position for continuous discussion, beginning tomorrow, until final disposal. The measure was brought before the Senate by Chairman Gore of the Agriculture Committee, after several days of preliminary work, occupied largely in revising the original draft.

The measure would give broad power to the Secretary of Agriculture to make a food census of the entire country. It would give him authority to question food dealers, and the failure of any one dealing in food to furnish information desired by the Government or the giving of false information would be punishable by a fine or imprisonment. If, after an investigation of the country's food resources, it is found that food production needs stimulation, the Secretary of Agriculture is empowered under the bill to supply seed to farmers at cost.

The measure was attacked in a brief debate by Senator Reed, who insisted that there was no authority in law, or under the Constitution, for such a questioning of dealers as the bill contemplates.

"Not only does this bill involve control over the feeding of 100,000,000 of people," he said, "but it also gives the Secretary of Agriculture power to resort to the most unlawful inquiry of the dealers who supply the food. I assume this bill, like the amendments to the other food bills, came from the Secretary of Agriculture. It was simply handed in here to be passed.

"Now, I don't want to have a bill of this character, giving power for an arbitrary census, that infringes on the rights of dealers in our foodstuffs, passed just because a department of the Government happens to want it. The Secretary of Agriculture would be given power of inquisition that no judicial body has in this country, that the Senate does not possess."

The Agriculture Committee has decided not to include the proposed liquor amendments in the Senate Food bill. Instead, they are to be offered when the Lever Food bill comes from the House.

FOOD BATTALION STIRS WOMEN

Interest in Conservation Is Aroused All Over Long Island.

The Food Reserve Battalion's special train of the Long Island Railroad, which is carrying the messengers of conservation to every town, village, and hamlet on Long Island, received co-operation and increased show of interest from the people at all the places visited yesterday. More than 100 miles were covered in the run on the Montauk and branch lines. The run yesterday started at 8:45 in the morning from Greenport, with the first stop at Southold, where the public school session was postponed several hours to enable the girls to hear the train lecturers and make notes on the practical subjects of canning and preserving all kinds of table necessities and some luxuries.

At Mattituck, an important canning district, hundreds of women from farms and truck gardens and many workers from the canning factories boarded the train to see the demonstrations. Many others heard the lectures from the station platform, and afterward made an inspection of the various cooking utensils and other exhibits. Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., Mrs. William Laimbeer, Ralph Peters, President of the Long Island Railroad Company, who is also the President of the battalion, and Miss Dorothy Peters rejoined the battalion yesterday.

Other large delegations of women and girls met the train at Eastport, Good Ground, Southampton, Bridgehampton and Amagansett, which latter is a few miles from Montauk Point. Just before the train arrived at Good Ground Port Master George D. Squires raised the Stars and Stripes on a new staff in honor of the occasion. Other points where stops were made included Center Moriches, Patchogue, Bay Shore, Merrick, East Williston, Roslyn, and Glen Cove.

Mrs. J. Watson Webb, reviewing the work accomplished in the three days of the tour, said: "If the promises of thousands of farmers' wives are lived up to, thousands of tons of vegetables and fruits that annually go to waste will this year be canned and preserved for the feeding of the nation. Many women from big farms who have come to the train for advice frankly admitted that every year enormous quantities of products were wasted because of lack of knowledge to utilize them."

THINKS AMERICA MAY FORCE IRISH REFORMS

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Thursday, May 24.—Lord Mersey made a statement with reference to the problem of Irish Government in the course of a Rhodes lecture which he delivered yesterday at University College. Lord Mersey is Unionist in politics, and his lecture was written before the publication of the latest Irish settlement proposal. He said:

"I think it will be found in the immediate future that our new relations with America arising out of the war will compel us to take in hand the question of the reform of Ireland and her Constitution, and to treat it in a way which will be distasteful to the great majority of English people and to a large and powerful minority of the Irish themselves.

"If we delay the matter we shall run the risk of offending the American democracy, and this is a risk we can hardly afford to run during the present crisis in our lives. Reform may involve what to some of us may look like betrayal; but for my own part, I think American is mistaken in the view she takes on the Irish position, but that she does take it there is no doubt, and to enter into argument with her at the present time is impossible.

"I think also that reform will hurt Ireland herself by incorporating into her Government an element of strife which will be a lasting source of dissension in her counsels.

"I fear we may have to elect between two evils: between the loss of American sympathy on the one hand and, on the other, the sacrifice of our obligations to Protestant Ulster. It is a question of expediency—a word I dislike, for it generally means sacrifice of principle."

TEXAS HARVEST IS STARTED

Cutting of Grain Near Fort Worth Brings Cheer to Chicago Experts.

CHICAGO, May 23.—The cutting of wheat has been started in Texas, near Fort Worth. Work began yesterday when binders started on a farm of 100 acres.

"The Texas harvest has started," flashed over the wires of the brokers, and crop students said that never in history did such a message carry more of hope and meaning to the world, for this crop, according to leading statesmen, enters into the grand strategy of the war and into the very politics of nations.

From now on the harvest will spread northward over the granaries of Oklahoma, Kansas, and Nebraska, thence on through the Spring wheat valleys of the Dakotas, until about the first of September the last North American sheaf has been cut in the far Hudson Bay country.

The word from Texas was taken as a good omen, for it showed that the harvest had been started three days earlier than usual, and even three days is important, it is said, when the whole world is crying for wheat.

WEDS LIEUT. C. McK. PERRY.

Mrs. Natalie L. Forbes's Marriage Hurried by the War.

The marriage of Clinton McKesson Perry, a son of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Perry of this city, and Mrs. Natalie Livingston Forbes, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Holland Forbes, was celebrated at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the residence of the bride's parents, 27 West Fifty-second Street.

The wedding had been planned for June, but as Mr. Perry is a member of Company K of the Seventh Regiment, N. G. N. Y., and is also a Lieutenant in the Aero Squadron of the regular army, the war hurried it. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Merle St. Croix Wright. Mrs. Forbes wore a gown of white filet lace topped by a white lace hat and carried white orchids. Her only attendant was her cousin, Miss Vera Wetmore, of Minneapolis, Minn., in pale pink chiffon topped by a leghorn hat trimmed in blue ribbon and pink roses.

There were no ushers, but Captain Alexander Perry of the Eighth Coast Artillery, U. S. A., was the best man.

Attendants for Her Marriage to Reginald L. Whitman.

Miss Adelaide Flint, daughter of Dr. Austin Flint and Mrs. Flint, whose marriage to Reginald L. Whitman, a son of Mrs. Charles L. Whitman, will take place at 4 o'clock on Monday afternoon, May 28, in St. Bartholomew's Church, will have Mrs. Bryce Wing as her matron of honor, and little Miss Jeanetta Whitman will be the flower girl.

Mr. Whitman's cousin, Malcom D. Whitman, will be his best man, and the ushers are to be L. Stewart Wing, S. Bryce Wing, Gerald Whitman, a cousin, Stephen Hopkins, and John Milholland. There is to be no reception. The bridal party and the immediate families only will be present at the Flint residence, 51 West Fifty-second Street, to congratulate the bride and bridegroom.

On their return to New York next Autumn Mr. and Mrs. Whitman will live at 150 East Seventy-second Street. Miss Flint is now with Mrs. Flint at their country estate, Overlook Farm, at Millbrook, N. Y.

Dr. Rosensohn Weds Miss Sobel.

The marriage of Dr. Meyer Rosensohn of 1,329 Madison Avenue and Miss Leonore Sobel, a niece of Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Prince of 19 West Seventieth Street, was celebrated yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at Delmonico's, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Dr. M. H. Harris. The bride, in a short white satin frock trimmed in lace and wearing a tulle veil, was attended by her sister, Mrs. Lawrence S. Greenbaum. Mr. Prince gave her in marriage. Dr. Rosensohn's best man was his brother, Samuel Rosensohn. Only the families and immediate relatives were present.

Aid for Harvard Ambulance Unit.

An entertainment for the members of the Harvard University Ambulance Unit, which is soon to enter American field service in France, will be given this afternoon at Sherry's. Mrs. Harry Duryea and Mrs. Allen G. Wellman are in charge of the arrangements. I. Townsend Burden is Treasurer. Francis R. Appleton, President of the Harvard Club, is to preside. Society girls and actresses are to sell programs and serve tea.

Army Relief Society's Garden Party.

The annual garden party of the Army Relief Society will be held on Governors Island on the afternoon and evening of June 6. The program is to consist of many military events, including flying manoeuvres by the army aero squadron. There will be a parade in the evening. Mrs. Charles F. Roe, Mrs. Oliver B. Bridgman, Miss Harriett M. Center, and Mrs. Francis M. Gibson are receiving applications for tickets.

Conger-Clark Engagement.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, May 23.—The engagement of Miss Catherine Rutgers Conger, daughter of the Rev. A. B. Conger of this city, to Franklin Taylor Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence M. Clark of Germantown, has been announced. The wedding is to take place in June.

Miss Curtis's Bridal Party.

Miss Mildred Curtis, whose marriage to Walter Hughson of Baltimore will take place on Thursday afternoon, June 7, at 4 o'clock in St. Bartholomew's Church, will have her sister, Miss Lena R. Curtis, as her maid of honor. Sturgis Ingersoll of Philadelphia is to be the best man.

Miss Greenbaum Weds Today.

Miss Grace Greenbaum, elder daughter of Supreme Court Justice Samuel Greenbaum, will be married at noon today to Bennett Epstein, at her home, 2 East Ninety-fourth Street. It will be a quiet home wedding, with only the immediate families attending.

The quotations are for six months' paper.

Drug Prices Firmly Held.

Anticipating the retention in the new revenue bill of the proposed 10 per cent. duty on imports, Drug and Chemical Markets will say today: "Dealers in drugs are making their prices to conform with the increased cost of importation. Stocks of many articles are reduced to a minimum, which in itself causes an upward movement. Several were advanced during the week. There were also some declines, larger arrivals and lack of buying resulting in a drop of $3 a flask, 75 pounds, in mercury."

Burnt Plumage to Stay.

Indications in the millinery trade are that burnt plumage is to remain in vogue all Summer. Not only is it being used in cascade effects on top of small hats, but it is also worn branched high. Burnt plumage bands, in both plain and coronet effect, are also selling freely. White coronet bands are very good for use with small hats. Pasted feather hats are getting stronger, but no new development can be reported on flowers. Enlarged four-leaf clover effects of white pasted feathers, with burnt plumage centres, are among the newest trimmings shown. They are taking well.

Knit Goods Men Elect Officers.

Victor P. Sahner was elected President of the Knit Goods Selling Agents' Association yesterday at the formal organization meeting of that body at the Arkwright Club. These other officers were also elected: Vice Presidents, J. P. Vorhees, A. J. Armstrong, Thomas Muir, J. J. Paxton, and C. C. Kellar; Secretary, Henry Van Holland, and Treasurer, J. P. Quinlan. This Executive Committee was chosen: R. S. Wheeler, John N. Given, James Jamison, Fred Haight, Thomas Muir, and C. C. Smith. The membership, which numbers seventy-five, embraces all of the leading houses in the trade. The first official act of the association was to urge the purchase of Liberty Bonds and to appoint a committee to get subscriptions. It was also voted to co-operate with the Knit Goods Purchasing Committee now helping the Council of National Defense.

Hard to Dispose of Jobs.

One of the hardest problems now faced by wholesalers of dress accessories, such as laces, embroideries, and trimmings, is that of obtaining an outlet for passé merchandise in the shape of "jobs." Time was when out-of-town retailers, especially in the South and West, would not take up novelties very strongly until the East had about tired of them. This naturally left an outlet for goods that could no longer be sold in the East. Now however, novelties are taken up practically at once in all parts of the country, and also let down simultaneously. This pretty generally closes the old outlets for passé stock and requires searching about for new ones. Only recently a lace merchant here sold some Japanese bands to a concern which makes shrouds, this being the only place he could dispose of them at any price.

General Meeting of Clothiers.

The Board of Directors of the Clothiers' Association of New York yesterday decided upon a general meeting of the organization members for June 4, at 6:30 P. M., in the Hotel Brevoort. On this occasion the clothing manufacturers will discuss general conditions in the industry, and particularly those which have arisen as a result of the huge Government orders for woolens placed with the mills. The need of serving the country first has already forced a number of the mills to cut down their orders from the clothiers, leaving the latter in a position where it is doubtful if they can adequately supply their customers. It is expected that a committee to work in co-operation with the Advisory Committee of the Council of National Defense will shortly be appointed from the ranks of the clothiers to go over the situation thoroughly, so that ordinary commercial business may be disturbed as little as possible through the entrance of the Government in the market as a buyer.

Informed on Government Colors.

The members of the Textile Color Card Association of the United States have received a letter enclosing samples of the official Government colors now being used in the army. Owing to the changes that have been made, this information is expected to be of quite some value to the manufacturers. Two shades of khaki were sent out, one used in the uniform cloth and the other for cotton tentage. The members were also informed that the Service Bureau of the association has on hand other colors being used in the army, including those for trimmings, as well as cloths. These may be secured upon application.

Government Paying High Prices.

Although not much information is being given out by mill agents concerning Government orders taken and prices received, it was said in several responsible quarters yesterday that rather high prices are being paid for Government requirements, even considering the record levels in the woolen market. An eight and a half ounce shirting was one of the articles mentioned where the figures obtained by the mill ought to yield the maker a very good profit. It also seems that specific operations are favored by the Government buyers. In other words, some mills are busy turning out yarn, while others receive it to manufacture the cloth. On the whole, such a method, unless special prices are obtained, is not considered a highly economical way of purchasing the needed supplies.

Anxious Over War Tax Effects.

Credit men, particularly those whose customers are in the women's wear manufacturing business, are quite anxious over the possible effects of the war taxes to be levied on such industries. The part that bothers the credit checkers is that having to do with excess profits. In many cases the capital upon which the business is done in the women's wear line is comparatively small, while the expenses and profits are much larger than in other branches of trade. If all but a small percentage of profit has to be turned over to the Government, the credit men fail to see how a number of their customers can continue in business.

Printcloth Prices Go Up.

Further buying activity and increases in prices marked yesterday's trading in the local gray goods market. Some spot business was told of on 39-inch 68-72s at 10½ cents, while for October-December delivery the same goods sold at 10⅝ cents, or an advance of an eighth over recent late contracts. Nearby sales of eighty squares were reported at 11¾ cents, with 12 cents asked for spots. For August-September shipments of 38½-inch 64-60s sellers demanded 9 cents, while for October-December delivery they were let go at an eighth less. Early shipments of 38½-inch 60-52s were quoted at 8 cents, with spot 60-48s held at 7¾ cents and contracts at 7⅝. Some second-hand spot sales of 38½-inch 64-56s were made at 8¾ cents. Coarse goods inquiries included 4-yard, 48-square sheetings, which were wanted for deliveries up to Jan. 1, and for which the mills asked 10¼ cents. Nine cents was bid for 40-inch 4.25-yard sheetings for shipments to Jan. 1. Spot closing printcloth prices were:

Special to The New York Times.

AUSTIN, Texas, May 23.—The bank of Thomas Trammell & Co., at Sweetwater, and the Exchange Bank, at Roscoe, owned by Thomas Trammell, were today placed in the hands of receivers by order of the District Court. Henry James of Abilene and R. P. Hamilton of Sweetwater were appointed receivers. While no statement has been filed as to the financial condition of the two banks, it is stated that their liabilities are much in excess of $10,000, probably with sufficient assets to pay all indebtedness.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 23.—Ira Whitlock and Arch Ferris, doing business as Whitlock & Ferris, grocers' sale mill, filed voluntary petition in bankruptcy; liabilities, $2,484; assets, $2,807.

LEGAL NOTICES.

SUPREME COURT OF NEW YORK, County of New York.—William P. Fogarty, plaintiff, against Mary A. Stange and others, defendants.—County Clerk's File No. 7,284.—Year 1910.

In pursuance of an interlocutory judgment of partition and sale, duly made and entered in the above entitled action, and bearing date the 29th day of May, 1912, I the undersigned, the referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction, at the Exchange Salesrooms, Nos. 14-16 Vesey Street, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 29th day of May, 1917, at 12 o'clock noon on that day, by Joseph P. Day, auctioneer, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold, and described as follows:

Parcel No. 1: All that certain lot, piece or parcel of ground, with the building thereon, situate in the City of New York, being part of that part or parcel of land commonly called Bayard's Farm, and distinguished on a map or chart annexed to a certain indenture made by and between Nicholas Bayard of the City of New York, Esq., of the first part, and Richard Harrison, Benjamin Walker and Josiah Ogden Hoffman of the other part, by lot number eight hundred and sixty-two, fronting on Oliver (now Spring) Street twenty-five feet and three inches, and eighty-nine feet in length on Elizabeth Street, and ninety-five feet on the other side, as the same is laid down on the said map; be said dimensions thereof as justly given more or less, the said indenture and map being recorded in the Secretary's office of the State of New York the 29th day of June, 1795.

Parcel No. 2: House and lot on the northwesterly corner of Second Avenue and 98th Street, being 26 feet in width in front on Second Avenue and in the rear by 75 feet in depth on 98th Street and on the northerly side, the northerly wall being a party wall; said premises being known as No. 1,901 Second Avenue.

Parcel No. 4: House and lot on the westerly side of Ludlow Street, being 19 feet 8 inches in width in front and 19 feet 4 inches in the rear by 87 feet 6 inches in depth on each side, the side walls being party walls; said premises being known as No. 25 Ludlow Street.

Parcel No. 5: House and lot on the northeasterly corner of Cherry and Gouverneur Streets, being 23 feet 8 inches in width in front on Cherry Street and 23 feet 7 inches in the rear by 53 feet 3½ inches in depth on Gouverneur Street and 51 feet 7½ inches in depth on the easterly side; said premises being known as No. 376 Cherry Street.

DOUBTS IF RAILWAYS CAN ECONOMIZE NOW

President Rea, on Stand at Rate Hearing, Discusses the War Board's Suggestions.

LOREE ALSO IS QUESTIONED

Coal Conditions on Delaware & Hudson Give Promise of a Profit, He Testifies.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Interstate Commerce Commission hearings on the petition of the railroads for a general 15 per cent. increase in freight rates were resumed today. The witnesses were President Rea of the Pennsylvania and Loree of the Delaware & Hudson.

Clifford W. Thorne, representing a group of shippers, asked Mr. Rea whether the Pennsylvania would take competitive bids for lubricants from independent producers, adding that the independent producers would furnish lubricants at a price 20 per cent. less than the road now pays. Mr. Rea said his system was willing to do anything that would cut down operating expenses. He said that certain improvements contemplated by his system, such as elimination of grade crossings, might have to be deferred because the moving of supplies demanded first consideration.

Mr. Thorne entered into the record as an exhibit, a bulletin issued by the Railroad War Board in which certain economies were suggested, such as a reduction of the percentage of locomotives under repair and speeding them up in operation. The saving of fuel by careful steaming, the use of full traction power of locomotives, and the reduction of loading and unloading times for freight cars. Mr. Rea admitted that there might be room for improvement along all the lines suggested.

Mr. Thorne then read a paragraph from the bulletin which set forth that, without adding anything to the capacity of the railroads, it was possible that they might increase their car supply 30 per cent., and their locomotive supply 20 per cent. by measures of economy suggested. Mr. Rea said that it might prove impossible, because of conditions, to put the suggestions into effect.

Pressed to state the total of the Pennsylvania's outside security holdings, Mr. Rea said he would not like to testify it was as high as $300,000,000, although later he did say that the interest from the holdings was sufficient to pay the interest on the funded debt and yield in addition several millions a year. Mr. Rea said the amount of the securities was considerably less than in 1907, as the Pennsylvania had disposed of many of its former holdings, such as in steel companies.

Mr. Rea said the system needed additional equipment, mentioning especially coal cars ,and adding that 5,000 were needed, but that he would not recommend their purchase now at unreasonable prices for delivery at some far distant date.

Mr. Rea was asked what the Pennsylvania had done in the way of effecting economies because of the operation of the Adamson law, such as shortening railway divisions. The witness said any such action by the Pennsylvania was impracticable because of the tremendous expense that would be involved.

President Loree said coal operations of the Delaware & Hudson last year had not been so good from a business point of view, but that they held brighter promise for the coming year.

"Did you see the conditions regarding supplies that now exist coming in December, 1916?" the witness was asked. He said he did.

"And yet," said the examining attorney, "in December, 1916, you declared a dividend payable throughout 1917."

The dividend rate of the Delaware & Hudson is 9 per cent. Mr. Loree said the advance in coal which comes from the Delaware & Hudson mines would enable the mining company to make a profit. He added that the increases in the price of anthracite were justified by the increased cost of labor.

OBJECT TO ZIONIST PLANS.

Jewish Bodies in England Do Not Subscribe to Nationalism.

LONDON, May 23.—Opposition to Jewish resettlement in Palestine, as planned by the Zionist organizations, was expressed today in a statement issued here today by the joint Foreign Committee of the Board of Deputies of British Jews and of the Anglo-Jewish Association, two of the most influential bodies of British Jewry. The statement says:

"We object to the first feature of the Zionist plans, which declares that the Jewish settlements in Palestine shall be recognized as possessing a national character in a political sense. Our reasons are that the Jewish nationality must be founded on and limited by the Jewish religion, which is the only real test of the Jews. The second feature of the Zionist program objected to proposes to invest Jewish settlers in Palestine with special rights over others. This would prove a calamity to the whole Jewish people, who hold that the principle of equal rights for all denominations is essential. This proposal is all the more inadmissible because the Jews probably will long remain in the minority in the population of Palestine, and because it might involve them in most bitter feuds with their neighbors of other races and religion.

"If the Jews prevail in a competition based upon a perfect equality of rights and opportunities, they will establish their eventual preponderance in the land on a sounder foundation than any that can be secured by privileges or monopolies."

The statement concludes with the assertion that the joint committee proposes to pursue its own policy, namely, that at the close of the war the Jewish population in Palestine will "be secured in the enjoyment of civil and religious liberty, equal political rights with the rest of the population, reasonable facilities for immigration and colonization, and such municipal privileges in towns and colonies inhabited by them as may be shown to be necessary."

Guardsman Struck by a Train.

Morris Foulds of Chrome, N. J., a private in the First New Jersey Infantry, was taken from the Pennsylvania Station to Bellevue Hospital last night suffering from fractures of both legs, a broken left arm, and many cuts and bruises. He was brought on an electric locomotive from Snake Hill, N. J., where he had been on guard duty. At the hospital it was said that Foulds was struck by a train shortly after he was relieved from duty last night.

GERMANY HAS RESUMED BELGIAN DEPORTATIONS

Three Thousand Reported Exiled from Brussels Suburbs Since May 1.

HAVRE, May 23.—The Germans have resumed the deportations of Belgians, according to information received by the Belgian Government. Three thousand persons are reported to have been deported from the suburbs of Brussels since the beginning of May.

LONDON, May 12, (Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—From an official Belgian source The Associated Press has been informed of the following:

The deported Belgians are still kept in Germany, notwithstanding the promise of Emperor William.

Only about one-third of the total number deported have been repatriated. These are the sick and maimed men. The Belgian hospitals are full of them. Many have died. Most of them will be forever unable to work.

Those who have been kept in Germany are now divided among small labor "kommandos." This explains why the camps are now nearly evacuated and the public is under the delusion that those men have been sent back to their country.

As a matter of fact, their fate has become, if possible, still worse. By ill-treatment, hardships, isolation, they are submitted to a relentless pressure in order to force them to accept the work which they have hitherto refused. According to the letters which they succeed in forwarding surreptitiously, according to the report of those among them who have come back physically wrecked and completely exhausted, and according to the testimony of those who have managed to escape from Germany and to reach Holland and England, those remaining in Germany are martyrs.

More than three months ago the German Emperor himself wrote to the Pope, assuring him that those deported would all be sent back to their homes, and that the married men would lead the van. As a matter of fact, the German authorities have stopped taking any further advantage of the sick and the unfit. They still go on trying to reduce into slavery, by every means, the unhappy Belgians, in order to get hold of labor material, the need of which reveals itself more and more pressingly. As a consequence of this reign of terror Belgian fathers of families die every day, preferring martyrdom to submission in aid of their country's enemy.

The deportation of Belgians was reported to have ceased last month, owing to the representations made to Berlin by Pope Benedict and protests from some of the German Socialists. On May 14, however, the Belgian Government learned that all men in the Belgian province of Luxembourg were being deported, and that a census of women was being taken by the German authorities. The census was for the purpose of replacing male agricultural workers by women.

VON BISSING FAVORED ANNEXING BELGIUM

Memorandum of Late Governor Said Germany Needed It for the Next War.

LONDON, May 23.—A memorandum written by the late General von Bissing, Governor General in Belgium, which, it is assumed, was prepared for submission to Emperor William, represents the possibility of a reconciliation between Germany and Belgium as illusory and argues the absolute necessity of the annexation of Belgium as a preparation for another war against Great Britain.

The memorandum declares that no treaty guarantees, however strong, would prevent Belgium from being swept into the enemy camp, and that therefore Belgium must be conquered, the Belgian dynasty abolished, and the country held with an iron hand, so as not to repeat the mistake made in Alsace-Lorraine and in German Poland in attempts at conciliation.

Pointing out how the Province of Limburg, in Southeast Holland, is a thorn in the side of the present German offensive, the memorandum contends that the same would happen with a neutralized Belgium, and that the advantages Germany gained would accrue to her enemies in the next war by their possession of the whole of Belgium.

FINNISH SEPARATISTS A SMALL MINORITY

Professor Shatsky Says Swedish Party Does Not Represent the Nation's Sentiment.

Professor B. E. Shatsky, director of the Russian Information Bureau, commenting yesterday on the news from Petrograd that the Congress of the Swedish Political Party, representing a majority of Finland's wealthiest and most influential classes, had passed a resolution favoring a complete separation of the Grand Duchy of Finland from Russia, said:

"I am sure that the real situation in Finland does not present any reason for Russia being alarmed. I have just received information from Russia that the last developments in Finland resulted in the creation of a coalition Cabinet formed of six Social Democrats and six representatives of the Bourgeois parties. This coalition Cabinet represents proportionately the dominating political parties in Finland. The President of the Cabinet is Mr. Toquoi, a Social Democrat. The Swedish Political Party has only one representative in the Cabinet, Dr. Eernrod, the Secretary of Commerce and Industry. This shows that this party is not at all a decisive factor in the Finnish political life.

"The Socialist Prime Minister, Mr. Toquoi—it is interesting to mention that he is the first Socialist Prime Minister in Europe—issued a statement declaring that the working classes of Finland greeted the new Russian political régime with the greatest joy and satisfaction.

"Professor Setala, the new Secretary of Education in Finland and the leader of the new Finnish Party, said that if the present trend of Russian politics toward Finland was maintained, the Russian people could be sure of finding in the Finnish people an honest, faithful, and loyal friend. Professor Danielsen Karlmarie, leader of the old Finnish Party, expressed himself in similar terms. Mr. Lille, one of the leaders of the Swedish Party, a member of the Seim, and the editor of an influential paper, said, 'We have full confidence in the Russian Provisional Government.'

"As we see it, almost all the parties in Finland have full confidence in Progressive Russia. Under the new régime Finland will receive the greatest possible independence in her affairs, and it seems quite improbable that reasonable ground can be found for complete separation.

NEW LICENSING PLAN PLEASES EXPORTERS

Prefer American Regulation of Foreign Trade to Present Methods of Control.

PREPARATIONS FOR BUREAU

Government Will Aim to Have Sufficient Force Here to Give Prompt Decisions.

With the enactment of the Administration's Trading With the Enemy bill, now pending in Congress, New York will probably become the chief port for licensing exporters to carry on trade under war conditions. Under normal conditions more than half of this country's exports go from here. Accordingly, Government officials anticipate a heavy demand for licenses from New York shippers.

The Department of Commerce will issue the licenses. D. E. Casey, Agent in charge of the local office of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, said yesterday that in anticipation of the law representatives of the Washington office had come here to work out plans for the licensing bureau. Mr. Casey said much official machinery would be set up to give expeditious service to merchants. Additional clerks will be installed, and every effort made to give quick decisions.

Shippers seen yesterday by a TIMES reporter indicated that they hailed the new system as a notable step toward stability in exports. That was also the view of the representatives of firms until recently on the British blacklist. arl W. Stern, of M. J. Corbett & Co., who since the war began has been active in movements to bring about modifications of the British blockade and blacklist regulations, summed up the prevailing sentiment when he said:

"All the countries are regulating their exports, and shippers have no objections to an exporter's license here."

A representative of Zimmermann & Forshay, a concern financing foreign trade transactions, and until May 4 on the British blacklist, said yesterday that all shippers, whether barred from trading with Britain's enemies, welcomed the American supervision of exports.

Maurice Blumenthal, formerly counsel to the now defunct Association to Resist British Domination of American Commerce, an organization consisting of those on the British blacklist, thought shippers would find it more satisfactory to have our own Government supervise exports, rather than foreign countries.

A special export committee, consisting of Dr. E. E. Pratt, Chief of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce; Frank M. Halstead, Chief of the Customs Division of the Treasury Department, and Wilbur Carr, Director of the Consular Service of the State Department, is now making a study of American exports with the view of determining whether merchandise from this country is reaching Germany. The report of this committee, together with special information in possession of the British and French Governments will be placed at the disposal of the License Bureau.

MORE RESTRAINT ORDERED.

Britain to Tighten Regulations Governing Conscientious Objectors.

PLYMOUTH, May 7, (Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—Conscientious objectors—men who are opposed to military service—who now are housed in the famous Dartmoor prison near here, have been placed under greater restraint and on a war diet as a result of protests that they were being pampered. The neighboring villagers said that the objectors were allowed to live in comparative ease and luxury as compared with the lot of the prison warders and the men of the village who are in the army.

The conscientious objectors are now living on the same fare as prescribed by the Food Controller for the civilian population. Formerly they were allowed to go to the storekeepers in the neighborhood and purchase all they wanted, with the result that supplies were exhausted at the expense of the regular customers.

The objectors are engaged in farming and quarrying and their living conditions at the prison are said to be so much better than that of the convicts that the Government has been induced to conduct an investigation.

Major Brown Marries Miss Smith.

Maor John Brown of the First Pennsylvania Infantry and Miss Ruby Jacqueline Smith were married at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon in St. Stephen's Church, West Sixty-ninth Street, by the Rev. Dr. Nathan Seagle. The best man was Dr. E. G. Brownell, Lieutenant of the First Aero Squadron, U. S. A., and Miss Marguerite Holst of Minneapolis, Minn., was the maid of honor. Major Brown left to prepare for service in his regiment, and his bride accompanied him.

Myrick-Porter Wedding.

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Charlotte Williams orter, daughter of Mrs. Edward Clark Porter of Chicago, and Donald Myrick, son of Herbert Myrick of Springfield, Mass., which took place on Tuesday in Los Angeles, Cal. Mr. Myrick is on the editorial staff of a Los Angeles newspaper, and his father is the widely-known agricultural publisher and editor.

EMPEROR HONORS DUMBA.

Ex-Ambassador Among 60 Men Appointed to Austrian Upper House.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

AMSTERDAM, May 23, (Dispatch to The London Daily Chronicle.)—Indications of a change in the political, economic, and social orientation of Austria, which has been expected for many months and which is a direct result of the war, find notable expression in the latest act of Kaiser Charles. He has nominated sixty new members to the Austrian Upper House, five of the appointments to be hereditary and fifty-five for life.

Many of these appointments are of considerable interest. The new peers include Moritz Benedict, proprietor of the Neue Freie Press, who is the first journalist in Austria admitted to the Upper House, though his presence there will not inspire great democratic enthusiasm. Dr. Dumba, former Ambassador to the United States, is among the number; so is the former Ambassador in London, Count Pouilly Dietrichstein.

Field Marshal Conrad von Sotezendorff, former War Minister; Baron Louis von Rothschild, head of the great banking house, and Baron von Skoda, owner of the great Skoda arsenal, are three notable figures in the list. Men of business and science, professors, bishops, land owners, and bureaucrats make up the tally of appointments, among which also is that of Professor Vrba, President of the Czech Academy of Science. Galicia, Poland, and Dalmatia are represented. Of the sixty, nineteen belong to the Left, which favors parliamentary government; twenty-three to the autocratic Right, and the remaining eighteen to the middle parties.

The House meets on May 30.

THINKS KAISER IS MENACED.

Recalled Cuban Minister Reports Germany in Bad Condition.

GENEVA, May 23, (via Paris.)—Things are going badly in Germany, and the Imperial régime is threatened, according to Dr. Aristides Aguero, recalled Cuban Minister to Berlin, who has arrived here on his way to France. Dr. Aguero said:

"I bring good news. I have been fourteen years in Berlin and you can easily realize that I have been able to thoroughly study the character of our enemies. Things are going badly on the other side of the Rhine. The facade of the Imperial edifice seems solid enough from abroad, but in reality there are cracks in it."

The Cuban and Guatemalan Ministers left Berlin together. They were accompanied by a German Colonel, who never let them out of his sight, and they were not allowed to leave their train at any station on th eway to the frontier. Their meat and bread cards were taken from them. Dr. Aguero declared that there was no prospect of immediate improvement in the food situation in Germany. He said that no help could be expected from the occupied parts of Rumania, as the lack of man-power made a cultivation of the fields impossible.

TO GUARD RAILWAY CREDIT.

Owners of Carriers' Securities Form a National Organization.

BALTIMORE, May 23.—The National Association of Owners of Railroad Securities, having for its object the protection of credit of railway systems of the country, was formed here today at a meeting of 400 men representing more than $3,000,000,000 of railroad securities. S. Davies Warfield, Chairman of the board of the Seaboard Air Line, who called the meeting, was elected President and five Vice Presidents will be named later.

A declaration of principles was adopted, which says that the railroads with their $17,000,000,000 of capital represent the greatest business organization in the world, and that upon their efficiency depends the industrial and agricultural prosperity of the country.

"Through years of abuse," the declaration says, "a state of mind has been created which seems to forbid the fair consideration of questions of vital consequence to the railroads and those who in good faith have invested their money in these securities. The present-day owners of these, representing millions of our citizens, should be considered in the settlement of these questions, and not made responsible for the acts of a few men who may in the past have profited at the expense of the properties they represented."

Addresses were made by H. A. Schenck, President of the Bowery Savings Bank of New York City; John H. Honsdale, President of the National Bank of Commerce of St. Louis; J. H. Ecker of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, New York; John E. Oldham, Boston; J. W. Stedman of the Prudential Insurance Company of America, Newark, N. J.; J. E. Woodruff, President of the Trust Company of Georgia, Atlanta, and ex-Governor Edwin C. Stokes of New Jersey.

Five men will be appointed to represent the organization before the Interstate Commerce Commission, and will present appeals for such action as is necessary to stabilize the securities of carriers.

Over-Seas Club's Empire Dinner.

The New York branch of the Over-Seas Club will hold its annual Empire Day dinner at the Hotel Majestic this evening. This will commemorate Queen Victoria's birthday. Among those who will speak are the Right Rev. Bishop Prince de Landers-Berghes et de Riche, Mme. Laura de Tarczynowicz, Lord and Lady Aberdeen, Dr. Theodosia M. Spring Rice, President Queen Mary's Needlework Guild; Major Louis Livingston Seaman, George Arliss, the Rev. John A. Wade, and John E. Kellerd. A collection will be taken up for the Royal Flying Corps Hospital Fund.

City Employes to Give Ambulance.

Commissioner William Williams of the Department of Water Supply, Gas, and Electricity announced yesterday that the employes of the department would give a fully equipped automobile ambulance to the Federal Government for use abroad. The idea originated with the employes, almost all of whom have contributed to the cost of the ambulance, which will be $3,000 or more.

UNIONISTS ACCEPT PLAN.

Will Submit Question of Irish Settlement to Meeting of Council.

DUBLIN, May 23.—The Executive Committee of the Irish Unionist Alliance met today and adopted a resolution approving the letter written by Viscount Middleton, former Secretary for War and former Secretary for India, addressed to the Prime Minister, setting forth the views of the Unionist representatives in the west and south of Ireland, and decided to submit the question of the Irish settlement to a convention of the alliance at an early date.

Viscount Middleton in his letter to Mr. Lloyd George said in behalf of the Unionist representatives in the west and south of Ireland that they considered the proposal of home rule for a part of Ireland involved great imperial danger and a strengthening of the Sinn Fein movement. As regarding the alternative of an Irish convention, these representatives were willing, with a view to minimizing the existing differences and securing the full participation of Ireland, to submit the proposal to the Irish Unionist Council.

SOLDIERS ACCUSED OF THEFT

Two Charged with Stealing Second Field Artillery's Horse Feed.

William A. Lawrence, a mechanic of 1,272 Union Avenue, the Bronx, and Mason D. McCormick of 412 East 203d Street, the Bronx, both National Guardsmen belonging to the Second Field Artillery in the Bronx, were locked up last night at the request of Major Wilbur T. Wright, on a charge of stealing horse feed from the armory's stables. Frank Staino, a produce dealer, was held on a charge of receiving stolen goods. The police say that the guardsmen are charged with stealing several hundred dollars' worth of horse feed in the last week. McCormick was one of the armory stablemen.

THE SPIRIT OF 1917

Rally Your Dollars Around "Old Glory"

Subscribe Now to the "Liberty Loan"

War is a grim business. More than human valor is essential to win it, though the causes engendering it are the highest human ideals.

Not only is it paramount to have an efficient army and navy to wage it, to a glorious, victorious end, but behind it must march the entire material wealth of the whole nation.

Therefore, is it equally important for us all to see to it that our brave boys are properly fortified with guns, munitions, clothes, food, hospital supplies and all the other necessary materials so essential for them to wage war successfully.

Every little bit will help toward accomplishing this desirable end. Even so small a sum as $50, if you cannot spare more, will aid in winning the war, for it will purchase a Liberty Bond.

No greater act of patriotism can be shown to the Stars and Stripes than to thus consecrate your spare dollars to the cause of Liberty and World Wide Democracy in whose defense and for whose perpetuation our sword has been unsheathed.

We have already witnessed by almost three years of the most brutal war in the history of Christendom, what great human sacrifices we must face, in order to prevent Militarism from gaining ascendency, and it has taught us that one of the principal factors which will decide whether Free Government or Despotism will prevail is the resources behind the sword.

Consequently more than a National conscience that tells us we are fighting for Humanity, is needed in this crucial hour. So that the freedom of the people, of the whole World, is not curtailed even by so much as a scintilla, it has become the paramount duty of each and every one of us to stand with our wealth behind our valiant army, until assured again of a LASTING PEACE.

In that duty we can be more than men, we can be supermen by giving adequate proof of our preparedness to make every sacrifice to win this war for Liberty.

Send forth your dollars, you true and patriotic Americans; send them forth to hearten your men, who will soon themselves go forth to take their place beside our Allies on this modern Armageddon.

Your brave soldier and sailor boys are prepared, if it is necessary, to give up their lives in order that you, yourself, your family, and your family's families can continue to live peacefully in a Brotherhood of Man, and not like serfs under a military despotism.

We all of us cannot go to war. It is just as important that many of us remain at home, as soldiers of our great economic army, upon which the nation must depend for all of the supplies and wealth, without which no war can be successfully prosecuted.

But there is not a single one of us who cannot prove ourselves fired by an equal patriotic fervor by taking as many of the Liberty bonds as our means will permit without impairment to our financial resources.

Of men to serve our flag, the true symbol of LIBERTY, FRATERNITY AND EQUALITY, we have plenty. Now let us properly support these brave men by sending forth our dollars to rally around their colors—let those dollars represent that great silent supporting army, which will constantly say to our boys: "We are with you to the last penny."

Remember Robert Morris, remember his great financial sacrifices. Were it not for the support he gave to General Washington, by placing at his disposal his entire fortune, there would have been grave danger that the cause of Liberty in 1776 would have failed of victory.

Our wealth has grown so great in the hundred and forty-one years which have intervened since the Father of the country gave us the liberty for which all men breathe, that it is unnecessary to make such great sacrifices as did Patriot Morris, but we can be fired equally by such great love of country and the ideals for which it has so long stood.

Take your share of Liberty Bonds

These bonds will bring you an income of 3½% per annum; they are subject to no tax, except inheritance taxes, and what is exceedingly attractive about them is that they are readily convertible in later bond issues of the Government if their issuance becomes necessary, should they carry a larger interest yield.

You can send your subscription to-day to your Banker or Broker. He has patriotically agreed to accept subscriptions at no expense to subscribers. You can subscribe for any amount from $50, $100, $500, $1,000 or multiples of $1,000.

Subscriptions must be placed in time to reach the Treasury Department or a Federal Reserve Bank by noon, June 15, 1917.

2% on Application
18% on June 28, 1917
20% on July 30, 1917
30% on August 15, 1917
30% on August 30, 1917

Subscribers may pay in full if desired.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks Seethe in Million-Share Day—Prices Are Little Changed.

The Stock Exchange had the most active session yesterday that it has seen in two months, sales running close to 1,300,000 shares. Up to early afternoon the forward movement continued with Steel common as the leader, but in the last hour heavy realizing sales, accompanied by short selling indulged in with a view to feeling out the top of the rise, caused a sharp setback from the best prices of the day and left Steel but little above its previous close. Before the reaction was brought about, however, Steel performed the feat of equaling its best price in history, selling at 129¾. It closed a full 2 points under this figure with a net advance of one-half point for the day. The market, as a whole, averaging the railroads and industrials, ended the session practically at the level established on Tuesday, the net change in prices being of little consequence. The only wide changes in quotations were made in inactive stocks on small dealings.

There is still a good deal of skepticism on the floor of the Exchange as to the staying qualities of the market that has been moving along at an accelerating pace for the last week. The advance has made considerable headway without yet bringing in the amount of outside buying that is considered necessary to the success of a real bull market. However, the buying has steadily improved in quality and commission houses, especially those with Western wires, reported a very satisfactory business yesterday. The movement was due for a reaction and the big blocks of Steel that came out on the tape indicated that holders who had acquired their stock under 115 were letting it go.

Announcement yesterday that plans are being made in Washington for an allied purchasing board which may have a purchasing power of $10,000,000,000 a year, justified, on the surface, at least, the predictions that have been frequently made of an unprecedented period of industrial activity ahead of this country. It does not seem possible that the vast financing necessary to back up this plan and the expenditure of the funds collected through bond sales can be handled without inflation in prices of stocks as well as of material. This is the argument one hears most of in Wall Street as justification for an active market at higher prices.

LONDON MARKET IS FIRM.

Moderate Demand for Money Is Met Easily.

LONDON, May 23.—A moderate demand for money was met easily today. Discount rates were quiet.

The stock market continued generally firm, with French, Russian, and Brazilian bonds the best in the gilt-edged section, though the war loan was inclined to harden. In the late trading Russian industrials and Kaffirs eased off a fraction.

Rubber, oil, and provisions stocks were increasingly supported at advancing prices. Unmobilized American securities were occasionally bought, while Mexican issues were irregular.

Trading Quiet on Paris Bourse.

PARIS, May 23.—Trading was quiet on the Bourse today. Three per cent. rentes, 61 francs 25 centimes for cash. Exchange on London, 27 francs 18 centimes. Five per cent. loan, 87 francs 80 centimes.

STATE REVENUE DECREASES.

General Fund $10,403,439 Less on April 30 Than a Year Ago.

The report of the State Controller for the ten months of the fiscal year ended April 30, 1917, shows an increase in indirect revenue receipts, compared with the same period last year, of $5,024,699, but a decrease of $10,403,439 in total general revenue receipts. The figures follow:

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Steel Touches Old High Level.

The moment Steel common reached up to its former maximum price of 129¾ yesterday the character of the whole market changed. The uplift from 128 to this level appeared to overexert traders and, as though a signal had been given, a general movement in the way of profit taking began. Steel, itself, dropped back two full points and recessions from 1 to more than 2 points occurred in many of the issues which of late have been pacing forward rapidly. These were recessions from the best prices of the day. The extensive realizing of the last hour did not go far enough to prevent most of the active industrial stocks from showing gains for the session.

Nearly One-third in Steel.

Steel supplied nearly one-third of the turnover, and the total of transactions, approximately 1,260,000 shares in all stocks, meant that Steel was in heavy demand. It was reported on the floor that about 1,000 shares were offered at 129¾, and of these 800 shares were taken before the market trend reversed itself. Probably the fact that the 4¼ per cent. dividend comes off the quotation on June 1 has been of assistance in stimulating purchases for some days. Investors have been fearful lest the price level get too high for them and so have hurried up their buying for the sake of the dividend. The Street's opinion yesterday was, however, that speculative purchases supplied the bulk of the business in Steel, and expanding public participation was considered as a factor of importance.

Uses of a Liberty Bond.

Liberty Loan bonds are being subscribed for for various purposes. Some folks are buying them for investment, some are buying them to reduce their income tax payments, some are buying them because they believe it their patriotic duty to help the nation in financing the war. Besides these incentives, other uses for Government bonds have sprung up: thus, one automobile concern advertises that it will accept the 3½ per cent. bonds at $102 in payment of purchases of its cars; a baby carriage manufacturing company announces that it will pay dividends in Liberty Loan bonds, and the flying squadron of bond salesmen reports that many subscriptions have been received from persons expecting to use the bonds as wedding gifts.

Greene Consolidated Plan.

The Greene Consolidated and Greene-Cananea Copper interests are the second important factors in the mining industry to take measures toward a simpler organization in the last few months, the Phelps, Dodge & Co. group being the first. The Phelps, Dodge Corporation was formed to bring into one closely organized concern the various properties owned by Phelps, Dodge & Co. At the annual meeting of the Greene Consolidated Copper Company on June 12 stockholders will be asked to authorize the management to accept an offer from the Greene-Cananea Copper Company to buy all of the property and other assets for $21,000,000. Greene-Cananea already owns 96 per cent. of the Greene Consolidated stock, and if the proposal goes through, holders of the latter company's minority stock will have opportunity of getting one Greene-Cananea share for each two Greene Consolidated shares held. A letter sent to Greene Consolidated stockowners yesterday said that it was estimated $300,000 or more would be saved yearly by the proposed simplification of the corporate ownership.

Interest on Bank Deposits.

Although as a consequence it is likely to be omitted from the list of Government depositaries, the Fifth Avenue Bank is not considering the question of abandoning its long-established policy of not allowing interest on deposits. It is now the only institution in New York which does not pay interest. At present it does not hold any Government funds, despite the fact that it was the purchaser of a block of certificates of indebtedness. All banks which receive Government deposits are required to pay interest at the rate of 2 per cent. per annum.

Motor Stocks and Dividends.

The motor stock situation affords something of a puzzle to some observers of market phenomena. The buoyant course of other shares has found no reflection in the motor list; in fact, the contrary so far in the upward movement is the case. News from the motor manufacturing centres, at the same time, has not been adverse. The Pierce-Arrow Motor Car Company yesterday declared its initial common stock dividend of $1.25 a share, and the Chandler Motor Company ordered the usual quarterly disbursement of 2 per cent. and the extra of 1 per cent., which was also declared last quarter. Both companies reported a thriving business.

WOOL MARKET IS ACTIVE.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, May 23.—The American Wool and Cotton Reporter will say tomorrow:

"Selling South American wools for Government purposes was the principal feature of the wool market in the last week. The bulk of wool sold was in the medium and coarser grades. There has been little domestic civilian business.

"Discounting crop conditions was given as one reason for the advance in cotton. The crop does not seem to be doing particularly well. It will be necessary to have better weather soon if a crop of any size is to be gathered. Corn is being planted in place of cotton in many sections. There is talk that the conscriptive draft will take thousands of men away from the cotton fields, and that, in addition, many negroes will come to the North. Almost every fundamental condition is bullish.

"There are still many uncertainties in the woolen goods market in regard to the civilian business which can be accepted and produced, but there is very little uncertainty in regard to the amount of cloth which the Government will require in the near future.

"A decided improvement has been noted in the cotton goods market in the last week. It would seem that the turn in the market has come, and that the situation is to improve continually. There has been a large Government demand for heavy colored fabrics and quite a large demand for duck materials."

INVESTORS—EXECUTORS—TRUSTEES

Among the many qualities of the wise investor, three are most necessary. They are:

1. Knowledge of fundamental conditions.
2. Knowledge of prices in relation to earnings.
3. Knowledge of prevailing prices as compared with those of the past.

FOREIGN INQUIRIES LARGE

Anticipation of Huge Tonnage for Shipbuilding Program Forces Producers Out of Plate Market.

The steel trade reports that the Government is pushing its program for buying materials in quantity, and purchases by the other Allies are being forwarded. Domestic consumers are feeling the effect of these contracts, as the mills are forced to hold back private orders until the extent of Government needs may be sized up. The Iron Age says:

"Progress is being made on the plans for united buying of steel and other metals by the Government and the Allies. In negotiating for 24,000 tons of wire rope, a portion of which goes to France, the Government has had the cooperation of wire mills, so that wire will be furnished the rope manufacturers as needed. As to prices on all further purchases of steel products, the Government policy is not definitely developed. A copper price of 24c to 25c, as now indicated, points to fairer prices for steel than those now paid for plates and shapes.

"Foreign inquiries for steel are still large, and have been for weeks, but few orders come from them, since the mills do not care to make deals which later Government requirements will upset. Large tinplate sales could be made, offers running as high as $12 per box, but there is doubt if shipments out of the country will long be permitted.

"The letting of contracts by the Shipping Board for a number of steel vessels has been followed promptly by inquiries for plates and shapes, and it is evidently the plan to have such steel provided directly by the Government. Thus far the Steel Corporation has taken the brunt of the Government's plate demands, and independent plate mills have been little interfered with in supplying their regular trade."

The Iron Trade Review says:

"As the Government's definite war demands for steel increase, the pinch on private consumption becomes more acute. Virtually all negotiations of an ordinary or commercial character are being weighed and analyzed more carefully as to their ultimate use. Rejections of business which does not meet the test are more numerous. Some producers are requiring a Government certificate from buyers before tonnage is being allotted them. Anticipation of the huge tonnage which the elaborate shipbuilding program of the Government will absorb as an urgent military measure has forced some of the largest producers completely out of the plate market."

CROP CONDITIONS ABROAD.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—A cablegram to the Bureau of Crop Estimates from the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome gives the condition on May 1 of growing cereals as good in Tunis, average in Spain, Netherlands and Algeria, and mediocre in France, Great Britain, Italy, and Switzerland.

The area sown in 1917 to wheat in Spain was 10,300,000 acres, or 105 per cent. of last year's area, and 106 per cent. of the average for the five years 1911-1915; in Switzerland, 128,000 acres, or 104 per cent. of last year's area, and 120 per cent. of the average for the five years 1911-1915; in India, 32,885,000 acres, or 109 per cent. of last year's area, and 108 per cent. of the average for the five years 1911-1915, and in Algeria, 3,141,000 acres, or 96 per cent. of last year's area, and 92 per cent. of the average for the five years 1911-1915.

The 1917 area of rye in Spain was 1,846,000 acres, or 100 per cent. of last year's area, and 97 per cent. of the average for the five years 1911-1915; and in Switzerland, 74,000 acres, or 105 per cent. of last year's area, and 122 per cent. of the average for the five years 1911-1915. The 1917 area of barley in Spain was 4,025,000 acres, or 93 per cent. of last's year's area, and 112 per cent. of the average for the five years 1911-1915, and in Algeria, 2,852,000 acres, or 95 per cent. of last year's area and 90 per cent. of the average for the five years 1911-1915. The 1917 area of oats in Spain was 1,416,000 acres, or 119 per cent. of last year's area, and 107 per cent. of the average for the five years 1911-1915; in Switzerland, 111,000 acres, or 108 per cent. of last year's area, and 133 per cent. of the average for the five years 1911-1915, and in Algeria, 524,000 acres, or 98 per cent. of last year's area, and 100 per cent. of the average for the five years 1911-1915.

GENERAL MOTORS SUIT OFF.

Stockholders of Company Approve Sale to Corporation.

Stockholders of the General Motors Company of New Jersey at a special meeting in Jersey City yesterday approved the transfer of the assets and business to the General Motors Corporation of Delaware, and decided also to retire the old company's preferred stock. Prior to the meeting an action begun some time ago by Jacob Mayer of New York to prevent the transfer was settled without the terms being made public. Mr. Mayer, the owner of 50 shares of General Motors Company preferred stock, opposed the transaction on the ground that the preferred stock owners would not be benefited by the change.

The Delaware corporation has total authorized capital stock amounting to $102,600,000. Holders of the old preferred receive 1½ shares of 6 per cent. preferred in the General Motors Corporation for each share of 7 per cent. stock owned. The old preferred to be retired is the stock which is not exchanged for new preferred.

COTTON IRREGULAR.

The Market Closes Barely Steady, Net 2 Points Higher to 11 Points Higher.

The cotton market yesterday was nervous and irregular. An early decline was followed by an advance to high levels for the movement, but the market broke again in the late trading and closed barely steady, net 2 points higher to 11 points lower. October contracts sold off to 20.54c, advanced to 20.84c and closed at 20.60c.

The market opened easy at an advance of 10 points to a decline of 3 points. There were overnight buying orders around the ring and the cables were relatively steady, but there was heavy realizing and prices soon eased off. Rumors that there was a German submarine off the New England coast, and expectations of a favorable weekly weather report promoted the tendency to take profits, while the extent of Tuesday's advance encouraged reactionary sentiment.

There was also talk of Southern selling here in the new crop months, and the decline carried prices about 8 to 15 points net lower. On this comparatively moderate reaction of 20 to 25 points from the high level of the opening, offerings tapered off, however, and when the weekly weather report failed to inspire fresh pressure, prices shot up on a renewal of bull support and covering. Active months sold 16 to 21 points net higher, making an advance of about 200 to 250 points from the low level of the month, during the middle of the afternoon. The other upward movement was then checked by renewed realizing, and the weekly statement of submarine losses seemed to inspire more active selling toward the close. At any rate, prices broke very sharply, and the last quotation showed a decline of some 20 to 28 points from the best.

The weekly report of the Weather Bureau indicated improved conditions in the Western belt, but mentioned many drawbacks east of the Mississippi River, and seemed a disappointment to some of the early sellers. The early afternoon advance was accompanied by renewed talk of low condition figures, but it was most generally attributed to the scarcity of contracts and a renewal of the buying movement which has been in progress since the middle of last week. Exports for the day were 20,812 bales, making 4,797,594 bales so far this season. Southern spot markets were unchanged to 62 points higher. The big advance was at New Orleans, where sales were reported of 4,577 bales.

Iron and Steel Institute Meets Here.

The American Iron and Steel Institute will hold the first session of its annual meeting at the Waldorf tomorrow morning. Elbert H. Gary, President, will deliver the opening address and afterward technical papers will be read. At night the annual banquet, which is expected to be attended by several hundred steel men from all parts of the country, will be held in the grand ballroom. The convention schedule for Saturday provides for sightseeing trips about the city for the greater part of the day.

COMMODITIES MARKETS

WHEAT.

The wheat market is gradually narrowing down under the course of liquidation, and as far as "futures" contracts are concerned trading has become of small proportions. Prices yesterday were easier, and at the close showed net losses of 4 to 5c. The cash position is a better indication of the wheat market at large. Even here there was a weaker tone, and prices in the different markets showed losses of anywhere from 1 to 10c. The daily cables from Liverpool indicated satisfactory conditions there regarding imports. With the American market less available for supplies efforts are apparently being made to move a larger volume of wheat from other countries, and it was said that shipments from both India and Australia have increased materially. Australia is also shipping wheat to America, and it is said that about 10,000,000 bushels are expected to arrive on the Pacific Coast. Rye—Market firmer; No. 2 Western, $2.50, cost, insurance, and freight, New York.

CORN.

The reports on the new corn acreage were of a most satisfactory nature. The Price Current said that the area may be 15,000,000 to 18,000,000 acres larger than last year, which would make it the largest ever planted. The Government Crop Bulletin said that the higher temperatures and generous rains produced conditions much more favorable to corn in the principal States, and that the work of planting and replanting was carried on rapidly. After an early decline of ⅝c to ¾c prices rallied on covering, and final quotations were ⅛c net higher for July and ¼c lower for September. In the local cash market No. 2 yellow corn was quoted at $1.82½, cash, insurance, and freight, New York.

OATS.

Sentiment in the oats market was quite evenly divided, and in consequence prices early in the day moved within a comparatively narrow range. The very flattering reports on the new crop, however, again caused selling and at the close the market was easy, with net losses of ½c to ⅞c. The local cash market was easier; standard quoted at 76½c; No. 2 white, 77½c nominal; No. 3 white, 76c; No. 4 white, 75½c; fancy clipped white, 79½@80½c; ordinary clipped white, 77@79c, all elevator.

PROVISIONS.

The provision market opened lower owing to foreign selling of lard and made further declines under offerings from commission houses and larger receipts, aggregating 120,000 at Western points. Packing for the week, according to The Price Current, was 500,000, against 608,000 last week and 642,000 a year ago. Chicago received 36,000 hogs, with 25,000 expected on Thursday. Kansas City had 13,000 hogs and Omaha 15,000.

COTTONSEED OIL.

The market for cottonseed oil was easier under scattered selling, partly for Western account and due to an early decline in the lard market. The cash demand was also said to be limited and buyers were disposed to be cautious. When lard rallied in the afternoon, however, there was a more active demand and prices developed firmness and closed 3 to 9 points net higher.

SUGAR.

The market for sugar futures was weak and lower again. The easier feeling in the spot market and the liberal offerings from Cuba led to renewed selling pressure in futures, and closing prices were 5 to 13 points net lower. There were rallies of several points at times on covering, but each rally brought renewed pressure and closing prices were at practically the lowest. Sales were 20,500 tons. Range of prices:

The market for refined sugar was steady and unchanged at 7.50c to 8.50c for fine granulated. There was a moderate inquiry reported for domestic account, but buyers generally were inclined to go slow, although some large export sales were said to have been made during the last week. There was no change in raw sugar prices, nor was there any business reported, but the undertone was easy. The close was barely steady at 4 15-16c for Cubas, cost and freight, equal to 5.96c for centrifugal and 5.08c for molasses.

COFFEE.

There was a little more business in the market for coffee futures yesterday, but a good part of the sales of 44,000 bags consisted of exchanges from July to December at 22 points. Reports that there had been a little cost and freight business late on Monday were followed by scattered trade selling at the opening, and first prices were 1 to 3 points lower. After selling at 8.30c for September, the price rallied to 8.33c, however, and there seemed to be little change in the general situation, with the market closing net 1 point lower to 2 points higher. The local spot market was dull and unchanged at 10⅝c for Rio 7s and 10½c for Santos 4s. Range of prices:

Acid Tests of Investments In War

Test No. 7

Is the property which secures your bonds, of a kind for which there is always a good market?

UNDER the Straus Plan we loan only on newly-improved property which earns an ample income, thus making the property itself a desirable purchase at all times.

WE offer, to net 5½%, first mortgage bonds secured by new property close to Park Avenue, in the heart of New York's best apartment building section, which if it could be purchased at the amount of the bond issue would net the purchaser 13%. The M Key to Sound Investing

Success In Investing

Ninety per cent of all investors in securities sooner or later lose a large portion of their capital. The reason for this is stated in a phrase: "Ignorance and Credulity."
Investors are ignorant because they almost invariably fail to inform themselves regarding elementary principles of judging or selecting securities.
Investors are credulous because the ignorant are always credulous. Nine out of ten investors will jump at a fairy tale, but remain unimpressed with facts.

First Mortgage Five Per Cent Gold Bonds
Rochester, Syracuse & Eastern Railroad Company
DUE MAY 1st, 1945

NOTICE

To the Holders of Certificates of Deposit of the First Mortgage Five Per Cent Gold Bonds of the Rochester, Syracuse and Eastern Railroad Company issued under and pursuant to the terms of the Bondholders' Protective Agreement, dated November 2d, 1915, between the holders of said bonds depositing the same under said agreement, and Arthur W. Loasby, Elbert A. Harvey and DeForest Settle, as a Committee:

A Plan and Agreement has been adopted by the Bondholders' Protective Committee, constituted and appointed by the agreement, dated November 2d, 1915, between said Committee and the holders of the First Mortgage, Five Per Cent Gold Bonds of the Rochester, Syracuse and Eastern Railroad Company, who have deposited bonds thereunder, and copies of said Plan and Agreement have been filed with the Old Colony Trust Company of Boston, Massachusetts, and the Trust and Deposit Company of Onondaga, in the City of Syracuse, New York, the depositaries named in said agreement.

Certificate Holders not dissenting from the Plan and Agreement in the manner provided in the Bondholders' Protective Agreement will be conclusively deemed to have assented thereto.

Holders of said bonds not having heretofore deposited their bonds under said Bondholders' Protective Agreement may participate in the Plan and Agreement only upon such terms as shall be fixed by the Committee.

Dated, May 18th, 1917.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE

Nearly 118,000 shares of United States Steel common were dealt in on the Consolidated Stock Exchange. The general market, which had been strong earlier, was reactionary toward the close, reflecting profit taking in volume. Commission houses handled a large business during the day, with the dealings in odd lots on a particularly broad scale. Seventy-five different stocks were represented in the transactions.

To the Holders of Seven Per Cent.
Cumulative Adjustment Mortgage Gold Bonds of

The Denver and Rio Grande Railroad Company

issued under the Mortgage dated May 1, 1912, to The New York Trust Company, as Trustee:

The District Court of the United States for the Southern District of New York having on May 17, 1917, directed judgment for more than $32,272,000 against The Denver and Rio Grande Railroad Company in favor of The Equitable Trust Company of New York, as Trustee of the mortgage securing the First Mortgage Five Per Cent. Thirty-year Gold Bonds of Western Pacific Railway Company, it is of the utmost importance that the holders of the Bonds above mentioned be in a position to take prompt and united action, if necessary, to protect their interest in the property and to conserve the assets of The Denver and Rio Grande Railroad Company applicable to the payment of the Bonds. To that end the undersigned have consented to act as a committee for the holders of the Bonds above mentioned, under a Deposit Agreement now in course of preparation which will shortly be lodged with The New York Trust Company as Depositary, of which due notice will be given by publication.

New York, May 22, 1917.

Expert Financier with $5000— Wanted.

For part ownership in me and my business. I am an organizer, salesman, and director, with unusual creative ability and initiative.

Without capital I have built up an ideal business, and now want to expand, in a large way.

Requiring, for this purpose, more capital than I now possess, am willing to share, with the right party only, the proceeds of a wonderfully remunerative business, about to be built up. $1,000 cash at once; balance monthly payments.

NOTICE OF SALE.

$245,000 SCHOOL BONDS OF THE TOWN OF MONTCLAIR, IN THE COUNTY OF ESSEX, N. J.

Sealed proposals will be received by the Board of Commissioners of the Town of Montclair, in the County of Essex, N. J., until May 29th, 1917, at 4 o'clock P. M., when they will be publicly opened for the purchase of $245,000 School Bonds of said Town. Said bonds will be dated May 1, 1917, will be 245 in number, numbered from 1 to 245 inclusive, of the denomination of $1,000.00 each, payable in order as numbered, eight of said bonds being payable on May 1, in each of the years 1918 to 1942 inclusive, and nine of said bonds on May 1 in each of the years 1943 to 1947 inclusive. Said bonds will bear interest at the rate of four and one-half per centum (4½%) per annum, payable semi-annually on the first days of May and November in each year. Both principal and interest of said bonds will be payable in gold coin of the United States of America of or equal to the present standard of weight and fineness, at the office of the Town Treasurer. Said bonds will be coupon bonds, with the privilege of registration as to principal only or of conversion into bonds registered as to both principal and interest.

The bonds will be sold at not less than face and accrued interest from the date of the bonds to the date of delivery. The right is reserved to reject any and all bids. Proposals should be addressed to Harry Trippett, Town Clerk, and enclosed in a sealed envelope marked on outside "Proposal for School Bonds," and must be accompanied by a certified check upon an incorporated bank or trust company to the order of the Town of Montclair in the sum of $4,900. Checks of unsuccessful bidders will be returned upon the awards of the bonds. No interest will be allowed upon the check of the successful bidder, and such check will be retained and applied in part payment for the bonds, or in case of failure to take up and pay for the bonds in accordance with the terms of the proposal, will be applied on account of the damages thereby incurred.

The bonds will be prepared under the supervision of United States Mortgage and Trust Company, which will certify as to the genuineness of the signatures of the Town officials and the seal impressed thereon.

The successful bidder will be furnished with the opinion of Messrs. Hawkins, Delafield & Longfellow, Attorneys of New York City, that the bonds are binding and legal obligations of the Town.

The Town of Montclair, in the County of Essex.
By HARRY TRIPPETT,
Town Clerk.

PROPOSALS.

NOTICE OF SALE OF $160,000 ASSESSMENT BONDS OF THE TOWN OF MONTCLAIR, IN THE COUNTY OF ESSEX, NEW JERSEY.

Sealed proposals will be received by the Board of Commissioners of the Town of Montclair, in the County of Essex, at Town Hall, Montclair, N. J., on the 5th day of June, 1917, at four o'clock P. M., for the purchase of Assessment Bonds of said Town in an aggregate amount not exceeding $160,000, of the denomination of One Thousand Dollars ($1,000) each, of which $16,000, in principal amount, will mature in each year from 1918 to 1927, inclusive. Said bonds will bear interest at the rate of 4½ per centum per annum. Said bonds will be coupon bonds, registerable at the option of the holder, either as to principal only or as to both principal and interest.

The amount necessary to be raised at said sale is $160,000. Unless all bids are rejected, said bonds will be sold to the bidder or bidders complying with the terms of sale and offering to pay not less than $160,000, and to take therefor the least amount of bonds offered, commencing with the first maturity, and if two or more bidders offer to take the same amount of said bonds, then to the bidder or bidders offering to pay therefor the highest additional price. No more bonds will be sold than will produce the sum of $160,000 and an additional sum of less than $1,000.

The right is reserved to reject all bids, and any bids not complying with the provisions of this notice will be rejected. All bidders are required to deposit a certified check for two per centum (2%) of the amount of bonds bid for, drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company to the order of the Town of Montclair, to secure the municipality against any loss resulting from the failure of the bidder to comply with the terms of his bid. Checks of unsuccessful bidders will be returned upon the award of the bonds. No interest will be allowed on the amount of the check of a successful bidder.

The successful bidder, or bidders, will be furnished with the opinion of Messrs. Hawkins, Delafield & Longfellow, attorneys of New York City, that the bonds are binding and legal obligations of the Town of Montclair, in the County of Essex.

The bonds will be prepared under the supervision of the United States Mortgage and Trust Company of New York City, which will certify as to the genuineness of the signatures of the Town officials and of the seal impressed thereon.

By order of the Board of Commissioners of the Town of Montclair, in the County of Essex.

HARRY TRIPPETT,
Town Clerk.

Dated May 8th, 1917.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

CITY OF NEW YORK.
BOARD OF ESTIMATE AND APPORTIONMENT.

Public notice is hereby given that at a meeting of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, held April 20, 1917, the following petition was received:

TO THE HONORABLE THE BOARD OF ESTIMATE AND APPORTIONMENT OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

The amended petition of the Fifth Avenue Coach Company respectfully shows:—

I. That the petitioner is a domestic common carrier corporation duly organized to own, operate, manage and control a line of passenger stages or omnibuses for the transportation of passengers for hire.

II. That the post office address of the petitioner is No. 10 East 102nd Street, Borough of Manhattan, City, County, and State of New York.

III. That the petitioner now owns and operates lawfully established stage routes as set forth at length in its applications filed with your Honorable Board on the following dates, to wit: June 5, 1913, and March 21, 1914, said applications constituting public records in the premises and reference thereto is prayed as fully as if here set forth at length.

IV. That for the purpose of establishing, maintaining, and operating stage and omnibus routes for public use in the conveyance and transportation of persons and property for compensation, your petitioner desires to obtain from your Honorable Board and hereby respectfully applies for a grant of the right, privilege and franchise for the establishment, maintenance and operation by your petitioner of stage and omnibus routes for public use in the conveyance and transportation of persons and property for compensation, upon and along and over the surface of streets, avenues, highways, bridges, approaches and public places in the Borough of Manhattan of the City of New York, of which a description is hereto attached and hereby made part hereof. It is designated as "Schedule A."

This petition is amendatory of the petitions heretofore filed with your Honorable Board upon the dates, to wit:—June 5, 1913, March 21, 1914, and November 1, 1915, upon which public hearings have been duly held.

Dated, New York, March 29, 1917.

STRAIN IS TELLING ON SUNDAY'S VOICE

But "I've Got Napoleon Backed Off the Boards," Says Evangelist of His Sleeping.

NEED $50,000 FOR EXPENSES

Receipts at the Tabernacle So Far Are Only Half Enough for the Campaign.

"The most stupendous, gigantic folly that ever entered the mind of a man or woman is the supposition that it pays to do wrong," said Billy Sunday last night in the Tabernacle. His text was "Be sure your sin will find you out."

Sunday's voice is beginning to show some effects of the strain of six weeks' speaking in the big auditorium. He declared he would not know what to do if he lost his voice, because he was unfitted for any other kind of work. But his general health, he added, was never better.

"I work harder and sleep less than any other man," asserted the evangelist before beginning his sermon. "I believe they said Napoleon got only four hours of sleep. Well, I've got Napoleon backed off the boards."

In the course of his evening sermon Sunday said the only failure man could make in this world was a moral failure—the wages of sin.

"Sin is the one thing in the universe which can permanently damage a man and eternally damn him," continued the evangelist. "At the least, your good name or your character must pay the price. No man or woman can escape from his or her sins. Every sin you have ever committed or ever will commit will bring you to account and you will have to pay for it."

Sunday told stories of conversions brought about by his preaching, of thieves reformed and repentant robbers returning stolen property. Following a personal appeal for the continuation of his work here after the campaign closes Sunday made this reference to his future:

"I sometimes wonder how long I may be permitted to go on in this work. Five years? Yes, possibly. Ten years? Well, probably. Fifteen years? No. I don't expect to be preaching fifteen years from now. But I am ready for whatever is ahead of me. I am not worrying about the future. That is what it means to be a Christian."

In his criticism of individuals, places, or organizations Sunday said he did not want it understood that he was condemning everything and everybody for the evils or the faults of some.

"That is true of New York and of her people as of any other city and people," said he. "New York is one of the cleanest large cities I ever saw. It is a marvel how you do it. A great big town like this makes me wonder as I look and try to realize all that it means."

On the platform with Sunday last night were Judge Elbert H. Gary and Mrs. Gary, who were accompanied by a number of friends. Large delegations were in the audience from the Chatham and Phenix National Bank, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, and the Church of the Puritans. There were 1,538 trail hitters at the two meetings.

It was learned yesterday that the expense of the "trail-hitting campaign" here approximates $100,000 thus far, while the receipts were half of that amount. Arthur M. Harris, urging greater liberality in contributions, announced that $50,000 is required to pay all expenses.

In Sunday's words, he jabbed the verbal "harpoon of righteousness" into the subject of Salome's dance and "woman's hate" during the course of his afternoon sermon based on the Biblical story of Herodias, whom he depicted as a character similar to the modern tango pirate in arranging dances for evil purposes. Sunday scored the "booze" supper that formed part of the celebration of Herodias, which he said "flowed as freely then as in some revels in New York today." The difference between hate and love was compared by Sunday to the sequel of the beheading of John the Baptist to satisfy the revenge of a woman.

Mrs. Sunday continues to gain strength, and her physicians are confident of her speedy recovery. Her daughter, Mrs. Helen Haines, and Billy Sunday visited her at the sanitarium yesterday. Lieut. Gen. Bridges and Major H. S. Clay of the British Military Commission sent a bouquet of flowers to Mrs. Sunday, with a note expressing sympathy and best wishes.

Sunday will address the students and faculty of the College of the City of New York at the last student assembly of the term in the Great Hall of the college at noon today. President Mezes will award student council insignia to deserving students. Sidney M. Wittner, President of the Council, will also speak.

SHARK STEAK IN FOOD SHOW

Museum Opens Exhibition—Bounties for Farm Work Suggested.

An exhibition of the latest researches in food values and economies was opened at the American Museum of Natural History yesterday. It was announced that members of the museum staff had tried shark meat and found it tasty. A shark steak was shown ready to be cooked. Dried vegetables were also exhibited, and there were illustrations of the extravagance of buying in small quantities.

A meeting at the Museum in the evening inaugurated the exhibition. Dr. Graham Lusk, Professor of Physiology at Cornell University, in a paper upon "Food for Our Allies and Ourselves," suggested the paying of bounties to men who enlisted for work on farms as bounties were paid to soldiers in the civil war. George W. Perkins, Hermann M. Biggs, and Walter B. James were other speakers. The President of the Museum, Henry Fairfield Osborn, presided.

PRAISES WAR IN SERMON.

Patriotism Marks General Theological Baccalaureate.

Praise for "young Americans who think it their duty 'to make the world safe for democracy'" was given last night by the Right Rev. Charles Fiske, Bishop Coadjutor General of Central New York, in his baccalaureate sermon to the thirty-five members of the graduating class of the General Theological Seminary. Telling how fifteen men from the seminary had already enlisted or gone to France to do ambulance work, the Bishop praised the President and urged all to support him. Flags were draped in all corners of the chapel where the Bishop made his address.

It was not necessary for those in the ministry or those studying for it to display their love of country by enlisting as soldiers, he said, because their work could be done in other ways that required as much courage as did the life of the soldier.

DR. WAITE WRITES POETRY.

Special to The New York Times.

OSSINING, May 23.—Dr. Arthur Warren Waite, who is to be executed tomorrow night, spent today humming tunes, writing poems, and talking to his brother and a clergyman.

The young dentist who killed his father-in-law and mother-in-law has spent the time since he came to the death house in writing. Dr. A. N. Peterson, the Presbyterian chaplain of the prison, who is attending Waite in his cell, will accompany him to the electric chair. All the arrangements have been completed for the execution.

CLARK ANTIQUES, $18,485.

C. T. Ulrich Pays $520 for a Set of English Windsor Arm Chairs.

At the sale of antiques and early English and American furniture collected by Thomas B. Clarke and others, at the American Art Galleries yesterday afternoon, returns were $12,245, making a grand total to date of $18,485. C. T. Ulrich paid some of the higher prices of the sale, a set of English Windsor double-tier arm chairs going to him, among other things, for $520. A pair of similar chairs with bandy legs and Dutch feet went to Mr. Ulrich for $190, and he paid $310 for an English oak draw-top table.

An English mantle mirror with carved wooden frame and elaborate cresting with bird figures on either side of an urn holding flowers, went to Frank Partridge for $225; James paid $270 for a set of six English Windsor side chairs, and $200 for a round Chippendale drop-leaf table of mahogany with cabriole legs carved with the shell pattern in relief, and claw feet. An eighteenth century tall clock of walnut and mahogany with brass works and face marked "Thomson, Chester," went to Bernet, agent, for $300, and a set of four American Windsor arm chairs to J. H. Colbert for $140.

An American highboy of maple went to T. Shelley for $180; Lorenz, agent, paid $200 for an American Windsor long bench with back, and J. L. Bruce $320 for an English oak trencher table cut with the initials of school boys and dating about 1650.

This afternoon the sale will be concluded with a lot of Eastern tiles and plaques, Chinese porcelains, wood carvings, prints, and lithographs.

WOMEN TO TAKE CENSUS.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., May 23.—The Westchester County Commission of General Safety announced today that 15,000 women had volunteered their services to take the military census in Westchester County from June 11 to 25.

The enumeration work in the county is to be done through the Westchester Branch of the New York State Woman's Suffrage Party with the co-operation of volunteers and under the personal direction of Mrs. William Belknap of Oscawana. The task is a large one for the suffragists, as more than 200,000 people will have to be enrolled.

A number of wealthy women have offered their automobiles to the workers who have to cover the farming districts in the northern part of the county.

MARIE DRESSLER SUED.

Alice Neilson and Grace Filkins Go to Court Over Stock Deal.

Marie Dressler, actress, and her husband, James H. Dalton, were sued in the Supreme Court yesterday for $4,500 by Miss Alice Neilson, operatic soprano, and for $1,800 by Grace Filkins, wife of Rear Admiral Marix, U. S. N., retired, on the ground that they induced the plaintiffs to buy worthless stock by representing that the corporations issuing the stock promised large returns. Miss Neilson bought 9,000 $10 shares of the Ulida Copper Company of California and Miss Filkins took 200 shares of the Federal Primer Company, which she alleged was represented as having large war orders. They bought the stock in 1915.

Miss Dressler and her husband denied that they knew that the stock bought by the plaintiffs was worthless.

W. P. Kingsley Marries.

The marriage of Miss Virginia Pulleyn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Joseph Pulleyn, and Walton Pearl Kingsley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Darwin P. Kingsley, took place yesterday afternoon at 3:30, at the home of the bride's parents, 302 West 107th Street. The Rev. Father McSorley officiated.

Mr. Kingsley's father is President of the New York Life Insurance Company.

THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

One of the largest of the many recent residence sales in the upper Fifth Avenue home section was closed yesterday in the sale of the city residence of the late James J. Hill, President of the Great Northern Railroad and other interests. The house is at 8 East Sixty-fifth Street, a few doors east of Fifth Avenue, covering a plot forty-three feet front by 100.5 deep.

It was sold by the United Security Company, the holding corporation of the Hill property of which his son, Lewis N. Hill is President. The house and land were held at $600,000. The deal was closed through Douglas L. Elliman & Co.

The house was built about twelve years ago by Mrs. William H. Bliss and two years later it was purchased by Mr. Hill. Mrs. Bliss, deeming the house too large for her use, purchased at that time the two adjoining plots at 4 and 6 East Sixty-fifth Street and 635 Fifth Avenue, abutting the Sixty-fifth Street plot. She then sold the avenue property with a restriction on the rear of the lot to protect the light of the street house and erected her own residence at No. 6, which she now occupies. A house was also built on the 4 East Sixty-fifth Street plot, leaving the rear vacant, and this was sold by Mrs. Bliss to Alfred Wagstaff.

Shortly after Mr. Hill bought the large Sixty-fifth Street dwelling he acquired the former Duncan house in the rear at 7 and 9 East Sixty-fourth Street, tearing down the house with the intention of erecting an art gallery. It was not done and the plot, seventy feet front, still remains vacant. Mr. Hill also bought the adjoining plot at 10 East Sixty-fifth Street and rebuilt the house for his daughter, Mrs. Michael Gavin.

Buy Site for New West Side Warehouse.

As a site for a ten-story warehouse the H. M. Weill Company, sold for Jane C. Long, 257 and 259 West Fifty-second Street, for George Bascomb 261 and 263 West Fifty-second Street, and 256 to 258, 260 and 262 West Fifty-third Street, to the Forster Realty Company, John C. Forster, President.

Ground will be broken for the new structure at once. It has been leased from the plans for a long term of years to William Wenzel, who was connected for forty years with the Haeger Storage Warehouse Company, formerly Thirty-third and Thirty-fourth Street and Eighth Avenue, New York City.

Brewery Buildings Sold for Movie Studio.

The former Clausen-Flanagan brewery buildings at 303 to 323 East Forty-seventh Street, northeast corner of Second Avenue, have been purchased by J. W. Mahan from the brewing company for conversion into a moving picture studio. The property has a frontage of 100.5 feet on Second Avenue by 350 feet on Forty-seventh Street. It is now covered with twelve old buildings, which will be remodeled by Mr. Mahan into a one-story moving picture studio. A short time ago Mr. Mahan bought the abutting studio building at 318 to 322 East Forty-seventh Street, which he leased to Norma Talmate.

Operators Buy the Meick Building.

The estate of Samuel Hirsch sold to Fisher & Irving I. Lewine, operators, the Meick Building, an eight-story commercial structure on a Sailors' Snug Harbor leasehold, at the southeast corner of University Place and Eighth Street.

The structure, which was built about sixteen years ago, occupies a plot 75.2 by 118 feet. William S. Bahm negotiated the sale.

Resale on Amsterdam Avenue.

The vacant lot, 25 by 100 feet, on the west side of Amsterdam Avenue, 99.11 feet south of 189th Street, has been resold by the Bond and Mortgage Guarantee Company to Milton See. The property was taken over in foreclosure proceedings last month.

Tenement Deals.

The Bond and Mortgage Guarantee Company sold to an investing client of Harry Sugarman, 1,489 Amsterdam Avenue, a five-story tenement with stores, on a lot 25 by 100.

The Farles Realties, Inc., bought 144 and 146 West Nineteenth Street, two four-story tenements, 44 by 93.6 by irregular, which were sold on Jan. 19 at foreclosure, to the Wentworth Realty Company, a party in interest, for $68,500 in a suit brought by A. H. Levy against the Charles I. Weinstein Realty Company. The M. Morgenthau, Jr., Company has secured a first mortgage of $45,000 at 5 per cent. for five years.

Buyers for Private Dwellings.

Smith & Mitchell sold for Richard Kuno the private dwelling, 109 West 130th Street, on a lot 20 by 100, to I. V. Kohen.

The Andrew Little estate sold 249 East Fiftieth Street, a three-story and basement dwelling, on a lot 18.6 by 100.5, for $8,500, to George Geffers, who owns the similar house at 247, adjoining.

Harry Sugarman sold for the Ambeck Realty Company 251 West 127th Street, near Seventh Avenue, a three-story private residence, on a lot 17.2x100.

Bronx Sales.

N. Morrison sold for N. Benenson a four-story apartment house at 2,304 Beaumont Avenue to a client for investment.

Herman Knepper purchased for a client from Isidor Silver and Isidore Strauss 1,776 Bathgate Avenue, a three-story and basement dwelling, on a lot 25 by 100.

Isaac Stangarty bought from Scheindel Bucksdorf 743 Kelly Street, a two-story dwelling, on a lot 25 by 100, near 156th Street.

The northwest corner of 192d Street and Jerome Avenue, acquired by the Lawyers Title and Trust Company in foreclosure, was immediately resold to Aaron Miller. William S. Baker negotiated the sale.

Brooklyn.

Ernest A. Howard sold 97 Sixth Avenue, corner Prospect Place, a three-story and basement brownstone dwelling, for the Otterson estate to a client, who will occupy after extensive alterations are made.

Staten Island.

W. S. E. Hall sold for Mrs. Clemence C. Van Romondt of Manhattan a dwelling on Manor Road and Kingsley Avenue, Westerleigh, Staten Island, to William J. Quinlin, Jr.

Westchester County.

Butler & Baldwin sold for Marie Fudji, to the Feature Film Corporation, the property, 786 to 790 McLean Avenue, Yonkers. The purchaser intends to alter the building for manufacturing purposes.

Griffen, Prince & Ripley sold for Oliver M. Oake the residence in course of construction at Cedar Knolls, Bronxville, to Mrs. Beatrice Maseey, formerly of Detroit, Mich.

George Howe sold a plot of ground in Van Cortlandt Crest, Yonkers, to Mrs. Lucy R. Cautley, who will build a bungalow for her occupancy. The same broker also sold a house on West Brookside Drive, Larchmont Gardens, Larchmont, to Mr. and Mrs. McDonough, who will occupy.

Manhattan and Bronx Properties at Auction.

Joseph P. Day will offer at public auction, at noon today, in the Vesey Street Salesroom, to close several estates, the hotel at the northwest corner of Irving Place and Fifteenth Street, 40.6 by 80; two buildings, 67 and 69 Lexington Avenue, 39.7 by 100; two business buildings, 12 and 14 Union Square; as well as two large Bronx waterfront sites, with frontage on East River; two Bronx manufacturing sites, each covering block front, and fifty building lots in the lower East Bronx, along the line of the new Southern Boulevard extension.

Commercial Leases.

Cross & Brown Company leased for the O. B. Potter Properties the four-story and basement building 239 and 241 West Fifty-sixth Street, 80 by 100, to the United Motors Service Company for a term of years.

James Slater leased the building 102 West Twenty-ninth Street, city, to a client of Charles G. Keller for a long term of years. Alterations will be made at once converting the ground floor and second floor into a store and loft for business purposes.

Henry Hof leased the store and basement at premises 204 East Thirty-fifth Street to Joseph & Adler for Seligman Hannau for a term of years.

Realty Notes.

Plans have been filed for a two-story garage on the northeast corner of First Avenue and Sixty-second Street, 71.7 by 131.6, for L. Schumacher. The architect, A. Steinart, places the cost at $35,000.

The Almy Realty Corporation has been incorporated at Albany with a capital of $2,100,000. The Directors are connected with the law firm of Joline, Larkin & Rathbone, who filed the corporation papers.

Louis Markel has closed the deal for the leasing of the eight-story Hotel Roland at 56 East Fifty-ninth Street from the estate of Roland Jones. The lease is for fifteen years at an aggregate rental of about $500,000, and was negotiated by Lakin & Dinkelspiel. Extensive alterations will be made to the structure.

John Crawford was associated with Kenneth Ives & Co. in the sale of the sixty-acre property at Fairfield, Conn., known as Spring Farm, for Mrs. Henry Tobin to Joseph F. Feder.

Automobile, Shipbuilding and Railroad Interests

Engineers, Machinists, Allied Industries and Their Employees

When the war started three years ago nobody wanted U. S. Steel at $40 per share; nobody could see its value.

Today it is selling at $127 a share, paying extra dividends, and everybody wishes he had bought it.

You are bound to have tremendous prosperity during the coming years.

The most dangerous period in the life of an individual, a corporation or institution is when it is prosperous. It is then that one is apt to make mistakes because one "knows it all."

Nobody wants Real Estate now. In three years from now everybody will probably want it, and pay big prices for it.

Put aside now in Real Estate some of your profits. Property along the new White Plains Extension of the Subway is a safe, conservative investment; it cannot get away from you, you control it and you know as times goes on it is bound to increase in value—the same as it always has along new subway lines.

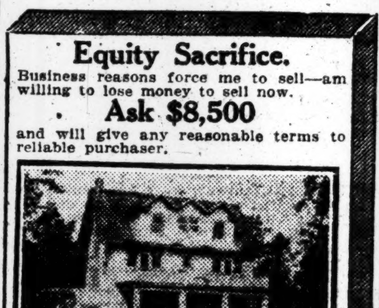
Ask $8,500

and will give any reasonable terms to reliable purchaser.



Is in parklike surroundings, high in hills, but not isolated; good neighbors, refined people. Fine public schools and churches are nearby. Excellent commuting service to N. Y. City, with express stations. You could not find a more charming home; has particularly well planned interior, no lost space; has 10 large rooms, two baths; the grounds are 100 by 165 feet, with sweeping views of sparkling lakes. There is a big living room with old fashioned open fireplace and every city convenience. There are two golf clubs, also a country club. You could make no mistake in purchasing this home, and the price I ask is about the cost of the house alone. Telephone me Cort.—1523, or address

THE WEATHER

WASHINGTON, May 23.—The western disturbance is now central a short distance south of James's Bay, but a moderate secondary disturbance that appeared Wednesday morning over Southeastern Pennsylvania is central tonight off Nantucket and moving northeastward.

Only normal pressure prevails over the Central West, while in the Far West it is quite low, with a principal centre of disturbance over Western Colorado.

Rains were general in the Atlantic States, the lower lake region, and the upper Ohio Valley, and snow was quite general in Michigan. Elsewhere east of the Rocky Mountains the weather was fair, but scattered rains continued over interior districts to the westward, except in Arizona.

It is much cooler in Virginia, the Carolinas, and Georgia, the interior of the East Gulf States, and portions of the lower lake region, and lower temperatures continue in the great central valleys and the upper lake region and over the territory west of the Rocky Mountains.

Frosts were general Wednesday morning in the upper Mississippi and Missouri Valleys and North Dakota.

Rain will fall Thursday in Maine and snow Thursday morning in Northeastern Michigan. Otherwise fair weather will prevail Thursday and Friday east of the Mississippi River, although with increasing cloudiness Friday in the Lower Ohio Valley.

It will be somewhat warmer Thursday and Friday in the upper Lake and west lower Lake region, the Ohio Valley, Tennessee, and the east Gulf States and warmer Friday in the east lower Lake region and the Atlantic States.

Storm warnings are displayed on the Atlantic Coast from Sandy Hook to Eastport, and on the Lakes from Buffalo to Oswego.

FORECASTS:—TODAY AND FRIDAY.

Eastern New York, Southern New England, and New Jersey—Fair Thursday and Friday.

Western New York—Cloudy Thursday; Friday fair, warmer.

Eastern Pennsylvania—Fair Thursday; Friday fair, warmer.

The temperature record for the twenty-four hours ended at 11 P. M., taken from the thermometer at the local office of the United States Weather Bureau, is as follows:

To Assistant Engineer, Grade D.—Fire Department, Bureau of Fire Prevention, Manhattan, Bronx, and Richmond: Benjamin Ascher, 83.87; Jacob Jacobson, 80.11; Herman F. Ford, 79.78. Bureau of Fire Extinguishment, Manhattan, Bronx, and Richmond: Joseph M. Story, 82.40.

United States.

The commission announces for May 29 an examination for income tax deputy collector, inspector, and agent, for men only. Approximately 700 vacancies in the Internal Revenue Service, Treasury Department, for duty in the field, at entrance salaries ranging from $1,400 to $1,600 or over per annum, with necessary traveling expenses when absent from headquarters in the discharge of official duties, will be filled from this examination. Salaries higher than $1,600 may be paid to persons who in the oral examination indicate special and peculiar fitness. There is opportunity for promotion to a salary of $5, $6, or $7 a day, with an allowance in lieu of subsistence of $3 a day and actual traveling expenses. The principal duties will be the verification, by actual inspection and examination of records, of financial statements submitted by individuals and corporations as required by the Federal Income Tax law of Oct. 3, 1913. At any time after appointment to these positions employes must be willing to report for duty at any part of the United States as the Commissioner of Internal Revenue shall direct, traveling expenses being allowed for such purpose. Under the law traveling expenses are not allowed, however, from the appointee's home to the place of his first assignment. Competitors will not be required to report for written examination at any place, but will be rated on education and experience. Applicants must have reached their twenty-fifth birthday on the date of the examination. An oral test will be given to determine personal characteristics of address, tact, judgment, adaptability, and general fitness for the performance of the duties of the position. Further information may be obtained from the commission, Washington, D. C.

Education Notes.

The following teachers have been transferred from P. S. 59, Brooklyn, to P. S. 54: Caroline F. Zaengle, Jennie M. Bedell, Mary A. McCaffrey, Katherine M. Kamps, Daisy B. Gill, Caroline M. Broderick, Irene V. Larkin, Lillian C. Van Wickel, Lucy S. Taplin, and Marguerite Kennedy, as teachers of a crippled class, and Esther N. Mulford.

On the evenings of May 25 and 26, in the school auditorium, the Sheridan Dramatic Society of the Bushwick High School will perform "What Happened to Jones," a farce in three acts by George Broadhurst. The scenery has been specially constructed for the occasion by the Manual Training Department, and many of the costumes were sewed by the girls in school. The proceeds of the first performance will go to the Students' Aid Fund, which relieves cases of distress in the school. The profits of the second performance will help purchase uniforms for the Bushwick Military Company.

An exhibition of all the different kinds of work taught in the manual training schools and kindergartens connected with Trinity Parish will be held on July 25 and 26 at Trinity Chapel School, 13 West Twenty-fifth Street. The exhibition will be open from 2 to 6 P. M. and from 8 to 10 P. M.

Permission has been granted to the Principals of P. S. 39, Boys, Manhattan, and 81, Brooklyn, to establish dental clinics.

Milton L. Bernstein, a teacher in P. S. 158, Manhattan, has been fined five days' pay for violating the by-law prohibiting corporal punishment.

Kindergarten classes will be established in P. S. 78, Brooklyn, and in the White Door Settlement, 211 Clinton Street, Manhattan.

Permission has been granted to William Rabemont, Principal of P. S. 55, the Bronx, to visit the schools at Gary, Ind., without loss of pay, his expenses to be paid by the Board of Education.

The sum of $9,270 will be apportioned to organize seven Summer evening schools for the teaching of English to foreigners during this Summer.

CAPITAL EXPECTS BRAZIL IN WAR

Declaration of Hostilities Against Germany Regarded as a Question Merely of Days.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Brazil's entry into the war is regarded here as a question merely of days. Those who have watched South American developments closely believe that the sinking of the steamer Tijuca may provide the incident required to place the more pacific members of the Brazilian Congress in the list of those willing to vote for active hostilities against Germany.

President Braz asked Congress yesterday to revoke the declaration of neutrality, and, if Congress accepts his suggestion, a formal declaration of war probably will follow immediately. Brazil was one of the first South American countries to sever relations with Germany.

The text of the President's message emphasizing Brazil's traditional policy of continental solidarity and friendship for the United States was received by cable today at the State Department, and at the Brazilian Embassy. The Embassy translation follows:

"In my message of the 3d of this month I stated that by decree of April 25, Brazil declared its neutrality in the war between the United States of America and the Government of the German Empire. This I did, although the diplomatic and commercial relations with Germany had been suspended under the rule until then admitted and in obedience to the decree of Aug. 4, 1914, that embodies the principles of two conventions signed by Brazil at The Hague and referring to the rights and duties of nations and persons neutral. Only I have not used in that document the expressions commonly employed in similar acts, and simply ordered that the authorities should observe the rules of neutrality until they receive contrary orders.

"The Government could not go further, but the Brazilian nation, through her legislative organ, without warlike intention, but with firmness, may take in consideration the fact that one of the belligerents is an integral part of the American continent, and to that belligerent we are united by a traditional friendship and the same political thought for the defense of vital interests in America and the principles accepted in international law.

"Such has always been the attitude of Brazil in similar cases. The republic maintains itself faithful to its traditions in external politics, and cannot repudiate today the thoughts that inspired the note of protest of the Empire of Brazil on May 15, 1866, when a European fleet bombarded a city in South America. Already at that time we thought that the nations of the continent, whose wealth and population are mostly on their extended and undefended seacoasts, are more interested than others in the maintenance of the dictates of modern civilization that constitute their principal and more efficient protection.

"Accentuating in sum that this policy of continental solidarity is not the policy of the present Government nor of the present régime, but the traditional policy of the Brazilian nation, I submit the matter to the judgment of the National Congress and feel sure that whatever resolution is adopted it will make still firmer the understanding that fortunately exists between Brazil and the United States."

LINES APPLY FOR 2-CENT TRANSFERS

Shonts Says Company Cannot Pay Dividends Nor Even Full Interest.

B. R. T. REVENUES FALLING

Six-Cent Fare Plan Is Dropped as Roads Unite in Application for More Revenue.

Formal applications for authority to charge 2 cents for first transfers were filed with the Public Service Commission yesterday by all of the companies operating surface railroad lines in Manhattan, Brooklyn, and Queens, with the exception of the Third and Second Avenue lines in this borough. The latter will probably file their applications within the next few days. Reasons for the applications were practically the same, large increases in wages and the cost of material being two of the features.

The application of the New York Railways Company, which operates nearly all of the lines in this borough, was prepared by J. L. Quackenbush, counsel for the company, and was signed by T. P. Shonts, the President. It fixed the value of the whole property at $109,206,000, but the company was willing to accept the valuation of the commission made in October, 1910, $85,801,000, plus $3,199,000 worth of improvements made since that date. On this valuation, the application said, the annual average return for five years ended Dec. 31, 1916, was equivalent only to 4.23 per cent. and added that "such a return is insufficient and unreasonable."

It was further set forth that the company had stock of the par value of $17,495,060 outstanding, while the Guaranty Trust Company held a first real estate and refunding mortgage to secure the issue of thirty-year 4 per cent. gold bonds of the value of $18,069,947, all of which were outstanding. In addition the Farmers Loan and Trust Company held an adjustment mortgage to secure an issue of thirty-year 5 per cent. income gold bonds, of which $30,625,977 were outstanding. Besides these liabilities the company was responsible for outstanding bonds of the value of $9,850,000 and of other liabilities of smaller amounts.

The company said that it had "never paid a dividend on it capital, nor has its income in any calendar year been sufficient to pay the full 5 per cent. interest on the adjustment income bonds." The actual return for the year ended Dec. 31 last, "or true net income from operation," was $2,431,416.98. This total was obtained, it was explained, by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources only operating expenses and taxes, and without deducting the rents paid for leases, interest on funded debt, or other fixed charges.

Could Not Pay Interest.

For the five years ended Dec. 31 last the annual average return, or true net income, from operation, was $3,766,814.64. If the return had been sufficient to permit payment of interest at the full rate of 5 per cent. on the adjustment bonds, in addition to operating expenses and other fixed charges, the company explained, the income would have been $4,433,323.09. And if it had been sufficient to pay also 6 per cent. on the outstanding stock it would have been $5,480,626.69.

The company said that for the nine months ended March 31, 1917, the net income was insufficient to pay any interest on its adjustment income bonds, and was also insufficient to pay the interest due and to become due upon the outstanding first real estate and refunding 4 per cent. mortgage bonds. During the nine months this deficiency amounted to $464,271.44.

The total number of passengers carried by the system for the year ended Dec. 31, 1916, was 335,752,271. Of this number 15,184,304 were revenue passengers, or "those for whose transportation petitioner received some measure of compensation because of joint rate arrangements with other carriers, and 92,466,233 were full transfer passengers." During the four years ended Dec. 31 the annual average total number of passengers carried was 371,266,155. Of these 13,906,081 were revenue transfer passengers and 106,315,339 were "free transfer passengers."

"A charge of 2 cents," the application said, "for the first transfer taken under the existing transfer system, (with the right to subsequent re-transfers without charge, as at present,) would probably furnish sufficient additional revenue to enable the company to meet its fixed interest charges and thereby avoid the disintegration of the consolidated railroad."

The average fare received is said to be 3.53 cents, as against 3.49 cents for the four previous years. The company said it should receive at least 7 per cent. on its investment and an addition of 1 per cent. for surplus and contingencies, and that on the commission's valuation of the property the return should not be less than $7,120,000, or 8 per cent. on $89,000,000.

The application in behalf of the Brooklyn lines was submitted by T. S. Williams, President of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company. It is slightly different from the others in the matter of displaying a willingness on the part of the company to give transfers for a continuous trip to passengers between their homes and their business, but not for trips across town, a system which was described as an "abuse." By order of the Public Service Commission the company has been compelled to extend its transfer privileges in many directions and a curtailment of these privileges is asked for if authority to charge 2 cents for transfers is denied.

Free Rides Are Blamed.

"During the three fiscal years preceding July 1, 1914," the company's application said, "the average annual increase in passenger revenue of the companies affected was $634,796. During the three years following the average annual increase, (with May and June of the current year estimated,) has been only $119,826, an average yearly decrease in growth of $514,970. The normal addition to population should have produced an increase of revenue of about 6 per cent. a year. The actual increase has been less than 1 per cent."

Figures submitted showed that the number of passengers had increased from 484,365,009 in 1913 to 516,365,587 in 1916, or more than 32,000,000. In 1913 the average fare per passenger was 3.82 cents, and in 1916 it was 3.28 cents.

"The explanation of these adverse results," said the company, "is found, of course, in the vastly increased free rides represented by transfer passengers. In 1913 the number of transfers received was 146,776,347; in 1916 it was 168,175,299, and in 1917 (May and June estimated) it will be at least 173,000,000. Under the present order of the commission transfer passengers are increasing at the rate of over 8,000,000 a year and cash passengers are barely increasing at all."

Lack of increase in paying passengers is attributed in part to the new subways and elevated lines, but the company says that the real reason for the decrease in cash returns is the free transfers. On the entire Brooklyn Rapid Transit system, the application said, wages during the calendar year of 1916 cost $659,000 more than in the previous year, when they were also high; power cost $243,000 more, maintenance $182,390, and taxes $533,062. Important railroad supplies advanced from 26 per cent. to 400 per cent.

Loss in Queens Growing.

The petition of the New York & Queens County Railway Company said that the net investment in road and equipment was $8,427,115. The total operating expense for the year ended June 30, 1916, was $1,435,764, and there was a deficit for the year of $294,570. During the fiscal year 28,373,608 passengers were carried and the total number of transfers collected was 8,964,862, making the average fare per passenger 3.80 cents, which is less than the cost of carrying such passenger. Since the opening of the new Astoria and Corona rapid transit lines the loss to the company has increased.

The petitions will be turned over to William L. Ransom, counsel to the commission, who will outline a method of conducting the necessary investigation. This report will probably be submitted to the commission tomorrow, and the hearings may begin about a week later.

PRINCETON DEGREES FOR ALLIED ENVOYS

University's Commencement Will Be Marked by Features Due to War.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., May 23.—The Ambassadors and Ministers now representing the allied nations at Washington, as well as Secretary of State Lansing and Herbert C. Hoover, will be present at Princeton's 170th commencement on June 16, to receive honorary degrees and participate in the patriotic demonstration that will be held. The usual commencement festivities will give way, and military enthusiasm will pervade all the exercises. All class reunions will be "dry," and there will be no bands or costumes.

Princeton alumni are hoping that President Wilson may be able to accept the invitation which has been extended to him to attend. The diplomatists who will receive the degree of Doctor of Laws are Sir Cecil Arthur Spring-Rice, Ambassador from Great Britain; M. Jean Jules Jusserand, Ambassador from France; Count Vincenzo Macchi di Cellere, Ambassador from Italy; Aimaro Sato, Ambassador from Japan; M. de Cartier de Marchiennes, Minister from Belgium; Viscount de Alte, Minister from Portugal; Robert Lansing, Secretary of State, and Herbert Clark Hoover, Chairman of American Commission for Relief in Belgium.

The degrees will be conferred on the steps of Nassau Hall, the building where the first accredited Minister to the United States, Peter J. Van Berckel from Holland, was received. After the ceremony the guests will proceed to Poe Field, where there will be an exhibition of drilling by the Princeton battalion and flying by the aviation corps. From 5 to 7 P. M. President and Mrs. Hibben will hold a reception at Prospect.

WORDS LEAD THEM TO JAIL.

Court Refuses Stay to Men Who Objected to War.

Certificates of reasonable doubt, which would release the defendants on bail pending appeal from their convictions, were denied yesterday by Supreme Court Justice Greenbaum in two "free speech" cases. George L. Gilson, under sentence of six months for distributing pamphlets "calculated to inflame the passions of patriotic persons and provoke breaches of the peace" at a public meeting, was one of the petitioners. The other was Henry Jager, under a three months' sentence for calling Paul Strashun a "perjurer, skunk, and liar," at an open-air discussion of the war.

Harry Weinberger, counsel for the American Free Speech Defense League, appeared for both defendants, and contended that if the sentences were upheld all newspaper editors could be prosecuted for selling pro-war articles to Quakers and pacifists, but the court said that Gilson should not have interfered with a patriotic meeting by giving anti-war pamphlets to those who disagreed with him. Jager's arrest was due to the fact that at a Madison Square meeting he accused Paul Strashun of testifying in court that Jager had called President Wilson a "murderer," whereupon Strashun got up and denied it. Jager then made the remarks for which he was sentenced. Under the court's ruling Gilson and Jager must begin to serve their terms at once, with the likelihood that they will finish their sentences before their cases are reached on appeal.

ECONOMY NOT PARSIMONY

Economy means wise expenditure—the elimination of waste. Parsimony means doing without needed things.

This is economy time—and economy raised to its highest power is typified in the Arnheim suit at $25.

No matter what you've been paying for clothes, call and examine the serges, homespuns, twills, finished and unfinished worsted that we are making to measure for $25.

To Protect Your Business or To Protect Yourself

--against the loss of time of an employee through accident or illness.

When one of your employees becomes incapacitated through accident or illness, it means a money loss to your business, both through continuing the sick man's salary and through the loss of his earning ability.

You can now protect the time of your valuable men against both accident and illness on the most favorable terms ever offered.

--against the loss of your own time through accident or illness.

You do not hesitate to protect yourself against loss by insuring your real estate holdings. Yet real estate is something which can be replaced as long as you are able to earn money.

Your own time, once lost, can never be replaced. Every day you lose through accident or illness is a day's income lost. Here's a form of insurance protecting you against financial loss through loss of time at a lower cost than ever before.

ACCIDENT AND HEALTH INSURANCE
This policy, which costs you only $57.00 annually, pays you:
$200.00 monthly (one day to one year) for loss of time from illness.
$200.00 monthly (one day to four years) for loss of time from accidents.
$400.00 monthly (one day to four years) for loss of time from travel accidents.
$5,000.00 increasing to $7,500 for loss of life, sight or limbs, from ordinary accidents.
$10,000.00 increasing to $15,000 for loss of life, sight or limbs, from travel accidents.
PREMIUM $57.00 Annually--COVERS:

Another Policy--Premium only $24.00 annually
At this very low rate it protects you against financial loss thru loss of time from illness and accidents. You get:
$100.00 monthly (one day to one year) for loss of time from illness.
$100.00 monthly (one day to four years) for loss of time from accidents.
$200.00 monthly (one day to four years) for loss of time from travel accidents.
$1000.00 increasing to $1500.00 for loss of life, sight or limbs from ordinary accidents.
$2000.00 increasing to $3000.00 for loss of life, sight or limbs from travel accidents.

Either of these policies, issued by one of the largest Casualty Companies licensed by the State of New York—assets $12,000,000. Other policies at pro rata premiums. When writing please be sure to use your regular business letter head, state your age and business, and whether you wish to take out a policy protecting yourself or a policy protecting you against the loss of time of your employees.
